Husband And Wife Seek $115,000 In Civil Suit

A three-count lawsuit seeking $115,000 in damages was filed in Garrett County Circuit Court on March 20 by James V. and Linda Ann Pahanish, Pleasant Hills, Pa., against Western Trails, Inc., which is owned by Leo Fredlock Schenk, Kathleen E. Schenk and Larry F. Schenk.

According to reports, Count I indiciates that on July 29, 1983, the Pahanish couple hired the services of Western Trails, Inc. for the purpose of horseback riding.

The suit then indicates that Mr. Pahanish was injured when the saddle's clinch strap broke on the horse on which he was riding and the horse threw him to the ground and the saddle fell on him, resulting in personal damage and injury. According to reports, the horse was under direction of a guide at the time.

Pahanish alleges that the Schenks failed to provide safe and properly equipped horses; failed to inspect the saddles and other equipment to determine whether it was in a safe condition; and failed to properly select a safe and experienced trail guide.

He maintains he was caused to sustain severe and permanent injuries and damages necessitating medical care, attention and treatment.

As a result of the damages and injuries allegedly caused by the negligence or lack of due care on the part of Western Trails, Inc., Count I seeks $50,000 in damages.

A second count re-alleges the facts in the first count in addition to the medical care costs which will be incurred in the future; that he was caused to suffer severe pain, mental anguish and emotional distress and will continue in the future; that he has suffered loss of income and he will in the future be restricted. He again alleges this was caused by negligence on the part of Western Trails, Inc. and was without lack of due care on his part. This count seeks $50,000 damages.

The third count is filed by Mr. and Mrs. Pahanish as a couple and seeks $15,000 for loss of consortium.

The Pahanish couple is being represented by Suzanne X. Conger of Burnett, Elswert, Crawford and Janes of Oakland.

Western Trails, Inc. has received its summons and has until April 17 to file a response to the charges.

The group requested that the county roads department dig a drainage ditch and replace a culvert to alleviate the problem.

Youth For Christ '84 Fund Drive Now Underway

The Board of Directors of Mt. Top Youth for Christ announce the beginning of the organization's 12th annual spring fundraising emphasis in the form of a Workathon/Telethon. The dates for the drive are April 2 through May 11. During this time Workday participants as well as other volunteers will conduct a personal and telephone canvassing effort, attempting to obtain sponsoring pledges of financial support and be available to share information about the ministry of Youth for Christ.

All three Campus Life clubs from the Southern, Northern and Salisbury high school areas will be participating. The Board of Directors welcomes community suggestions for specific worthwhile work projects. This year's workday will be May 5.

As in the past, participants will be obtaining sponsors for each hour of their participation. As an incentive and reward for their participation, four categories of involvement are offered: a Prize Plan, a Group Plan, a College Scholarship Plan and a Campus Life Activity Plan. More information on these plans is available from the YFC Office or from any of the Campus Life staff in each school area.

The unit of sponsoring Workathon participants will be a per hour donation with a maximum eight hours work. Many will simply sponsor with a flat amount or pledge. Participants in the telethon may simply request a pledge of support. Checks should be made out to Mt. Top Youth for Christ, Inc., not to the participant. Participants will collect their pledges or make arrangements for them to be mailed to the YFC Office. Those who prefer to mail pledges may do so to Mt. Top YFC, P.O. Box 286, Oakland.

Mt. Top Youth for Christ is a nondenominational youth ministry organization for local high school students. Their program includes Campus Life Clubs, a Christian Counseling Service and a full schedule of summer options for high school students including camps and other outings. The YFC ministry operates under the authority and guidance of a local board of directors. The program is conducted by adult members of the professional and associate staff. The local chapter is chartered by the Youth for Christ USA organization of Wheaton, Ill.

Mt. Top YFC receives no funding of any kind from government agencies or religious groups other than the local churches who support the program as part of their mission budgets. The entire budget of Youth for Christ is raised through the contributions and through various fundraising activities.

Bankers Slate Annual Meeting

The executive committee of Group One, Maryland Bankers' Association has made final plans for the annual meeting to be held at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club, Cumberland, Thursday, April 19.

Members of the executive committee who attended the meeting included: Naomi J. Oliver, First United National Bank & Trust; Earl D. Wilson, Frostburg National Bank; John L. Conway, First United National Bank & Trust; Joseph H. Snyder, First National Bank of Maryland; and Doris L. Nickle, First United National Bank & Trust.

Comptroller Says Half Of Unfiled Returns Due Refunds

"Nearly 800,000 out of 1.8 million Maryland income taxpayers have yet to file their State returns at this point, and the surprising thing is that roughly 400,000 of those taxpayers who have not filed are expected to receive refund checks," Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein announced.

The Comptroller urged taxpayers to file right away because there's no backlog in the processing, allowing for a speedy return of refund checks due taxpayers.

"But don't panic and hurry through your return, even though the April 16 deadline is approaching. It's easy to make mistakes when you're in a rush. One good way to file a complete and error-free return is to call or visit any of our State income tax offices during the next couple of weeks when we're offering extra hours of free State tax help," Goldstein said.

Extra hours of free assistance will be available at all 14 offices of the Maryland Income Tax Division on the following evenings and weekends: Saturday, April 7, 9 a.m. until 1 p.m.; Monday, April 9, 4:30 until 7 p.m. (telephone assistance only); Saturday, April 14, 9 a.m. until 1 p.m.; Deadline, Monday, April 16, 8:30 a.m. until 9 p.m.

The Comptroller reminded taxpayers that State tax experts will answer questions, provide the necessary forms, double-check figures line-by-line, and even complete State returns free of charge, as long as persons bring a completed copy of their Federal return and all W-2 statements.

The address and telephone numbers of all the State income tax offices are listed on the back of the State packet and in local telephone directories.

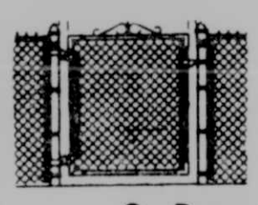
Re-Entry Office To Make Agent Orange Info Available

Vietnam veterans who are concerned about exposure to Agent Orange should contact Re-Entry of Cumberland at 777-8330. John Sutter, a lawyer from the firm of Ashcraft and Gerel, will be at the Re-Entry office April 10-11. He will interview Vietnam Veterans and/or their wives individually regarding their legal rights concerning exposure to Agent Orange. This is in preparation for law suits against the chemical companies which produced the chemical.

Agent Orange was one of several chemicals used as a defoliant in South Vietnam from 1962-1972. Dioxon, which is a component of Agent Orange herbicide has been found to be highly toxic to animals.

In 1979, a group of veterans initiated a class action suit against herbicide manufacturers for negligence and product liability. The manufacturers include Dow Chemical, Monsanto, Hercules, Diamond Shamrock, and Thompson-Hayward. This suit is set to be heard in New York in May, 1984.



Vietnam veterans who want additional information regarding exposure to Agent Orange or other issues related to readjustment problems (flashbacks, alcohol, and drug abuse, etc.) resulting from their military duty in Vietnam may contact Re-Entry at 777-8330. Re-Entry is a service providing readjustment counseling to Vietnam Era Veterans (1964-1975). There is no charge to the Veteran for this service.

Miss Meddings Becomes Bride Of Mr. Gregory In Candlelight Event

The United Brethren Church in Crellin, was the setting for the March 10, 6 p.m. candlelight ceremony of Lori Ellen Meddings and Jay Nelson Gregory.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Meddings, Aurora, W. Va. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Gregory, Sr. Oakland.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Charles Teets. The entire wedding decorations were done in silk flowers, and all flower arrangements were hand-made by Mrs. Debbie Shaffer, as a gift to the bride and groom.

Mary Teets was the organist and Joe DiSimone was the vocalist who sang "If" and "We've Only Just Begun."

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a white Chantilly lace bridal gown, with a stand-up neckline with both the front and back yokes of illusion-sheer lace with schiffi embroidery, trimmed with tiny simulated pearls. The close fitting lace bodice with flounce and basque waistline were trimmed with re-embroidered Chantilly lace and pearls. It had bishop sleeves with bridal points and snap-close lace cuffs.

The waistline tiered into a full skirt highlighted with appliqued Chantilly lace-coverlite reaching around apron-like from side to side to taper down the back into a flounced lace hem, extending into a chapel length train.

She wore a bandeau style bridal headpiece with Chantilly lace to match her bridal gown, with simulated pearl and sequin trim, the side having satin ribbon and pearl-loop trim. The fingertip length veil and blusher were trimmed also with Chantilly lace around the bottom edges.

The bride wore a double-strand, pearl necklace which belonged to her mother, and also a set of pearl earrings. She carried a large white lace fan with a silk cascading arrangement, which consisted of large burgundy Antonio open roses, with shell pink rosebuds, and fuschia petite lilies, trimmed with white elegance lace ribbon tied into a large bow with streamers that reached to the floor.

The maid of honor was Natalie Gregory, sister of the groom. She wore a pink off-shoulder ruffled gown which framed the neckline, with a close-fitting bodice and waist. The full billowing skirt of pink organza was gathered at the waistline, and dropped to the bottom in shirred loops and pink silk ribbon bows. She carried two long-stemmed burgundy Antonio open roses with ferns, shell pink rosebuds, white petite azalea's gypsophila, and baby's breath joined by a bow of burgundy silk and white lace ribbon.

The bridesmaids were Kelle Taylor and Carrie Sypelt, friends of the bride, both of Terra Alta, W. Va.. Both wore gowns matching that of the maid of honor's, but each carried a single long-stemmed rose with trim.

The groom wore a white long-tailed tuxedo with a matching white pleated shirt.

The best man was Eric Meddings, brother of the bride, and he wore a burgundy long tailed tuxedo with a pink pleated shirt.

The boutonnieres were made up of burgundy and shell pink rosebuds.

Ushers were Lawrence Gregory, Jr. and Jeff Gregory, brothers of the groom. Both wore tuxedos like that of the best man's.

The reception followed the wedding at the Aurora fire hall. The three-tier heart shaped cake was baked and decorated by Iris Myers. It was light pink in color and trimmed with white, with large open roses and buds of burgundy and bright pink which draped down from side to side. The top was set off by a large gathering of the roses draped to one side with pink cascading silk ribbons streaming down to meet the table with the traditional bride and groom.

The cake table was attended by Janet Gregory and Mary Snyder. The gift table was attended by Debbie Shaffer and Terri Lambert. The photographer was Mrs. Debbie Shaffer.

The couple will reside temporarily in Aurora.

Salute To American Agriculture . . .

Editors Note:

The following article about the agriculture industry was written by Donna Glotfelty, chairman of the Garrett County Farm Bureau Women's Committee and a state Farm Bureau director, in observance of Farm-City Week which will be kicked off next week.

During the past 50 years, people in the United States have lived in a land of abundant food supplies. They have grown accustomed to grocery shelves bulging with food items, and take it for granted that every product they want will be there everytime they go shopping. Only in extreme cases does anyone go to bed hungry in this land of plenty.

Not only has there been an abundance of food, with a good selection to choose from, but due to modern technology, quality has also been improved, and American consumers spend a smaller percentage of their income for food than consumers do in any other country in the world. We are even concerned about surplus food which we have in storage, and our legislators and officials are continually introducing bills, incentive payment programs, etc., to reduce these surpluses, and to prevent even greater ones.

Consumers notice it when food prices are elevated more than anywhere else, and look for persons on whom to put the blame. They contact their congressmen and state legislators, who in turn impose wage and price freezes, or come up with programs which often discourage farmers and cause them to reduce the amount of food they produce. Too, the farmer is at a loss to understand why the consumer is not willing to pay the price which is necessary for him to bring his livestock or farm products to market, and receive a profit over cost to produce that animal or commodity. This can have a devastating effect on both our economy and our food supply. Many family-type farms have disappeared from the scene altogether, and many more will undoubtedly follow, simply because government and consumers alike, apparently lack the proper appreciation and concern for the farmer's efforts in providing this abundant supply of high-quality food at comparatively low prices.

The farmer knows his bank account is low, and that prices for needed supplies, such as fuel, utilities, feed, machinery, parts and repairs, all continue to soar at alarming rates. He also knows that in his profession, no one else but himself, pays his medical and dental bills, his hospitalization, his retirement plan, or any fringe benefit of any kind. Still, he asks for no hand-outs! He also knows he isn't even making a decent living, considering the long, hard hours he puts in on the farm day after day, week in and week out, year after year, with little time off, and no paid holidays!

Also, profits in farming are actually very small, and many farmers become discouraged and lose their enthusiasm for farming altogether. Newspaper articles and radio and TV broadcasts tell him that consumers are complaining about the high cost of food, and he is informed of the threats of boycotts and price freezes. He is reminded of special government programs that want to manipulate him, and of unreasonable regulations from groups such as the Environmental Protection Agency and Animal Rights Groups that threaten to close down his operation if he does not adhere strictly to their wishes, even though these restrictions are often absurd, and are sometimes formulated and enforced by so called "experts" who "call the shots" and who have probably never even set foot on a farm in their entire life! All of these handicaps can have a very devastating effect on the moral of the farmer, as well as his ability and willingness to produce to capacity.

One agricultural area where these frustrating effects have been noticed is the dairy industry. When consumers drive by a dairy farm, for instance, they only see the contented cows feeding in green pastures surrounded by good wire fences, and they get the impression that "all is well!" and that this must "really be the life!" But they fail to see the problems he faces, or sense the turmoil in his mind about the future of his farming operation.

The farmer scans his bank account and finds out his funds are practically depleted, and knows that, besides his son wanting to enter college in the fall, his feed supplies are nearly exhausted, some of his equipment needs to be replaced before he can plant crops this spring, and he is aware that he already has several over-due bills waiting on his desk! This all adds up to the realization that he cannot afford that new tractor and fertilizer he needs to increase his production, and he must face the disappointment experienced by his son who may not be able to enroll in college after all.

Rising costs, high interest rates, huge taxes, heavy mortgages, etc., all contribute to the predicament of the farmer. He is constantly badgered by well-meaning groups and agencies who make his situation almost unbearable at times, and his problems unsurmountable and unsolvable. Then, suddenly he asks himself, "Should I struggle to continue operating the farm, or should I make the decision to quit altogether?" Farmers do not wish to suffer any further losses, nor do they feel very optimistic about the future. Many who have faced this dilemma have let their farms grow up in weeds and thornbushes, and closed the barn doors, even though they care very deeply about the land, and love being masters of the soil. They simply have no choice but to offer their farm for sale, and to accept what is sometimes a sacrifice price from someone who merely wants somewhere to invest his great wealth or invest in a tax-write-off. The farmer then moves to another location where employment is more beneficial and income more desirable. Most never return to farming, as none of them want to work to produce products for which they do not receive an adequate return on their capital investment, or due compensation for their labor and management. They abandon a business which they actually may enjoy, and which may have been a family enterprise for many years, or was built up through lifetime savings. As farmers halt production, food costs will soar, and consequently many of our citizens will not be able to afford all the luxuries they enjoy now, and our standard of living will definitely be affected.

The general public, as well as the government, needs to be better informed on American agriculture. Farm-City Week is designed to further acquaint non-farm people with the field of agriculture, with many informative and educational activities being conducted in all parts of the country, beginning after the April 10 kick-off date.

Agriculture is the world's largest commercial industry, employing more than 23 million people. The farmer gets only 22 cents out of each $1.00 which consumers spend on food grown on U.S. Farms. As a result, farmers are selling their farms and abandoning food production. Consumers and grocers cannot afford to let this happen, for they must then face empty grocery shelves and barren meat cases, and get up in the morning to face empty cupboards with nothing on the breakfast menu.

Until we all get together, everyone stands to lose! So let us show our appreciation now to these "unsung heroes," these tillers of the soil who work endlessly, tirelessly to keep Americans fed. As President Reagan said in his remarks to the USDA employees in recognition of National Agriculture Day, "Today we commemorate stocked cupboards, healthy children, the spirit of enterprise, railroad cars and trucks heavy with food, free men and women living and working on their own land, government workers researching and developing scientific farming techniques, fields overflowing with grains and cotton and corn and vegetables, orchards laden with fruits and nuts, pastures dotted with cattle and hogs . . . We commemorate all the people who plant and harvest, transport, market and distribute America's food and fiber . . . All of us should be grateful to God for making American abundance possible and grateful to the families and all the others involved in agriculture for taking over from there."

FFA Members Attend Workshop

Members of the Oakland F.F.A. chapter attended a Pesticide Licensing workshop March 22 in the County Extension Office. The event was organized by County Extension Agent James Simms.

Various topics discussed at the meeting included safe handling, safety paraphernalia, elimination of multi-flora rose, and use of Tordon.

Charles Babish, Extension Agent from Allegheny County, assisted in the program which included several slides and a movie on pesticides.

The workshop was a final project of the students who had been studying the safe use of pesticides in their Vo-Ag class at Southern High School. These students are now able to receive their pesticide applicators license for use of restricted pesticides on their property.

Those FFA members attending were Karen Hamilton, Ted Evans, Pat Finch, Jay Harvey, Ken Michaels, Terry Morgan, DeWayne Lewis, Robbie Uphole, Kim Andrews, Barry Beachy, Sam Gnegy, Lee Green and Richard Lee.

Report Indicates 209,842 State Acres Enrolled

Maryland farmers have enrolled 209,842 acres of wheat and feed grain base acreage in the 1984 acreage reduction programs, according to Olin S. Davis, Jr., chairman of the Maryland State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. The enrolled acreage represents 29.8 percent of the 704,305 acres of total acreage in the state, and includes 2,853 payment-in-kind acres signed up under the 1984 wheat program.

Nationally, farmers enrolled 123.6 million acres of feed grain, rice, wheat, upland cotton, and extra long staple cotton base acreage in the 1984 programs. This enrolled acreage represents 52.7 percent of the 234.6 million acres of total base acreage.

"Participating producers will be eligible for program benefits such as Commodity Credit Corporation loans and target price protection, and wheat growers will receive payment-in-kind for the PIK acreage," said Davis.

Farm-City Week

Next week is nationally designated as "Farm-City Week." During this week the farm community is inviting people who live in the cities to come out on the farm for a visit. Across the United States, thousands of farms will be having "Open House" for their city cousins to come out on the farm and see at first hand what is happening in the production of their food. Although in Garrett County most of us are familiar with the agriculture production business, there are many people in the cities that have very little knowledge of what it requires to have food available at their local food stores.

Weed Control in Alfalfa

I have now seen weed activity in some of our alfalfa fields. If the weather stays reasonably good, we can expect alfalfa to break dormancy before we can get on the field. Even if dormancy has broken and some green growth occurs, you can still apply Paraquat, Sencor/Lexone, Sinbar and Vepar. If green growth is present, expect some burn back, but better that then a weedy alfalfa field. Paraquat and Sencor/Lexone are okay on alfalfa-grass mixtures if they are established stands. Do not apply if green growth exceeds 2 inches.

Flock-Owners Cooperating In Avian Flu Effort

Backyard flock-owners are proving to be good soldiers—and good neighbors—in the battle to keep avian influenza out of Maryland and the Delmarva peninsula.

Dr. Edward T. Mallinson, Extension poultry veterinarian at the University of Maryland in College Park, notes that a comprehensive campaign to locate owners of small poultry flocks has produced excellent results in a statewide educational alert during the past three months.

Cooperators in this campaign have included feed stores, vocational agriculture teachers and Extension agriculture, home economics and 4-H agents in every Maryland county.

Flock location cards are available from all cooperators. When filled out, the cards are used to compile directories of backyard flock-owners and other noncontract poultry producers. These directories form the basis for an Avian Influenza Hotline.

In addition, flock-owners are encouraged to get free copies of a newly revised brochure which answers questions about avian influenza and other poultry diseases. Designated as Extension leaflet 149, it is titled "Good Neighbors - A Health Program for Small Poultry Flocks."

A 12-minute audio-visual presentation on avian influenza, involving slidecassette tape packets and script, is available for use at agricultural meetings of all types. Persons may make loan arrangements by calling Dr. Mallinson in College Park at (301) 454-3635, or they may contact Dr. Elton L. Johnson, Extension poultry science specialist at (301) 454-5491.

Goldstein Notes Most Frequent Tax Questions

"This is an excellent time to finish up your Maryland income tax return. There's no backlog in our processing so you should get your refund back quickly," Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein announced. "We've received just over one million of the expected 1.8 million Maryland income tax returns so far."

The Comptroller noted that a survey of field offices reveals that some of the most frequently asked questions the Maryland Income Tax Division has been receiving from taxpayers concern the tax breaks for IRA contributions and child care costs, and how to amend a State tax return.

"I want to remind taxpayers that State income taxes on IRA contributions are deferred until you actually begin withdrawing the money at retirement. To take advantage of this tax break on your Maryland return, be sure to file the Maryland long form 502 and report your IRA contributions on line 35, labeled Adjustments to Income", Goldstein stated.

The Comptroller also said that taxpayers are asking questions about the different tax breaks for child care costs available on the Federal and Maryland returns. "While the Federal government offers a tax credit for a percentage of child care cost the Maryland return offers a tax deduction for actual child care expenses up to $2,400 for one child or $4,800 for two or more children.

"To claim the State deduction, be sure to report the amount of actual child care expenses paid in 1983—up to the legal maximums—on line 58 of Maryland long form 502," he said. "While you don't have to itemize deductions to claim this benefit, you must substantiate your expenses by including a copy of the Federal form you used to report your expenses to the IRS."

Another cause of taxpayer confusion concerns Maryland Form 502A, which many taxpayers are filing unnecessarily. "You should complete Maryland form 502A only if you couldn't itemize deductions on the Federal return, but find it advantageous to do so on the State return. If you are itemzing on both your Federal and State returns, don't complete form 502A—just transfer the amounts of your Federal itemized deductions on to the back of Maryland long form 502," the Comptroller said.

The Comptroller also issued a reminder to those taxpayers who forget an item of income or a deduction on their state return—an oversight which has prompted a lot of questions about what to do next.

"If you forget to add something on your return, don't panic. Wait until you receive your refund check and then contact any of our offices to request the Amended Form 502X. When filing form 502X, be sure to write in the correct year for the return you are amending. Use the exact name and Social Security number that were on your original return," he said.

The addresses and telephone numbers of the offices are listed on the back of the State tax packet and in local telephone directories.

Acres Enrolled

to participate in the acreage reduction programs agreed to reduce their base acreage plantings by 10 percent. Wheat growers agreed to reduce base acreage by 30 percent and had the option of reducing plantings by an additional 10 to 20 percent under a PIK provision.

"The cropland taken out of production must be devoted to an approved conservation cover", said Davis.

The 1984-crop target prices are: corn, $3.03 per bushel; wheat, $4.45 per bushel; barley, $2.60 per bushel; oats, $1.60 per bushel; and sorghum, $2.88 per bushel.

The 1984-crop national average loan rates are: corn, $2.55 per bushel; wheat, $3.30 per bushel; barley, $2.08 per bushel; oats, $1.31 per bushel; and sorghum, $2.42 per bushel.

Group Study Exchange is an educational activity of the Rotary Foundation that provides travel grants for the exchange of teams, within a two-year period, between paired Rotary districts in different countries. Since the program's inception in 1965, more than 8,000 persons from approximately 75 countries have participated in the program.

Sullivan is the managing and senior partner of the law firm of Sullivan & Hall, P.A., which operates an office in Oakland. He also serves as the attorney for the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors.

Sullivan's special interests in the Group Study Exchange include Japanese art, religious beliefs and philosophy, the Japanese legal system with a particular interest on special attention given to the victims of motor vehicle and other accidents. He said he has also established as a goal the study of management techniques in Japanese industry and hopes to bring back insight which may improve labor-management relations in the local area.

While in Japan, team members will observe their hosts' way of life as well as study the nation's economic, social and cultural characteristics through travel and discussion with the participating Rotary district.

The team will be accompanied by Irvan Brown, Coudersport, Pa., a Rotarian who is representing Rotary Governor Franklin D. Custer, Oakland, from District 735.

Residential homes, commercial construction, additions and remodeling.

Now's the time to plan on a home for this year. We are builders of quality homes and businesses. We plan energy savings into the original design.

Buying a home from someone? Shouldn't it be inspected as you would have a car mechanic inspect your car? We do inspections of homes prior to purchase for banks, private parties and businesses.

This is going to be a great year for building, so let's get your plans, or ours to the bank and get going while the weather is unstable.

We are a turnkey contractor—we take it from the plans to the final grade and present you with a key. We thank all of our homebuyers for their patronage and we were happy to have a part in their realization of the American dream.

Post Offices On Wheels Gear For "Spring Fever"

Area residents may conduct postal business outdoors this spring, postmaster Paul Bauer of Oakland Post Office said today.

"Our rural delivery vehicles function as post offices on wheels," explained Bauer. "As rural customers catch spring fever, we'll be there to serve them."

Rural carrier services include stamp and money order sales, parcel pickup, and acceptance of registered and express mail. Business transactions are completed on the spot at delivery spots along each route. "These open-air post offices are a world apart from their city couterparts," said Bauer, "yet they bring a wide range of postal services right to your door.

"Rural delivery developed a personal touch in its early days," he said, "bringing families food, newspapers, tobacco, dry goods, and items that were otherwise difficult to get. Today, for some older residents who live in secluded areas, rural carriers serve as a lifeline to the outside world, bringing food to shutins during emergencies or alerting the telephone company when a storm interrupts service.

"Likewise, on a clear spring day, the rural carriers post office on wheels makes sure some of that personal touch remains," the postmaster said.

Commissioners Hear Rescue Squad Representatives

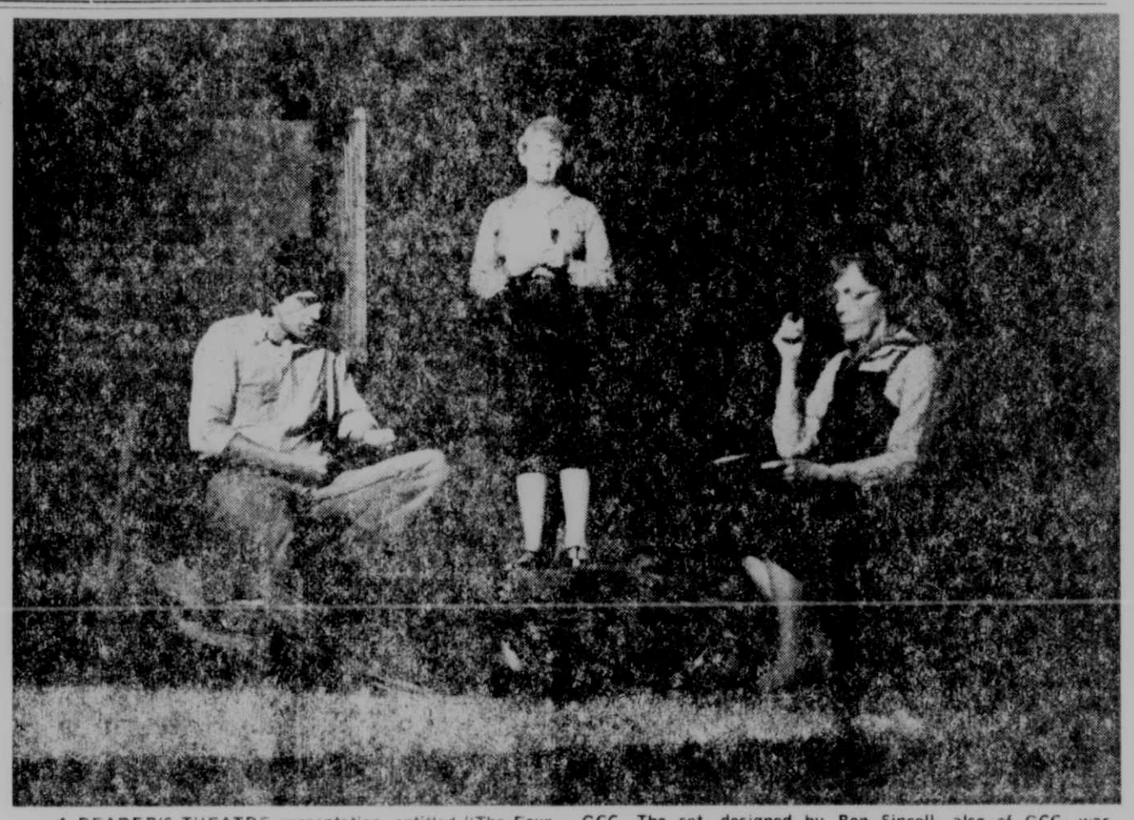
Representatives of the Northern and Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad renewed their request for federal revenue sharing funds at a meeting with the Board of County Commissioners Tuesday.

The commissioners are considering the squads' request for funds to purchase an additional ambulance for the Northern Rescue Squad.

Commissioner Elwood Groves stated that the board will look at the availability of revenue sharing funds and will make a decision by the end of April on the request.

Squad representatives and the commissioners discussed the board's March 26 suggestion that the rescue squads propose a one cent addition to the county tax rate to provide continued funding for the squads on a yearly basis. Squad representatives will take the proposal to their membership for consideration.

County rescue squad personnel attending included, Fran Pope, George Brady, Terry Spear, and Rayma Weeks. Dave Ramsey, County Emergency Medical Services Coordinator, also attended.



Mike Walls, Advanced Life Support Coordinator for Garrett and Allegany counites, presented an agreement between the ALS rescue squads and the regional Emergency Medical Services Council for the commissioners' signature.

The agreement states the criteria that squads must meet each year to maintain designation as an ALS squad. Both the Northern and Southern Rescue Squads are designated ALS squads.

Walls explained that since the commissioners appoint representatives to the EMS Council, it would appreciate a show of their support for the program.

The criteria for ALS designation were developed as a cooperative effort between the squads and the council, with input from police, health departments and hospitals.

Commissioner John Braskey, acting as board chairman, signed the agreement.

A READER'S THEATRE presentation, entitled "The Four Seasons of Robert Frost," will be presented at the Garrett Community College auditorium this Saturday, April 14, at 7:30 p.m., free of charge to the public. The program, which was presented Wednesday afternoon, features, left to right, Robert W. Crone, Jean D. Shaw and Joan B. Crawford, all instructors at GCC. The set, designed by Ben Sincell, also of GCC, was constructed by students in a technical theater class at the college. The program is sponsored by the Humanities Division of GCC and the Alpha Alpha Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Society. Funding was from the Maryland Humanities Council, an affiliate of the National Endowment for Humanities.

Jury Submits Two Indictments

The Garrett County Grand Jury recently submitted the indictment of two McHenry men, each charged with four criminal counts.

Robert Eugene Johnson, Jr., 19, and Ronald Irving Gatton, Jr., 20, both were indicted on charges of daytime housebreaking, two counts of theft and one of destruction of property.

The charges stemmed from an incident which occurred on February 22 and involved a .38 caliber Smith & Wesson revolver and two class rings stolen from the residence of Delores Thomas, located on the Sang Run Road.

Both men were out on bond and will be tried at a later date.

W. Bryan Hall will represent Johnson while Gatton will be defended by Michael P. Morrissette.

All participants received certificates. The spelling bee was held at Southern Middle School with Dr. Jean Shaw as pronouncer. Judges were Marlene Weimer, John Nelson and Adrienne Ottaviani. Julia Sines is president of the county council and chairman of the spelling bee committee. Members are Kent Huber, Connie Higgins and Carma White.

Glendale Bridge Clearance Set Pending Funding

The Board of County Commissioners announced Tuesday that they have approved the raising of the clearance on the new Glendale bridge to 16 feet pending the availability of federal funds to help cover the increased costs caused by the design change.

The commissioners have received verbal approval of the additional federal funds but are awaiting official notification. Federal funding accounts for 80% of the bridge budget, and 20% comes from county funds.

The commissioners pointed out several advantages to raising the clearance to 16 feet, despite the additional cost. The change will result in improved clearance for boat traffic under the bridge, and will result in less inconvenience to the public due to closing of the bridge during construction.

The orgininal design called for the use of some parts of the old bridge in construction of the new one. The new design does not, which will allow traffic to continue to use the old bridge during a greater portion of construction time.

The new bridge will be located south of the present location, which will improve the approaches to the bridge from both directions.

The commissioners noted that they are still negotiating the necessary relocation of the sewer line in the bridge area. Funds for the sewer relocation were not included in the bridge budget. According to Commissioner Ernest Gregg, the decision to provide funds for the relocation rests with the state Board of Public Works.

Gregg pointed out that the new bridge will probably be in use for the next hundred years, so it must be built as functional and safe as possible.

Dorothy Leighton, president of the Garrett County Arts Council, met with the commissioners Tuesday to request local matching funds for a federal and state grant program to provide funding for

Island Creek's Dobbin Mine Sets World Production Record

Dobbin Mine, owned by Island Creek Coal Company in neighboring Grant County, W. Va., set a new world record for longwall coal production April 4, when the longwall unit produced 21,951 tons.

This eclipsed the old world record, held by Sunnyside Mine in Utah, by 1,567 tons, according to Cliff Neal of Island Creek's personnel department in Craigsville, W. Va.

The longwall unit is the first to be set up in the Dobbin Mine, and the record was achieved while mining the third panel, or block of coal, in which the unit has been set up. The longwall unit, installed two years ago, has been operating in the present panel since the second week in February. The panel measures approximately 3,200 feet in length by 550 feet in width and 9½ feet in height.

"This was our first attempt at the record," explained Frank Matras, Oakland, superintendent for the Potomac District for Island Creek. "We began planning for the run on the record about a week before the attempt when we foresaw that the conditions would be favorable. The mine has two longwall crews and each crew worked a 12-hour shift to achieve the record."

Matras also gave much credit to all the mine employees when he said, "The record was an overall effort by the 160 people who work at Dobbin. Everyone contributes to an effort like this."

Amon Tracy is Dobbin Mine superintendent and Glade "Poke" Bennett is longwall coordinator.

Another mine of Island Creek's Potomac District has also held the world production record. Located near Bayard, the North Branch Mine held the record on two separate occasions in 1979, when they produced 13,746 tons and later broke the record with 17,224 tons.

Island Creek's main office is in Lexington, Ky.

School Board To Discuss Budget At Meeting Today

The Garrett County Board of Education will review the status of its 1985 budget today at its meeting this afternoon at the board's offices in Oakland.

The budget was presented in part at a public meeting sponsored by the county PTAs in February. Parts of the budget are still undetermined due to late action on the part of the state legislature in determining levels of state aid to school systems.

The legislature passed the school aid legislation in its final week of session, but the county has not yet received notification of what level of aid it will receive.

The meeting, which begins at 1 p.m., will open to the public at 2:30 p.m., and will include determination of how the school will make up days lost due to snow and schedule changes.

The Board will take action on the adoption of the 1984-85 school calendar, and will award a computer bid for the purchase of an additional computer terminal for each high school.

The board will deal with instructional concerns including the Career Employability Program and the Language Arts Program for the middle schools at 3:40 p.m.

Administrative concerns, scheduled for 4:40 p.m., will include school bus Route 42 recommendations, the custodial supplies bid award, and the composition of units to represent non-certificated

Fair Board Asks $50,000 To Aid In Fairground Buy

Members of the Garrett County Fair board of directors requested $50,000 from the county commissioners during a meeting between the two boards Tuesday morning.

Lee Shillingburg, president of the board, and Helen Bittinger, secretary, made the request of the commissioners and asked for $15,000 by the first of May.

The $15,000 is needed to complete the down payment on the fairground property at McHenry, while the remainder of the money would be used to assist in making the $2,700 monthly payments.

The fair board has prepared stock certificates and bonds to raise money, but so far sales have been less than enthusiastic, according to Shillingburg. Shares are being offered at $10 each, and bonds at $100 each. Bonds will be sold only to shareholders and retired over a 20-year period.

The commissioners agreed to take the request under consideration, although they agreed Tuesday afternoon that they do not yet know how to handle the situation.

Commissioners Elwood Groves and Ernie Gregg agreed that although the fair has a beneficial impact on the community, it is not the obligation of county government to provide funding. Normally the commissioners provide $2,000 annually to the fair, as well as grading and other work accomplished by the county roads department. The commissioners hastened to add that this does not mean the board will not consider aid to the fair.

State, County Jobless Rates Fall In February

Maryland's estimated unemployment rate experienced the largest drop on record for a February, falling from 6.8 percent in January to 6.2 percent in February, according to statistics released by the Maryland Department of Employment and Training (DET).

Meanwhile, Garrett County's jobless rate dropped one point, from 18.2 to 17.2 in February, more than seven points lower than the 24.7 percent rate in February 1983.

Statewide, during February 1984, an estimated 2,058,375 persons were employed, an increase of 83,327 since February 1983, and 135,550 persons were unemployed, a decrease of 55,189. Combined, these figures gave the State a civilian labor force of 2,193,925, an increase of 28,138 over the labor force for February 1983.

Between January and February 1984, employment grew by 6,616, unemployment dropped by 13,490 and the civilian labor force decreased by an estimated 6,874 persons because of unemployed persons dropping out of the labor force.

Judge Declares Mistrial After Arson Case Ends With Hung Jury

A mis-trial has been declared for a Grantsville couple after a 12-member jury could not agree as to their guilt after three days of testimony which began Thursday in Garrett County Circuit Court. Judge Fred A. Thayer presided over the proceedings.

Wilford Leasher and his wife, Peggy, have been charged with arson and burning with intent to defraud an insurer. The charges stemmed from a May 7, 1983, fire which gutted their Chestnut Ridge Road home, causing an estimated $50,000 in damages.

State's Attorney James Sherbin presented evidence concerning the Leasher's financial situation which, he alleged, would have benefitted from the destruction of the property which was insured.

Fire investigators for Garrett and Allegany Counties, James Martin and Guy Carola, along with Erie Insurance Company representative, Robert E. Haycock, all testified that the fire was caused by the ignition of a flammable liquid. Photographs depicting the "pour patterns" on the floor of the bedroom in which the fire began were introduced as evidence.

The Leasher couple was represented by Bryan Hall who agreed the fire was intentionally set, but maintained it was impossible to believe the Leashers were responsible as they had confirmed alibis for the time span in which the fire is believed to have started.

Approximately 30 witnesses were subpoenaed for testimony throughout the legal proceedings.

The jury, which consisted of six men and six women, deliberated for approximately four hours before informing Judge Thayer they were unable to reach a decision.

The couple will continue to be free on bond and will be re-tried at a later date.

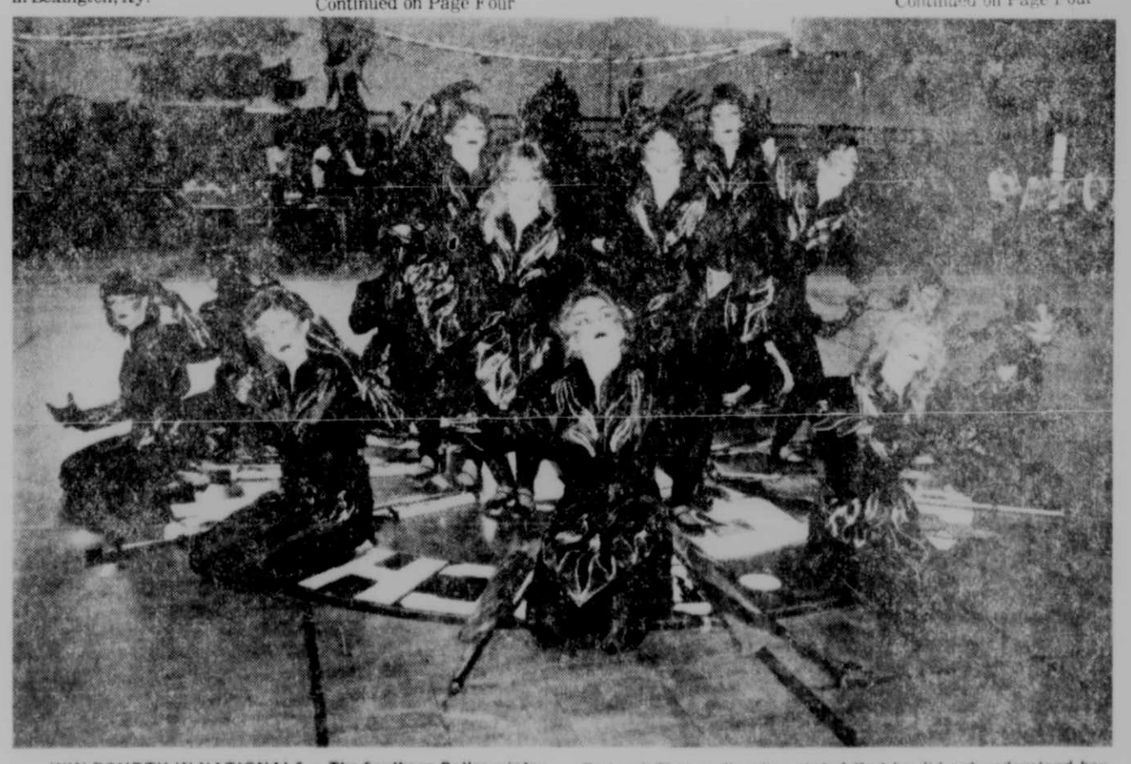
Susan Crawford To Speak For GCC Graduation



The speaker for the 12th annual commencement of Garrett Community College May 19 will be Susan J. Crawford, former resident of Garrett County and now General Counsel of the United States Army.

As General Counsel, Ms. Crawford is the chief legal officer of the Army, serves as counsel to the Secretary of the Army and other officials in that office, and is responsible for the supervision of attorneys and legal services throughout the Army. She was appointed to this position in September, 1983, after having served two years as Principal Deputy General Counsel.

Before her appointment to the Pentagon in 1981, Ms. Crawford had practiced law as a partner in the Oakland firm of Burnett, Eiswert, Crawford and Janes. Previously she had served as assistant state's attorney for Garrett County, and during these years she was also an adjunct instructor at Garrett Community College.

When she accepted the invitation to be commencement speaker, she stated, "I am very pleased and flattered. I look forward to participating in the WIN FOURTH IN NATIONALS — The Southern Belles winter guard of Southern High School traveled to Dayton, Ohio, this past weekend and returned home with a fourth place finish in the Winter Guard International Olympics. The Belles were in competition with 40 other high school guards from all over the United States and Canada. The local unit would have finished even higher had it not been for the low scoring by one of the seven judges at the competition. After the preliminaries on Saturday, six of the seven judges had the Belles in third or fourth place, however a California judge had them ranked 32nd, which pulled their overall ranking down to eighth place going into the finals. Then after the final competition, which involved the top 11 guards, the same judge had the Belles ranked 11th, while the other six judges ranked them anywhere from first to third place. Richard Clever, director, stated that he did not understand her scoring, but said he plans to make an inquiry. Nonetheless, Clever stated that he was "thrilled" that the Belles finished fourth and that this was the first time the Southern guard has ever made it into the national finals. He also stated his appreciation for the "excellent support" from the many fans who made the trip to Dayton and for the "warm reception" for the Belles upon their return to Oakland. Placing first in the competition was Center Grove, Ill., followed by North Stars, of North Syracuse, N.Y., and Main Event, of El Paso, Tex. Southern edged out the defending national champions, Canadaigua, who placed fifth. The final season competition for the Belles will be this weekend when they seek their third consecutive West Penn championship title.

Talk Of The Towns

Oakland Council Discusses Water, Sewer, Revenue Sharing Matters

New revenue sharing regulations setting requirements for aiding handicapped persons, water and sewer matters dominated the Monday night meeting of the Oakland mayor and council.

Regulations regarding the handicapped for use of revenue sharing funds were reviewed by the council, and action will begin at once to comply with the regulations. The new laws regarding handicapped accessibility, etc. are in effect for all towns receiving over $25,000 in revenue sharing. Oakland received $38,000 last year.

Mayor H.D. Swartzentruber and all council members in addition to water superintendent Willard Ringer attended the state Water Supply Financing Program priority meeting in Cumberland April 2. (See separate story).

At the council meeting April 9, the group decided to put their various comments in a letter, emphasizing the severity of Oakland's water system troubles, to the financing program administration. Wendell Keaton, municipal coordinator, drafted the letter after the meeting.

At Monday's meeting, Keaton also reported that he has received a letter from a consultant on seeking a Housing and Urban Development block grant for community development. Keaton urged the council to think of activities it may want to suggest for funding. The matter will be continued at the town's next meeting.

Tom Jones, executive director of the Garrett County Development Corporation, presented plans for development of the southern Garrett industrial site along Route 135 and asked that Oakland be a water source for the site.

Jones pointed out that the cost of extending the present water lines, completed to the town's standards, would be borne by the county and then the line would be deeded to the town. Jones has requested proposals from local engineering firms and plans to bring additional information to the next town meeting.

Ask Water Extension

The Oakland Country Club, through officers Bud Whetzel and Eleanor Stemple, requested that the town provide water to the country club. The club is asking that the town provide a backhoe and operator for the work, and the club will provide the pipe for the line. Von Johnson, water department committee chairman, will attend the next meeting of country club officers to discuss the matter further.

Sewer Problems Continue

Two residents of Fourth Street near Lake Street appeared before the council to complain of sewer problems in that area which cause sewerage to back up into their basements.

Wade Meese and James Panther are both experiencing problems since several residents in their area have not followed the town's sewer ordinance requiring that water from downspouts not be directed into sewer lines. The town officials have written several letters to those not obeying the ordinance, but so far to no avail, according to clerk Linda Hamm.

Pavilions Now $25

Rental for pavilions at Broadford Recreation Area will be $25 this year. The park director, Winona Alexander, will assume her duties April 15 and the park is expected to be open by Memorial Day.

Council Members Installed

Councilmen Francis Seifert and Terry Helbig and Treasurer Rosalee Evans were officially installed in their positions Monday night as Mayor Swartzentruber administered the oath of office.

Councilman James Evans was sworn in a separate ceremony Tuesday by the mayor.

Bids Opened

The council opened bids on solid waste removal but the matter was tabled until the next meeting so that further study of the three proposals can be completed.

The town's next meeting will be May 7 at town hall at 7 p.m. Council members present Monday were Frank Eberly, Robert Boal, Von Johnson, Francis Seifert, and Terry Helbig. Not present was James Evans.

Deer Park Officials Discuss Cable And Tax Differential

Several guests were present April 9 at the Deer Park mayor and council meeting, including the two county commissioners, the county clerk, and representatives of Cablentertainment.

Commissioners John Braskey and Elwood Groves and clerk Robert Fousek presented information concerning the tax differential available to the towns, but the Deer Park officials agreed not to pursue such a differential at this point.

The commissioners then asked what the county could do to help the town, and town officials asked that ditch cleaning and maintenance work on the county road which runs through the community be completed. The county roads department normally does this work annually at this time of year.

Robert Harper, regional manager of Cablentertainment, and Douglas Reckart, chief technician for the Oakland system, presented information about the company's proposed changes in service and $2 rate increase.

The firm may add two stations and delete two stations, and offers a choice of five channels. Viewers will be polled to select two of the five. Those to be added may be ESPN, 24-hour sports; CNN, 24-hour news; MTV, continuous music; Nickelodeon, children's programs, and PTL, religious programs. Those to be dropped would be either WJAC channel 6 or WDTV, channel 5; and WPXI channel 11 or WTRF channel 7.

Election Slated

Three candidates will run for two council positions at the May 8 election for the town. Incumbents Ed Sollars and Donald Loomis are seeking their positions again, in competition with newcomer Darrell Junkins. The election will be held between 4 and 7 p.m. at the town building (the former elementary school).

Present for Monday night's meeting were Mayor Jack Hinebaugh and councilmen Sollars, Loomis, and Mason Madigan. The next meeting will be May 21 at 6 p.m. at a location to be announced later. Several items of importance, including the town budget, will be on the agenda, according to clerk-treasurer Mary DeBerry.

Street Lights, Signs and Repair Loch Lynn Topics

Street lights, signs and repairs were the major topics of discussion between Loch Lynn residents and their town council April 9, according to Clerk Virginia Eichorn.

Several residents were present to suggest locations for additional street lighting, and there was also some discussion about placement of street signs.

The council agreed to accept the $2 increase proposed by Cablentertainment. Mr. Lane, who is seeking permission to demolish an existing building on his property and construct another building, was advised to approach county zoning administrator John Nelson for the necessary permits.

Mayor Charles Tressler and the four councilmen will be touring the town to see what types of street repair is required.

Present at Monday's meeting in addition to the mayor were Councilmen Mildred O'Haver, Calvin Coddington, Jerry Eichorn and Doug Callis. The next regularly scheduled meeting will be May 7 at 7:30 at the council headquarters.

Election Dispute Is Friendsville Council Topic

Further discussion about the disputed election results for the town of Friendsville was held during the town's council meeting last Tuesday.

At that time, Charles O. Ross, Jr., who was defeated by James Spear I for Mayor 115-97, told the council he was disturbed about the article which appeared in The Republican. Ross said the article was incorrect when it reported that two people stood up at the March 8 meeting and said they had not consented to having their names included among the protesting the election results and would prefer to see the election results stand. However, Ross was unclear how the article wording should be changed.

Several citizens have retained the services of Attorney Robert Watson to prove the election process was illegal and request that the results should be discarded since the town clerk failed to include the deadline time for registration in the legal advertisement.

The two citizens involved, James Lininger and Rev. H.B. Rittenhouse, participated in the lengthy discussion last Tuesday and the group at last decided to list all ten citizens who have retained Watson in the case.

These ten are Charles A. Ross, Sr., Merle Sines, Kenneth Harding, Jr., James R. Ross, Glen Sines, Mrs. Cleda Sines, Emory Friend, Mrs. Dennis Stanton, James W. Lininger and Rev. H.B. Rittenhouse.

Crime Watch Meeting Scheduled

There will be a crime watch meeting April 24 at 7 p.m. at the town meeting chambers so citizens and state police can cooperate in crime prevention programs. The state police have requested that at least three residents of each street attend the meeting.

To Contact Cable Firm

The council agreed last Tuesday to contact the Yough Cable Company concerning the quality of reception of channel three and the fact that service has not been extended to Ken Friend, as agreed. The town will also notify the company that there is a downed cable pole behind the Grace Lutheran Church.

At the water and sewer meeting Wednesday night, the town agreed to retain Mitch Hetzel as water and sewer plant operator. Hetzle had been fulfilling the duties on a voluntary basis after the death of David Riley.

The council also conducted a brief discussion of the public hearing in Cumberland April 2 on the water Supply Financing Program. Some six citizens attended in addition to Mayor Spear, all councilmen, and the town clerk, Lisa Hetzel, who is also affected by the water conditions.

The general concensus appeared to be that the support greatly benefitted the town's cause in seeking funding to correct the problems on Walnut Street.

Towns Represented At Water Priority Hearing April 2

Friendsville, Kitzmiller and Oakland were represented April 2 at a meeting in Cumberland to take testimony regarding the towns' positions on a state priority list for the Water Supply Financing Program administered by the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene's Office of Environmental Programs.

All of Friendsville's council and the mayor were present, in addition to six citizens to give testimony about the incredibly muddy water supplied to Walnut Street residences and a restaurant.

James Spear is mayor of Friendsville, serving with councilmen Spencer Schlosnagle, Ross Selby, Arthur Schmidt, R. Eugene Sines, Roger Sines and Larry Suter.

Wendell Keaton, municipal coordinator, said that Friendsville's representatives gave "an excellent testimony" on the severity of the town's water problems. Keaton gave testimony for Grantsville and Kitzmiller as well as Friendsville and Oakland.

Wendell Beitzel, sanitary district administrator for the county, gave testimony about the need in Kitzmiller for a water system. Kitzmiller's application is ranked number two in the state, and is tentatively slated to receive $178,000 for construction of an impoundment, treatment plant and distribution system.

Speaking on behalf of Oakland, which ranks 17th on the tentative priority list, were councilmen Bob Boal, Terry Helbig and Frank Eberly, and water superintendent Willard Ringer. Councilmen Von Johnson, James Evans and Francis Seifert also attended, along with Mayor H. D. Swartzentruber, but did not speak.

Oakland's contingent went on record about the severity of Oakland's needs with, as Eberly pointed out, a two-inch line serving all water and firefighting needs.

Boal explained the town's antiquated system and the town's indebtedness for much-needed sewer system rehabilitation which precludes use of local money for water system rehabilitation.

Helbig spoke about Broad Ford Lake and the fact that Bausch & Lomb is using only one-quarter of the water it was originally estimated to need,

"THE LABORATORY PROFESSIONAL Contributing To Quality Health Care," is the theme for the week as Garrett County Memorial Hospital observes National Medical Laboratory Week, April 8-14. A display in the hospital lobby will depict the laboratory services available and an open house in the laboratory will be held today from 1 to 4 p.m. Shown above is Shirley Hare, medical technician, involved in one of the duties the laboratory regularly performs.

The laboratory at the hospital, under the direct supervision of the pathologists, is equipped with the most up-to-date diagnostic equipment, a hospital spokesman said. The laboratory has full coverage from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m. seven days per week minimal coverage from 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. for emergency work only, seven days per week and on holidays.

The laboratory is divided into four main categories of testing: chemistry, hematology, blood bank, and microbiology. The lab performs approximately 87,970 diagnostic tests annually.

The vehicle ran off the right side of the roadway, struck a mailbox pole and a culvert pipe before coming to rest.

and the town's resultant struggle to repay indebtedness on the lake.

Keaton said this week that because one of the towns above Oakland on the priority list was "knocked down" several hundred thousand dollars in funding, Oakland may stand a good chance for some funding.

Friendsville also may stand a chance, since it was ranked 18th on the original priority list.

Shallmar is number one on the list, and Grantsville is eighth.

The formal meeting was conducted by William Parrish and Jeff Follweiler, of the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene. Meetings were held earlier along the eastern shore and near Baltimore so town officials in those areas could testify for their needs in hopes of changing the priority list.

The program officials said their department will study all comments and provide final prioritization lists for grant and loan assistance within 60 days.

State Police Report Several Auto Accidents

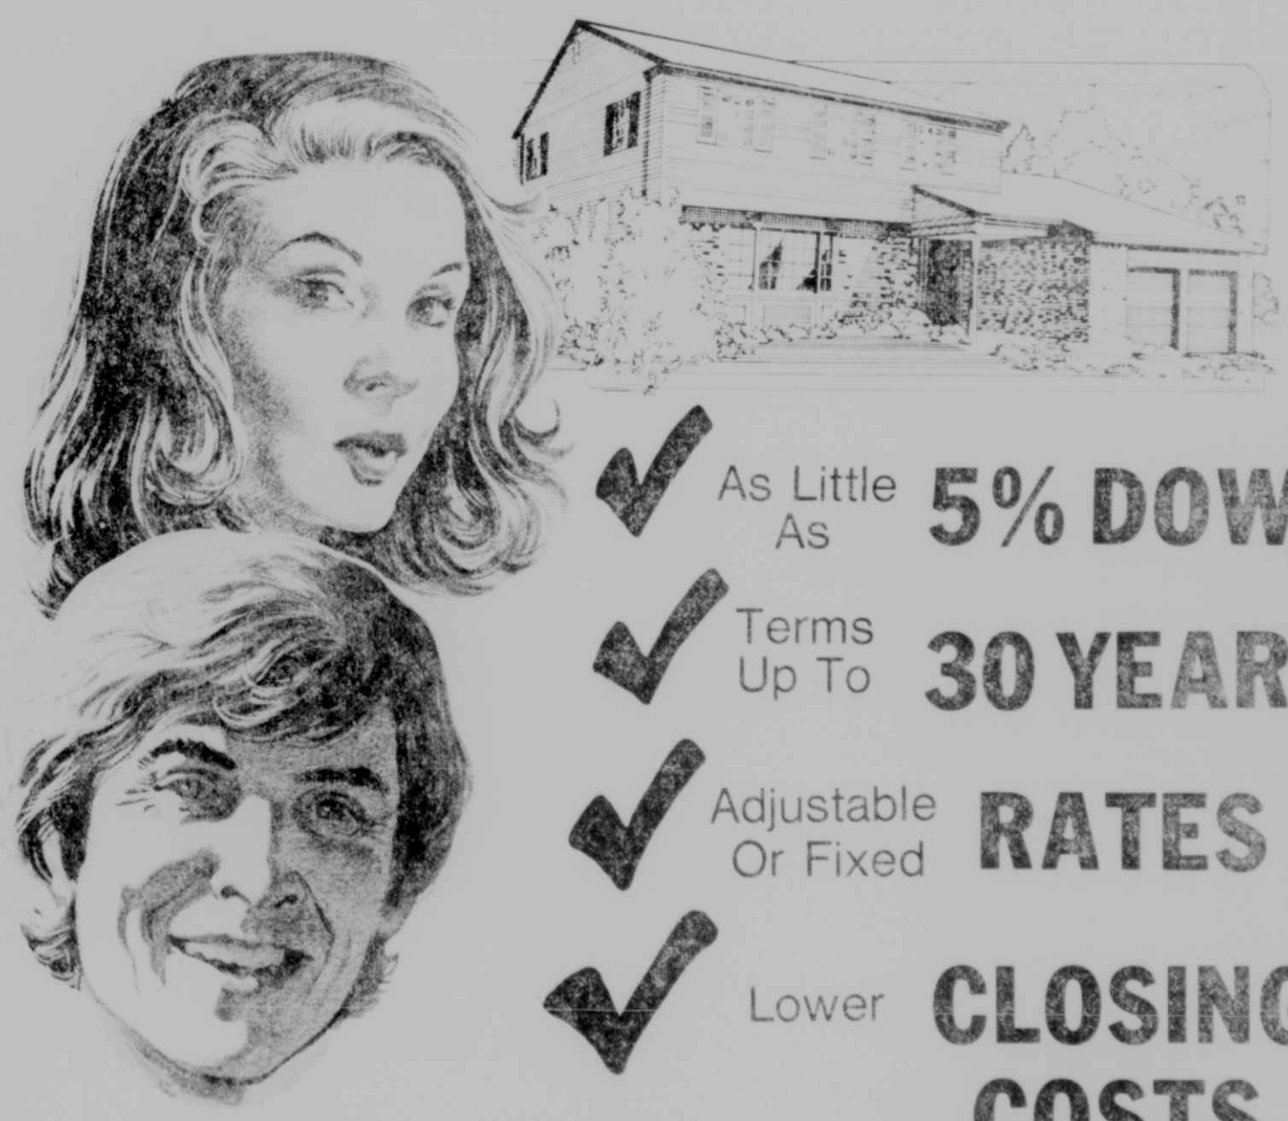
A Pennsylvania man was slightly injured in a one-car mishap that occurred Saturday night on Rt. 40, approximately one-half mile east of the Lower New Germany Road.

William Miller, 20, Washington, Pa., was operating a 1978 Ford Maverick westbound when he failed to negotiate a left curve, ran off the right shoulder of the roadway and struck a tree.

The Northern Rescue Squad responded to the scene and transported the driver to Memorial Hospital in Cumberland where he was kept overnight.

Tfc. R. C. Resh investigated the mishap and charges are pending.

There were no injuries reported in a single-vehicle accident which occurred at 1:20 a.m., Saturday morning on U. S. Rt. 219, three hundred feet north of the Gortner Road.



According to police reports, a 1978 Ford F-150 was being driven southbound on Rt. 219 by James Andrew Shipe, Jr., 31,

Save Our Fair . . .

The future of the Garrett County Agricultural Fair is in jeopardy. This is evidenced by the fact that the directors of the Fair requested a rather large sum of money from the county commissioners this week in order to complete the down payment on the purchase of the fair property.

It seems that a good case can be made on each side of the question of whether or not the county should provide this type of financial support to the fair. On the one hand, just how much can citizens expect from county government in terms of financing certain programs and projects? The Fair is technically a privately owned and operated venture, and on this basis alone it seems a bit inappropriate that tax dollars should be used to keep it afloat.

However, on the other hand, the Fair is much more than this. It involves literally thousands of people, either as participants or as patrons. From an economic standpoint, it generates revenue for the county and is a noteworthy promotional effort. From a cultural standpoint, is has inestimable value to many local people. For some it is the highlight of the year. From an educational standpoint, it provides an excellent opportunity for young people to become involved in raising an animal, or creating a dress, or completing any one of numerous other projects, all for judging at the Fair.

We believe that the county government should not be expected to provide the entire amount of money presently needed. But we feel the commissioners should make every effort to provide some of the funds. The Fair is too important in too many ways to allow it to die. Chrysler, also technically a privately owned operation, was bailed out by the government because of its importance to the welfare of the country. We also understand that the commisstioners had originally intended to provide revenue sharing funds to the Fair, but this did not happen.

The ideal solution to this problem is for the general public to kick in the funds to pay for the Fair. After all, it is the general public who benefits from and enjoys the Fair. The board of directors of the Fair, which has been and continues to investigate all possibilities for funding, has established an excellent method for citizens who love the Fair to keep it alive. We strongly encourage persons to purchase some shares of Fair stock, which are $10 per share. For those who have some extra money, we encourage them to buy at least one share of stock and then purchase some $100 bonds. The money earned from the sale of these bonds, which can be used to help solve the Fair's present financial problems, will be returned in full to the purchaser at a later date.

Let's all pitch in and save our Fair.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I too was present at the recent Northern High School cheerleader tryouts. I want to congratulate the students who participated. The hours spent in preparation are many and the competition keen.

Decisions and judgments at such an event are extremely difficult and we felt fortunate to have found fifteen qualified, interested and competent people to serve as judges. To question their integrity is an injustice to the school, the athletic program and the community. The two letters written in last week's The Republican served not only to deepen the disappointment of the student who failed to make the squad, but severely hurt the student who did.

Our society continues to be competition oriented. With that premise in mind it must be realized that all will not win the gold medal. I would, however, hope that all would understand that as adults it is important to be a part of the solution and never part of the problem.

Sincerely,
Ed Green
Principal
Northern High School

To the Editor:

Who is this coming from the nations of the world with his garments stained in blood?

It is the Mighty One, high and lifted up, for he has treaded the winepress of his wrath. He has ridden with his mighty chariots through the nations, and in his wrath the blood of the nations have stained his garments.

Those nations who sit among the heavens have been brought down; their cities have been laid to waste, and the slain of these cities are from one end of the earth to the other.

The King of Glory has redeemed those that are his. The heathen rage against his righteousness, but he laughs at them, for his horses trample the heathen into dust and the fury of his wrath blows them away.

As the King of Glory approaches, the mountains melt, the waters of the deep dry up, so that he marches on dry land.

The heathen faint at the nearness of his approach. Their blood boils, their eyes are consumed in their sockets, and their flesh is burned up.

Who is this coming in wrath, with blood stained garments? Darkness flees, and from his mouth comes fire, pillars of smoke are before him, lightning strikes the nations and the cities collapse. In his anger he has consumed his enemies. The earth is broken up and consumed by his presence.

Where are those who lifted up their voice against the Most High? They have been consumed and are no more. Their power has failed them for they have been broken and there was no one to save them.

The King of Glory has bathed his sword in judgment and no one could fight against him because of his mighty power.

Who is this King of Glory? It is Jesus Christ coming in power.

Sincerely yours,

To the Editor:

The following paragraph was extracted from a letter sent to Congresswoman Byron and forwarded to me whereas I have the original. I would suggest the citizens of Bloomington compare it with The Article in last week's paper about The Sanitary Commission. These figures are also in conflict with another article printed in the News-Tribune. Should you receive a letter from the Sanitary Commission take advantage of your opportunity for comment, and also take note the local share (FmHA) $233,410 loan and grant if eligible.

Farmers Home Administration has received a preapplication from Garrett County Sanitary District, Inc. The proposed project is for the design and construction of a combination of gravity sewers and grinder pumps and a secondary treatment plant for the community of Bloomington. Funding is estimated as follows: State/EPA - $988,450, State Loan -$163,140, and Local Share (FMHA) - $233,410 loan and grant, if eligible, for a total project of $1,385,000.

William L. Reed
M/Sgt. USA Ret.
Bloomington, Md.

Editor's Note:

Figures quoted in last week's article about the Bloomington sewer system were clarified this week by Sanitary District Administrator Wendell Beitzel.

Total project cost is estimated to be $1,365,300. Of this amount the EPA will provide $987,900 and the state is to provide $162,400. The Sanitary Commission has also sought and been assured of funds from the state Hazard Abatement program, pending Board of Public Works approval, and will receive an additional $189,300 which will make the local share $64,600. The $64,600 is all the local share will be, rather than the $223,900 originally estimated.

We hope this helps clarify the funding situation, and urge residents to read letters mailed this week by the sanitary commission concerning the project and to offer their comments and suggestions to Beitzel.

To the Editor:

In last week's issue two letters were printed which may have raised question in the minds of your readers. We hope this letter will answer questions and clarify procedures used.

The Northern High School Varsity Cheerleading tryouts were held March 27, before a panel of 15 judges, including administrators, teachers, coaches, former and present cheerleading advisors, past varsity cheerleaders and senior cheerleading squad members. All of the judges have had experience with cheerleaders, some up to 25 years.

During practices, the candidates were continually reminded to smile, be peppy, loud, poised and demonstrate sharp, original motions. The judging sheet included categories for jumps, sidelines, routines, appearance, cheers, originality, smiles, pep, poise, signs made, and attitude. Each judge was to select five finalists.

The votes were then tallied by Ed Green, principal; Mildred Wucik, assistant principal; and Nancy Graham, cheerleading advisor. When a tie resulted, the two girls were asked to perform jumps and a sideline. Each judge then voted for one of the two.

The intention of this letter is not to hurt feelings. Not only did last week's letters hurt the girls who were tied, but also all the candidates, the school, the cheerleading program, and the integrity of the judges. In the future we would appreciate that complaints be forwarded to the office, signed, so that they may be dealt with in the appropriate manner.

It was mentioned that the girl who lost had served as captain of the JV squad. Experience doesn't assure a spot on the Varsity squad. Rather, the girls who are best suited to succeed as cheerleaders are chosen. The girls are able to accept their losses maturely; it is the adults who react impulsively. We recommend that future tryouts be closed to the public.

We wish the 1984-85 squad the best of luck!

Thank you,
Carissa Selby,
Captain of 1983-84
Cathy Hanes,
Senior Cheerleader
Becki Tacket,
Senior Cheerleader
Kim Moore,
Senior Cheerleader

To the Editor:

I am writing to respond to the two "concerned" citizens regarding the cheerleader tryouts at Northern High School.

Under ordinary circumstances I would not have bothered to respond to these fine citizens, who did not even have the courage to sign their names. However, they have attacked the credibility of the cheerleader tryouts, the administrators and teachers, my cheerleaders, and myself.

My cheerleaders worked very hard to hold these tryouts. They gave up numerous evenings of their own time for one month to conduct tryout clinics for the girls. In addition, the cheerleaders made sure that we would have a panel of impartial judges. The panel included our vice-principal, five teachers, four former cheerleaders, four senior cheerleaders, and myself. Our principal monitored the tryouts and counted the ballots. To even question that these tryouts could have been improperly judged is unbelieveable to me.

I will answer both letters on what a cheerleader is judged on. If we picked a cheerleader only because she had a loud voice and could jump high, we would not have a very good squad. A cheerleader is also judged on her attitude, poise, smile, appearance, personal conduct, and much more. ALL of the girls that tried out for cheerleader knew exactly what was expected of them.

Since neither our principal nor myself have heard from any mothers or participants who took part in these tryouts, I believe that the writers of these letters are trying to stir up trouble where there is none.

In closing, I would like to say that in this day and age it is very hard to get a teacher, parent, or individual to take part in any extra-curricular activity for the school system, basically because there is always some person who does nothing to help but is always waiting to criticize.

Thank you,
Nancy J. Graham
Cheerleader Adviser

To the Editor:

I feel it's terribly sad that there will be no Southern Band Boosters organization for next year to support the band and color guard. These are talented, hard working, dedicated, and conscientious kids who deserve the support of their parents and indeed the entire community.

Without band boosters, the membership in the band will surely drop because the members will not be able to afford as many trips or competitions. Without these competitive goals part of the enthusiasm will be taken away.

I feel the band students get much more out of band than they put into it. The youngsters learn about a close working harmony, caring, sharing, responsibility and dependability in addition to the obvious musical benefits.

It seems a shame to see such a worthwhile organization go down the drain because of lack of support from parents who are "too busy" to hold office in the organization.

Judy Wilt,
Band parent

To the Editor:

Each day it seems I find another reason for being thankful to be living in the Oakland community. My family went through the fear of a flue fire this past Monday morning. The Oakland Volunteer Firemen responded quickly and professionally. They surveyed the situation making sure everything was safe from further incident. They were not only concerned for my family's safety this day, but also made recommendations to improve safety conditions and prevent the possibility of a future recurrence.

A number of the firemen not only gave unselfishly of their time to fight fires, but are also trained EMTs who serve on the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad as well.

Hats off to a dedicated group who provide a very valuable community service. Many thanks to each of you.

local arts programs. Federal and state money is available through the National Endowment of the Arts to match local funds dollar for dollar.

Leighton requested that the commissioners consider at least a nominal line item in the budget supporting the arts, and asked the commissioners for a letter to the Arts Council supporting the promotion of the arts in the county, including consideration of future funding.

Commissioner Groves commented on the request. "It is a matter of priorities. Our job is to fund necessary public functions, and it is not a necessary public function."

George Comp and Ira Yaste, representing the Garrett County Firemans Assocation, met with the commissioners and the newly-appointed supervisor of communications, Gary Mullich, who informed them that no drastic changes are planned for the communications department.

The commissioners approved the establishment of two Agricultural Land Preservation districts Tuesday. With the approval of petitions by Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Jones, Sunnyside, and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Kolb, Accident, the county has a total of 1600 acres in agricultural land preservation districts, according to Commissioner Gregg.

Commissioners See Stormwater Draft

The Garrett County Commissioners Tuesday turned over a draft ordinance for stormwater management to legal counsel for review.

That draft ordinance was prepared by Tim Dugan, county planning administrator, and John Nelson, county zoning administrator, with assistance from Shaun Sanders, district manager for the Garrett Soil Conservation Service. The three were appointed as a committee to write a draft ordinance in December.

The draft completed last week is based on a model prepared by the Department of Natural Resources Water Resources Administration. Dugan pointed out Tuesday that the local committee had done some modification and improvements as it went over the model word for word, but the substance is basically the state's recommendations. Dugan also said that the committee attempted to clarify questionable wording and ambiguities as much as possible as the members went over the model.

After county attorney Dwight Stover reviews the draft ordinance, it will be submitted to the Water Resources Administration. If that department agrees that the draft meets or exceeds the minimum requirements for local ordinances, the draft will be approved and returned to the county so the commissioners can schedule public hearings before adoption of the local ordinance.

The committee to prepare that draft had originally sought to incorporate the county's sediment and erosion control plan into the stormwater ordinance so that strip miners, timber operators and contractors would have only one permit to fill out. The county has had a sediment and erosion control plan since 1971 but enforcement has been "sporadic," as Dugan terms it.

However, in the end this merging of the two ordinances was found not feasible at this time because of uncertainty over enforcement and administration of the program. It will be possible to amend the ordinance later after it is in effect and the county can determine what the problem areas may be.

Copies of the draft ordinance have been submitted to the county planning commission for their information, Dugan concluded.

employees in salary negotiations.

The board will return from dinner break at 6:30 to review plans for the renovation of Northern High School, emergency door installation at Southern High School, the student accident insurance bid award, the purchase of hospitalization insurance by spouses of deceased retirees, and the use of building and custodial fees for the Election Board.

At 7:45 p.m. the board will deal with personnel concerns, and at 8 p.m. the meeting will be opened for public comment.

Some of the more interesting news articles come out of California. California has given us many things, among them, prunes and Ronald Reagan. (The purging effects of either are very similar and the resemblance is uncanny.)

I once lived in California, in a town called Santa Cruz - which is rather like a sprawling amusement park without the cotton candy. It was the only place I've ever lived where people screamed for no apparent reason. (I think they called it "aggression therapy.") I was beaten up there by a group of "flower children". (I refused to pay for a flower some vacant-eyed girl had pinned on my lapel, through my skin.)

Anyway, I was reading my Sunday paper when a headline grabbed by eye: "Moslem Sues For $10 Million For Being Served Pork In Jail;" dateline, Bakersfield, Calif. (AP).

The article went on to say that inmate Steven R. Whitfield had filed suit against jail officials at Lerdo because his civil rights were violated when they forced him to eat pork and by-products. To do so was against his religious beliefs. (Somehow, the vision came to mind of two guards holding this guy by the turban and forcing a "Bob Evans" sausage down his throat.)

Mr. Whitfield filed his suit in U.S. District Court in Fresno and alleged he suffered malnutrition, severe anxiety, emotional distress and severe mental anguish, (not to mention indigestion.)

Whitfield's counsel alleges that Whitfield, while a prisoner at Lerdo in 1983, requested a meal substitute for pork and asked jail officials to allow a Moslem leader to teach Moslem at Lerdo, allow a Moslem newspaper, "Mohammed Speaks," to be sent to the facility and permit a day of "unity prayer" for Moslem inmates each week. Lerdo correctional officers refused these requests, according to the lawsuit.

Now, I don't mean to be unkind, or to suggest that our basic freedom of worship rights as guaranteed by the Constitution should be sacrificed, but these are exceptional circumstances.

The article does not state the nature of Whitfield's crime for which he was incarcerated, but no matter. The point is, the man committed some crime against society and would now have taxpayers' dollars pay for his court-appointed counsel, pay for any judgment awarded (the suit seeks an additional $80,000 in punitive damages) and/or, fund special religious prerequisites for Moslem prisoners.

Were I the U.S. District Court Judge there, I would have one initial question: "Where's the beef?!"

County Sheriff's Office Responds To Assorted Calls

Garrett County Sheriff's Department personnel were kept busy this week with a variety of complaints that included an assault, destruction of property and a fugitive warrant.

An Oakland man, Jerry A. Cline, was arrested Friday on a Fugitive From Justice warrant filed by Deputy Don Tucker.

Cline was charged with two counts of felony theft in Fayette County Pennsylvania, and remanded to the Garrett County Jail, without bond, pending extradition proceedings.

An assault was reported on April 2 by Paladine Shane Roy, 22, Mt. Lake Park. According to reports, Shane required overnight attention at Garrett County Memorial Hospital after he was beaten.

Deputy Harland Tichnell is continuing the investigation.

Ethel J. Deckman, Oakland, reported the destruction of a window in her automobile which was parked in the Meadows East parking lot in Mt. Lake Park on April 2.

Deputy Richard Kutchman is continuing the investigation. There was no estimate given for damages.

James R. Riggleman, Mt. Lake Park, reported that someone had shattered the rear window of his Chevrolet Blazer during the night of April 8.

Damages were listed at $150.00.

Another report of damages to an automobile windshield was reported by Patrick J. Atkinson, Swanton.

Reports indicated Atkinson had parked his 1974 Chevrolet pickup at Southern High School on April 8 and then departed on a bus trip.

Upon his return, he discovered his window and windshield had been shattered. The investigation is continuing.

Amy Wellborn Completes Second Week As General Assembly Page

Miss Amy Wellborn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Wellborn, Accident, recently finished the second of her two intensive weeks in Annapolis as a page with the Maryland General Assembly, for Delegate George C. Edwards, District 1A, Garrett and Allegany Counties. Her first week was February 13-18.

Miss Wellborn says she feels that it was a very educational and enlightening experience, one that will be of great importance to her in the future. Amy will graduate from Northern High School in May and plans to attend the University of Virginia where she expects to major in political science and government. She has not decided on a definite career objective, but she hopes to be involved with government and the legislative process. She says the two weeks she spent working for Delegate Edwards and the Maryland state government gave her insight into the workings of government and increased her interest in the political system.

Active in a diversity of community and extracurricular activities, Amy is the editor of her school newspaper, THE VIKING, Drum Majorette of the Northern Marching Band, a member of the concert band, an honor student, and is active in student government. Amy is also a member of the Zion Lutheran Church in Accident.

Amy hopes to be involved with government on the federal level while in college, either as a part-time scholastic intern or as a legislative assistant.

Dorothy Leuba Appointed To Sanitary Board

Dorothy Leuba, Deep Creek Drive, McHenry, was officially appointed by the Garrett County Commissioners Tuesday to serve on the Garrett County Sanitary Commission.

She will fill the unexpired term of John Dever, who resigned a few months ago due to business and family obligations.

Mrs. Leuba's term will expire July 26, 1988. Commission members are normally appointed to six-year terms, according to Wendell Beitzel, sanitary district administrator.

Mrs. Leuba will join Chairman Harry Filemyr and commission members Randall Rodeheaver, William Thoman and Lawrence Groves.

The new member was selected by the commissioners from several names submitted by the sanitary commission.

A former teacher retired after 30 years with the Baltimore school system, she obtained a B.A. in music from the University of Notre Dame and an M.S. in health, physical education and recreation from Wellesley College.

Since moving to this county in 1972 with her husband, William E. Leuba, she has devoted her time to numerous activities involving children and the handicapped. She has held numerous positions with the Garrett Organization for the Handicapped, presently serving as president. She has been president and is presently a director for Garrett Crossroads and coordinates the Special Olympics (now called GOH games). She also taught a class and coordinated summer camps for the Child Development project in Oakland until the project was abolished last year due to lack of funding.

A member of the Governor's Commission for Judicial Selection, she coordinates the farm queen and dairy princess contests for the county, and recently served on the Deep Creek Lake sewer rate study advisory group.

Mr. and Mrs. Leuba are the parents of two children, Patricia Williams, of near Annapolis, and Robin, Accident.

In her spare time, she enjoys swimming and reading, but not necessarily at the same time, she notes.

As Mrs. Leuba commented Tuesday after her appointment, "We love living here and intend to live here the rest of our lives. I like to be of service to Garrett County and its citizens because of all things, I most enjoy being of help to people and getting out to do things that need to be done."

Days Of Sunshine Bring Threat Of Forest, Brush Fires

Temperatures climbing steadily toward spring-like warmth and four consecutive days of sunshine have provided hopes that spring, in truth, is here.

No precipitation has been recorded for the past four days, bringing the danger of forest and brush fires to a dangerous level, according to Department of Natural Resources personnel.

The week's high temperature was enjoyed Wednesday, when the mercury climbed to 62 degrees under sunny skies. The week's overnight low was experienced Saturday night when the same mercury dropped to a shivery 19 degrees.

Snow squalls occurred Friday when the temperature climbed to only 38 degrees from the overnight low of 30. The .29 of an inch of precipitation fell as 1.25 inches of snow.

On Saturday, the high was only 40 degrees under overcast skies. One inch of sleet resulted from the .35 of an inch of precipitation. Friday's overnight low was 24 degrees.

Sunny skies prevailed Sunday and brought the high to 57 degrees after the preceding night's low reading of 19.

High Monday was 50 degrees after the preceding night's low of 30; high Tuesday was 59 after a drop to 29 on Monday night; and high Wednesday was the balmy 62 degrees mentioned above. Overnight low Tuesday was 21 and last night was 26.

Local Resident Describes Work On "George Washington" Series

As audiences relived the life of the father of our country this week while watching the CBS mini-series, "George Washington", a local man watched with special pride.

Sam Friend, of McHenry, spent seven weeks in Washington, D.C. last summer working as part of a teamster's union special effects crew for the mini-series. His work on the crew was varied, including driving work, assisting with the construction of specially designed properties, and operation of heavy machinery at location sites.

He described the special preparations that were necessary to film sequences showing wagons loaded with caissons plowing their way through heavy forests on their way to Fort Necessity. Special wooden cannons had to be built so the horses could pull the loads, and the wooden cannons had to be wired to appear to shoot like real cannons.

Friend's duties also included covering lines packed with powder which simulated bullets hitting the ground during battle scenes. Friend explained that no real bullets were used for the filming for safety reasons.

He described a specially built knife for the scalping scene, which featured a welded tube attached to the knife edge. The tube was attached to a plastic line running off-camera, which a technician squeezed to release imitation blood as the soldier was scalped.

Friend described his experiences with the special effects crew as "extremely interesting".

"I was fascinated to learn how things are done in the movie business," he said. "It was a big challenge and it was very interesting to work with people from all over the United States on the project."

Previous to his work on the George Washington mini-series, Friend worked with the Teamsters crew on the filming of the movie "D.C. Cab", which starred Mr. T of the "A Team" fame.

He also worked on an upcoming television film about the life of Robert Kennedy to be aired later this year. He was recently contacted about possible work on a Warner Brothers film starring Goldie Hawn to be shot in the D. C. area this summer.

Regarding his film work, Friend commented, "I had recently become unemployed when I got my first movie work through a friend in the Teamsters union in Washington. I was feeling beat and it built me up again. People on the crew gave me a lot of encouragement and helped me back on my feet."

Friend is in the process of starting a heating and plumbing repair business, but hopes to continue his film work whenever possible.

Assorted Thefts Are Reported By Sheriff's Office

A breaking and entering and theft resulting in a loss of over $1,000 was one of several reported to the Garrett County Sheriff's Department this week.

Ronald H. Reinerth, Maro Island, Fla., reported to authorities that sometime between October 1983 and this week someone removed numerous items from his cottage located on South Shore Drive, off Harvey's Peninsula Road.

Those items stolen include an AM-FM, 8-track stereo, a portable color television, a Sears compressor, assorted snowmobile clothing and boots, and two floats used to float his dock. Total loss was estimated at $1,875.00.

Deputy Richard Kutchman is continuing the investigation.

A breaking and entering of a cottage off Penn Point Road was reported to sheriff's authorities by Holly B. Child, Mt. Lebanon, Pa.

The burglary reportedly occurred between March 27 and April 4. Items reported stolen were limited to three pairs of curtains, which amounted to a loss of $30.00. Deputy Kutchman is investigating the incident.

The theft of a camper top belonging to Jose Louis Flores, Swanton, was reported on March 29. The stolen property was at the residence of Joe Graham on the Crellin-Underwood Road when it was removed sometime between March 24 and 28.

Deputy Harland Tichnell is continuing the investigation.

George Ridgely Kelley, Bethesda, reported the theft of a truckload of firewood from his cottage on the Paradise Ridge Road. The theft reportedly occurred during the month of March. The incident is still under investigation.

The theft of assorted items from a garage owned by Gary Stine, Swanton, was reported to sheriff's personnel. No amount of loss or list of stolen items could be obtained.

House Of Hope Staff Pleased With New Opportunity

by Beverly Sincell

Sisters of Mercy Mary Ann Mazzo and Joanna Marie Sinko came from major urban areas nine months ago to serve at the House of Hope, but the adjustment from city to rural life has not posed a problem for the two who seem delighted with their choice.

The decision for the two women to lift their roots from their native areas was based partly on their desires to fulfill the commitment of Sisters of Mercy Order to serve the needs of the rural poor, to meet their own need for a change and to strengthen their friendship by working together.

Both women have worked for years in education. Joanna, 44, left a post as principal at St. Maurice School, Pittsburgh, where she has served since 1966. Her main experience in social service prior to her new position was through volunteer service in the Jubilee Soup Kitchen and Ronald McDonald House. She holds a bachelor's degree from Carlow College, Pittsburgh.

Mary Ann, 35, had just completed a year as a history teacher at Catherine McCauley High School, Brooklyn, N.Y. before coming to the House of Hope. She also worked at a shelter for battered women and children in Brooklyn as a volunteer. She has a bachelor's degree from Brentwood College, New York and a master's from Fordham University, New York City.

The two began their friendship five years ago when they attended a renewal of faith session. Through correspondence with one another they discovered their goals were similar and decided to locate where they would work together.

Because they were stepping out of the education field, the two sisters preferred to work in a community service project already established rather than start one on their own.

Then they learned of the opportunity at the House of Hope. They applied, they were chosen and, so, they came.

What they have found here is a smoothly operating network of volunteers. "You could tell this was the product of a real community, not just a small group of people," sister Mary Ann said. Both sisters praised House of Hope organizers, including former staff persons Sisters Catherine Arata and Susan Plews, for establishing the efficient operation of the House of Hope.

But, the House of Hope operation is one of many things they have been pleased to encounter in Garrett County.

The biggest difference they have observed between people in the areas they worked and in this area is unsolicited generosity of Garrett Countians.

"In this city," explained Sister Mary Ann, "people were willing to give when someone asked for their help. In Garrett County, without the asking, they are there offering their help."

Their list of praises continued for the county community as they noted how they enjoy walking down the street and having people recognize them and stop to talk with them, how they have observed a real spirit of ecumenism in the county as churches from different denominations support the House of Hope, and how so many people keep the House running by sending $5 to $10 contributions.

They also discovered the unpressured pace of Garrett County during their first weeks here when they tried to master driving the standard shift automobile provided them, but with which neither had had experience. They recounted one incident when they stalled the car at a traffic light in Oakland.

As they struggled with the clutch and gear shift on the car, they noticed how motorists behind them patiently waited for them to on. "That would never have happended in the city," said Sister Mary Ann. They have since mastered the car.

The differences they have seen in rural and urban life have not been a focus for the two sisters. Continuing the life and service of the House of Hope has.

"Every day here is a miracle story," said Sister Mary Ann as the two thought about the day-to-day operation of the House.

They say they are still learning about the House of Hope and have planned no major changes in its programs.

They hope to continue the image of the House of Hope as a caring, Christian center, Sister Joanna stated.

Sister Mary Ann added that they hope people will view it as a place they can come when they need emergency assistance, where they will be treated with dignity and receive what help can be given.

"We cannot always help," said Sister Joanna, "and that is hard. Generally, those who come do not just have one isolated problem, they have an assortment."

But, said Sister Mary Ann, "If we can help, we will."

"If the House of Hope can't help one time, it doesn't mean we can't help another," Sister Joanna added, after telling how some persons have never returned after asking for a type of aid the House could not meet.

The sisters have encountered a variety of people and problems in their short time here. Some people pay back any assistance given them, others send thank you cards, a few have abused the help they have received.

How do the sisters handle those who show a tendency towards abuse of or dependence on the help offered? They confront them and discuss the problem, which seems to work. They try to prevent giving aid to those who really do not need help through careful, but respectful questioning.

The sisters point out that they would rather help people and encounter a few "abusers" than risk not helping one who really needs assistance.

There has been one service to people they have had to refuse consistently: performance of the marriage ceremony. For some reason, Sister Joanna explained, some people who get their marriage license at the county courthouse, across the street, come to them to be married. They assist them by helping them find a minister and wishing them well.

The needs and requests for help at the House of Hope remain the same. Currently, the House greatly needs food for its emergency food pantry, primarily staple items, and money. Also needed are furniture and appliances that are in good repair. More volunteers are always welcome.

Although the faces of those opening the door at the House of Hope are new, people who go there will find the same spirit of caring and eagerness to help as always which have been the strength of the House since its opening.

Dateline: Annapolis

The just-completed session of the 1984 General Assembly was characterized by many as the "most contentious" and by others as possibly one of the "most productive" ever.

Be that as it may, legislators returned to their districts Tuesday after the hectic final days and are now sorting out the various repercussions of their actions.

By far the most controversial matter was the much-discussed and frequently revised budget, with its resultant changes in the state's pension system for many state employees and teachers.

Gov. Harry Hughes signed the pension system revamp into law Tuesday, but the state agreed that same day to delay the effect of the changes pending the outcome of court challenge by teachers and public employees.

A suit against the bill to restructure the pension system was filed by unions for teachers and state workers 20 minutes after the governor signed the bill into law.

The Maryland State Teachers Association and six other employee groups filed the suit in federal court in Baltimore, and Federal District Court Judge Roszel C. Thomsen Tuesday signed an injunction requested by the unions delaying implementation of the pension revisions. Lawyers for both sides said they hope to go to trial in September.

The suit accuses the state of violating a clause in the U. S. Constitution prohibiting states from passing any law that impairs the obligation of a contract.

The bill would require the employees to pay two percent more of their pay to keep their future benefits, or choose one of three other plans that would reduce their benefits depending on how much they want to pay.

A 40-part package of legislation to clean up the Chesapeake Bay passed, and the legislation includes controls of growth along the shoreline, provides grants to local governments for removing chemicals from sewage treatment discharges, and expends programs for soil conservation and erosion control. An outgrowth of the project is the mandated stormwater management plan now under study by county officials.

The final budget results should, however, mean that Garrett County will fare reasonably well, and that the Medevac unit in Allegany County can remain in operation.

The county will gain $667,000 in new school aid this year as part of a five-year, $616 million program aimed at upgrading public schools, particularly in less affluent areas. The measure spells out ways the money may or may not be spent.

As part of the Capital Projects segment of the budget, funding has been provided for renovation of the National Guard Armory in Oakland. The $375,000 grant is expected to be supplemented by federal funds. According to Del. Edwards, the 75 percent federal funding is almost assured once the state agrees to provide 25 percent. Expected costs for renovation are in the $1 million range.

In the next few weeks, Sen. John Bambacus and Del. Edwards will be providing information and insight on the final days and the results the county may expect.

Soil Testing

The spring rush in soil testing is underway. If you are planning to have your soil tested you should be taking the samples now. Many samples are delayed due to being wet. Let the soil air dry on a newspaper. Do not put into an oven. Soil testing kits are available at my office for $4.00 each.

Soil Tests Show a Major Phosphorus Deficiency

A large majority of the returning soil analysis indicate that many of our fields are low in available Phosphorus. Phosphorus is a major nutrient needed by the farm crops. It is responsible for the development of roots and maturity of the plant. Unlike potassium and nitrogen, phosphorus will not penetrate the soil as easy. It has a very strong attraction to attach to soil particles, therefore, becoming unavailable to the plant. If your fields are low in P205 - apply as much as possible through your planter or drill. By placing the nutrient close to the plant the higher concentration will allow more phosphorus to become available. Here is an example of the amount of nutrient removal in corn grain and silage per acre: Corn Silage at 25 tons/A removes 130 lbs. Nitrogen, 60 lbs. phosphorus and 40 lbs. of potassium. Corn grain at 150 bu. per acre will remove 210 lbs. of Nitrogen, 100 lbs. of phosphorus, 210 lbs. potassium. The figures were recently released from experiments at the University of Kentucky.

TRACTOR SAFETY PROGRAM FOR YOUTH

Youth 13-16 years of age interested in employment in farms this summer should sign up now for the Tractor and Machinery Certification Course starting April 24th at Jackson's Equipment and April 26th at George Bishoff's. Both will be from 7-9 p.m. Youth must register by calling the Extension Office at 334-2145 by April 19th. The course will run 10 weeks on the same day each week. Youth successfully completing the course will receive a certificate from the Department of Labor so they can legally be employed to operate farm equipment.

The Maryland Cooperative Extension's programs are open to all citizens without regard to race, color, sex, handicap, religion, age or national origin.

Friendsville To Change Zoning

Friendsville's mayor and council acted Tuesday night to rezone property at the corner of Chestnut Street and First Avenue from residential to commercial and to allow secondary manufacturing there by special exception.

The change was made at the recommendation of the town's planning commission following a public hearing conducted by the mayor and council.

Dr. Donald J. Pepper, property owner, and John Parsons spoke at the hearing in favor of the zoning change, so that secondary manufacturing can take place in the property. Dr. Pepper plans to build canoe and kayak kits, and possibly light aircraft. No one spoke in opposition.

Mayor James Spear and Councilmen Roger Doug Sines, Ross Selby, Arthur Schmidt, and Spencer Schlosnagle were present for the hearing, which the mayor turned over to John Nelson, county zoning administrator. After the two testified in favor of the proposal, the planning commission conducted a meeting and ended by recommending that the zoning change be made and that manufacturing be permitted by special exception.

After their recommendation, the council convened again and agreed with the commission's recommendation to make the changes.

Planning commission members present were Roger Sines, Burton Lytle and Wayne Tabor. Wendell Keaton, municipal coordinator, also attended the meetings.

Broad Ford Physical Education Program Records Two More Firsts

TWO MORE FIRSTS were recorded recently by participants in the physical education program of Broad Ford Elementary School. Mark Dawson, left, became the first second grade student at the school to win the President's Physical Fitness Award by scoring 85% or higher in all six events, which are geared for fifth grade level students. David Tracey, a fifth grader, became the 200th student at the school to win the award.

The award-winning physical education program at Broad Ford Elementary School, directed by instructor Phil Caruso, recorded another pair of firsts recently.

Mark Dawson, a second grade student, became the youngest student to win the President's Physical Fitness Award by recording an 85% or higher in all six events of the fitness test. Meanwhile, David Tracey, a fifth grade student, became the 200th Broad Ford student to earn the President's award.

To appreciate the difficulty of what Mark Dawson accomplished, Caruso explained that the President's Physical Fitness program is designed to begin with standard scores at the age of 10. "There are no standards below that age," he said, "which means that a student is physically mature enough to win the award only when he reaches the fifth grade."

Mark's scores in the various events were: 47 sit-ups in 60 seconds; five pull-ups; 5' 8" in the long jump; 10.2 seconds in the shuttle run; 7.6 seconds in the 50-yard dash; and 2:09 in the 600-yard run.

"We have had a number of fourth graders win the award and as many as eight third grade students to win the award," Caruso said, "but never did I dream that a student three grades below the national standard for the test could win the award."

Mark Dawson is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Dawson, Oakland.

Caruso said that another second grader, Josh Woods, has also been recording unusually high scores and has a shot at the award.

Caruso's program has also produced three winners of the award who have all scored 100% in every category, making them among the most physically fit boys for their age in the United States.

The Broad Ford program has been producing an average of 55 award winners per year. It is supported by the PTA and the faculty, according to Caruso. The money alloted by the PTA is used to purchase ribbons, trophies, certificates, patches and T-shirts.

When a student wins the award, his or her name is written into a permanent honor roll that is displayed on the gymnasium wall.

Since 1979 when the program was initiated, 207 students have won the award. Forty-five of them have won the Hall of Fame award for scoring at least 95% in all six events, meaning that these individuals are physically more fit than 95% of the youth in the country.

"These accomplishments illustrate to me that when students are motivated and have a strong desire to achieve, there is almost no limitation on performance or accomplishments," Caruso stated. "It is this human spirit and effort that no computer can measure or teach."

Lakers Split With Allegheny-South, Stage Rallies In Sweep Of Boyce

The Garrett Community College baseball team, which has been playing .500 ball for the past few weeks, finally broke loose this past week for three wins in four starts, thus boosting the Lakers' record to 8-6.

Garrett split a doubleheader on Sunday with Community College of Allegheny-South, played at Keyser. The Lakers committed four costly errors in the first contest and were edged, 4-3, which was their fourth one-run loss of the season. Garrett came back in the nightcap, however, to take a 9-5 win.

The Lakers, then faced Boyce Campus in McHenry on Tuesday and swept the visitors in come-from-behind wins, 4-2 in the first game and 5-4 in the nightcap.

The Lakers gave up three unearned runs on miscues in the opener against Allegheny-South on Sunday. They lost the game in the seventh after tying the score at 3-3 in the sixth inning.

Tim bishop led the Laker hitting attack, going three-for-three with one RBI.

Garrett jumped out to an 8-2 lead in the second game, only to have the advantage cut to 8-5 in the sixth inning. However, reliever Tim Kocis came in for the Lakers during the sixth and shut the visitors down the rest of the way. Marc Ciaramella, who relieved starter Dan Schwerer, was credited with the win.

Alan Popa led the Lakers with three hits and two RBIs, while Tim Pavloc and Rick Day each collected two hits.

"Not getting on a field finally caught up with us on Sunday," Laker Coach Phil Caruso stated. "Our errors cost us the game. But I feel we played aggressively with timely hits in the second game to gain a split against a very good team."

Both wins over Boyce were accomplished through late-inning rallies by the Lakers, who scored a pair of runs in the sixth inning of the opener and two in the seventh inning of the second contest.

Singles by Pavloc and Mike Matthews in the bottom of the fifth inning, followed by a sacrifice bunt and a two-run base hit by Bob Armeni, brought the Lakers back from a 2-0 deficit in the first game.

Day then led off Garrett's sixth with a double and scored what proved to be the winning run on a double by Ted Souva. Mathews then singled home Souva for an insurance run.

Given credit for the win on the mound was Mike Uram, who relieved Kocis in the sixth. The pair allowed only five hits, while Victor Mireles gave up nine hits in absorbing the loss for Boyce.

The Lakers found themselves down 4-3 heading into the top of the seventh inning of the second game. However, Mathews reached base on a fielder's choice, Day singled and Souva sent Mathews home on a single for the tying run.

Garrett then loaded the bases and Pavloc drove home the winning run on a single.

Tim Bishop added a two-run homer in the third inning.

Tim McCoy, who relieved John Lusko in the sixth, was credited with the win, while Butch Ermick took the loss.

The Lakers will host Catonsville CC on Saturday afternoon and Beaver County, Pa., on Sunday.

Rams Still Seek First Win, But Remain Unbeaten

The Southern Rams maintained their undefeated string in baseball so far this season, but they also have yet to record a win.

Last week the Rams played to a 6-6 draw with Keyser before the game had to be called because of darkness, and that is precisely what happened Monday evening in Frostburg when Southern and Beall tied at 8-8 after seven innings.

The Rams were down 8-7 heading into their half of the seventh inning when Troy Lundquist doubled home Bruce Bosley to knot the score.

Pacing Southern's offensive attack were J.R. Gibson, who rapped a double and a single good, and Randy Bernard, who collected two singles.

Brian Murphy finished with a pair of hits for Beall, including a triple.

Bernard, who came into the contest in relief of Danny Holler after six innings, pitched the Rams out of trouble in the seventh after the Mountaineers had loaded the bases. Scott Colaw started on the mound and was relieved after three innings by Holler.

Cuthbertson went the rest Lance for Beall. Both teams finished with eight hits.

Coach Jim Bosley's Rams will return to action Saturday in a 1 p.m. doubleheader at powerful Tucker County. Their first home game will be a single contest next Wednesday against Northern.

Turkey Hunting Season Slated April 23-May 12

Garrett County hunters can don camouflage wear, daub paint on their faces and take to the woods April 23 through May 12 for the spring turkey season. West Virginia season opens first, on April 16, and concludes May 12, while in Pennsylvania hunters may go after gobblers April 27 through May 18.

Last year's turkey kill was down slightly from previous years, with Garrett hunters recording 64 gobblers compared to 104 in 1983. Approximately 57 percent of the turkeys killed were reported taken on state lands.

The fall turkey kill for the county was 74 birds, the same as the preceeding year.

In neighboring West Virginia, Preston County had the highest number of turkeys killed in the spring 1983 season, with 139 birds taken. A total of 2,627 birds were killed in the spring 1983. Some 82 percent of the birds were killed on private land, half the harvest occurred during the first week of the season, and 69 percent of the successful hunters bagged their gobbler before 9 a.m.

In a recent report issued by the West Virginia Chapter of the National Wild Turkey Federation, statistics were given pointing out that 88 percent of the hunters used a diaphragm call, 40 percent used a box call, and 36 percent used a slate call. Obviously, some hunters used more than one type of call.

Dribblers Club Concludes Season With Tournament, Awards Ceremony

Over 250 players, parents, and friends were present at the Dennett Road School gym to witness the second annual Oakland Rotary Dribblers Club Championship and Awards ceremony. In only its second year of existence, over 85 boys and girls regularly participated in the 11-week, Saturday morning recreation program for third and fourth grade students. "We are getting so big we are going to have to find more gym space if we hope to do the kind of job we've done in our first two years," stated league director Dave Bender.

The program consisted of special instruction and drills focusing on the basketball fundamentals of dribbling, passing, defense, and shooting. Participants were divided into 12 teams which played two games each Saturday. Teams were limited to playing man-to-man defense and used junior size basketballs to help facilitate instruction in the basic rules of the game and teach proper basketball techniques.

"Our goal was to help create a genuine appreciation for the game of basketball through instruction of the fundamentals, participation, and having fun," stated Bender. "I think we achieved those goals."

TOURNAMENT HIGHLIGHTS

The tournament started out with lots of excitement as the first two games went into overtime. The Knicks (19-7) squeezed by the Sixers (5-11) behind the play of Brian Shawl and the Spurs team whipped the Bucks, 13-12. Kathy Gibson's 12 points led the Hawks (5-11) over the Bullets (8-8), 23-15, and Mike Stuart's 14 points helped the Cavs (5-11) edge the Lakers (7-9), 20-19.

Standouts in a losing cause were Greg Inglese (Sixers), Jeremy Bosley (Bucks), Tim Beeman (Bullets), and Coit Custer (Lakers).

The championship rounds were dominated by the play of Britten Martin (Nets) who scored a tournament total of 44 points in a win over the Knicks (9-7), and a loss to the Celtics (12-4). Dave Kurtz led his Celtics to the finals by scoring 49 points in wins over the Hawks (5-11) and Nets (11-5).

Brett Rice led the Jazz team (15-1) to three victories and the ORDC Tournament championship for the second year in a row by scoring 41 points in wins over the Cavs, Pistons, and Jazz.

AWARDS CEREMONY

The championship game was followed by the second annual ORDC awards ceremony. League director Dave Bender (JV basketball coach, Southern High School) opened the ceremony with a special thanks to the Oakland Rotary Club Youth Chairman Carl Shawl; Clark Sharpless, principal at Dennett Road; Francis Harris, recreation director, Board of Education; Bill Lovett, physical education instructor, Dennett Road; and Carolyn Beckman, league statistician.

Recognition was given to the league coaching staff which consisted of Southern freshman and JV basketball players Jim Liller, Max Hill, Eric Rice, Dale Bittinger, Terry Otto, Brad Bosley, Jeff Haines, and Rob Germain. Rick Selders and Lawrence Dawson were also recognized as part of the staff.

Two special awards were given to the coaching staff. Rob Germain won the Golden Whistle Award, and Jim Liller won Coach of the Year Award.

Certificates of participation were given to every person who played in the league this year. Special certificates were given to members of the two regular season champions. They were, in the East Division, Celtics (14-5) Dave Kurtz, Michelle Duling, Allison Winters, Jacob Rodeheaver, Nathan Bendler, and Jeff Martin; and in the West Division, Jazz (18-1) Brett Rice, J.J. Devine, Andrew Eiswert, Jamie DeWitt, Amy Rice, Ingrid Carlson, Shawn Gank, and Rand Davidson. Members of the Jazz also received certificates for winning the tournament championship.

Coach Bender then presented 11 players with All-League certificates for their outstanding play throughout the season. These players included: Coit Custer (Lakers), Ed Martin (Hawks), Tim Beeman (Bullets), Mike Stuart (Cavs), Garth Glotfelty (Knicks), Greg Inglese (Sixers), Mike Duling (Pistons), Jeremy Bosley (Bucks), Britten Martin (Nets), Dave Kurtz (Celtics), and Brett Rice (Jazz).

The ceremony continued with the awarding of special recognition for those who excelled in developing those characteristics that were emphasized during the year as virtues worthy of special merit. Awards and winners are as follows:

Best Defensive Player, Greg Inglese; Best Offensive Player, Dave Kurtz; Mr. Sportsmanship, Jeff Spencer; Mr. Hustle, Mike Duling; Best Attitude, Ed Martin; Most Improved, Mark Knepp; Best Female Athlete, Ingrid Carlson; and Most Outstanding Player, Brett Rice.

Taking part in the awards presentation were former Southern High standout and present head basketball coach at Garrett Community College, Tom Bosley; former Northern High standout, Frostburg State College Hall of Famer and president of the Oakland Rotary Club, Craig Wengerd; Coach Bender, Carl Shawl, and Southern High athletic director Dave Mayfield. The program was wrapped up by special presentations from the parents of the players to Coach Bender and his staff.

"The cooperation of parents, community, and staff has made this league one of the most positive organizations I've ever been associated with," reflected Bender.

Huskies Defeat Valley, Rockwood Before Falling To Mt. Savage

The Northern Huskies evened their record at 2-2 this past week by blanking Valley, 6-0, on Friday evening in Lonaconing, topping Rockwood on Monday afternoon, 10-7, on the losers' diamond, and then falling to Mt. Savage Wednesday afternoon, 8-5.

Brent Beachy fired a three-hitter against Valley, while teammates Charlie and Lamar Beiler paced the Huskies' hitting efforts. Charlie recorded a pair of RBIs on two doubles and Lamar collected three singles and scored three times.

Beachy recorded five strike-outs and allowed only one multiple-base hit, that being a double by Jeff Lease. Lee Cutter took the loss on the mound for the Black Knights.

At Rockwood, Greg Diehl drove in three runs with a triple and a pair of singles for the Huskies, while Charlie Beiler added a double and two singles. Phil Carr added a pair of doubles as the Huskies recorded 10 hits.

Steve Zumpano fanned 11 batters and gave up six hits in going the distance, while Steve Singo took the loss.

Metzger, Bowman and Walker each collected a pair of hits for Rockwood.

Northern was down 3-0 at Mt. Savage yesterday before coming alive in the sixth inning to score five runs and take the lead. The Huskies got singles from both of the Beilers, followed by an error by the Indians, a three-run homer by Zumpano and an RBI double by Dwight Emory.

The Indians also had a five-run sixth inning, however, which gave them the win. They loaded the bases on a pair of walks and a hit batter. Then Dale Corley rapped a two-run single to tie the score at 5-5.

Mark Dom then put the game away with a three-run homer.

Corley, who relieved Gary Tipton in the sixth, gained credit for the win over Zumpano.

The Huskies will return to action on Friday by hosting Meyersdale in a 4 p.m. contest.

Settle Reflects

Husky Coach Jack Settle feels certain that his team will have a successful season this year, hopefully better than the 7-9 showing in the 1983 season.

Despite the record last year, a number of school records were set by that team, which has since lost five players to graduation.

The 1983 Huskies set records in hitting and scoring, batting a team average of .307, collecting 141 hits and scoring 127 runs. The team also recorded a record 111 RBIs, 30 doubles, 95 walks and an all-time low of 50 errors.

So why a losing record?

Settle said that the problem was weak pitching and that is precisely the area that he feels will be stronger this season. Steve Zumpano and Brent Beachy, now both juniors with considerable experience behind them, will lead the pitching effort. Sophomore Kevin Sines, junior Bill Murray, senior Kevin McKenzie and freshman Wayne Tabor should also provide some quality pitching, according to Settle.

The hitting power of the 1983 team may not be quite as strong this season, however six returning starters finished last season with .300-plus averages. Talon King led the team with a remarkable .476 average. Also returning are Phil Carr, .386; Lamar Beiler, .383; Greg Diehl, .380; Steve Zumpano, .352; and Dwight Emory, .350.

The Huskies are currently 2-2 on the season and have, as usual, found to face practicing difficult because of the poor weather conditions of Garrett County in March and April. "We haven't been on the field much, until this week, but I am really pleased with the attitude of the team," Settle said. "We are facing another tough schedule this season and we will simply take each game, one inning at a time."

Among the strongest foes, Settle named Southern, Mt. Savage, Bruce and Beall.

Grantsville Inn Guests Awakened By Smoke Alarm

The occupants of a room at the Grantsville Holiday Inn were awakened suddenly early Monday morning by the sound of a fire alarm, after a heater in the room apparently shorted and caught fire.

Garrett Central Alarm dispatched fire fighters from Grantsville, Bittinger and Eastern Garrett departments at 3:09 a.m., along with the Northern Rescue Squad, Maryland State Police and the county air cascade vehicle.

According to Herman Yoder, chief of the Grantsville VFD, the fire was extinguished within a few minutes by Grantsville personnel and the other responding units were returned to their respective stations.

The room was located on the first floor, Yoder said, and smoke damage was confined to the room. Exhaust fans built into the room also helped clear the air.

Other guests at the establishment were not forced to evacuate the building, since the fire was brought under control almost immediately.

Firemen remained on the scene for about 45 minutes.

Maryland Coal Production Down Slightly In 1983

A recent report published in Maryland Coal News, the newsletter of the Maryland Coal Association, showed that production of the state's two coal-producing counties for 1983 totalled approximately 3,117,490 tons, a decrease of approximately 339,002 tons over 1982.

Garrett County's total 1983 production was 2,569,612 tons, nearly four times higher than Allegany County's 547,878 tons. Much of the higher production in this county is due to Mettiki Coal Corporation, whose three underground mines produced 1,387,313 tons.

Second highest producer in this county was Beener Coal, with 247,637 tons, followed by Masteller Coal Company's strip and underground mines which turned out 192,917 tons.

Other companies and their 1983 totals are:

Action Mining, 85,911; Allegheny Mining, 55,872; Best Coal Stripping, 3,697; Buffalo Coal Company, 84,184; Delta Mining, 7,625; John Duckworth, 22,485; G&S Coal Co., 48,417; Interstate Lumber Co., 114,935; Jones Coal Co., 24,766; L.C. ## Commissioners Attend ARC Jobs Conference

The Board of County Commissioners are attending an Appalachian Regional Commission conference this week entitled "Appalachia Working: The Competitive Edge for Today and Tomorrow."

The conference, which opened yesterday in Hershey, Pa., focuses on the Appalachian region's rapidly changing job market, the outlook for future changes, and policies that can help the region prepare for these changes.

Panel sessions will include discussions about technology and jobs, packaging capital for business and industry, matching education and jobs and case studies of displaced workers in Appalachia.

The conference will conclude Friday.

Lillian Reckner, Rosanne Sherwood To Attend State DKG Convention

Lillian Reckner, left, teacher at Northern Middle School, and Rosanne Sherwood, Accident Elementary School teacher, were selected as delegates to the Alpha Beta State Delta Kappa Gamma convention to be held April 27, 28 and 29 at Salisbury, Maryland.

Mrs. Reckner and Mrs. Sherwood are members of the local Alpha Alpha Chapter. Mrs. Reckner is presently second vice president and Mrs. Sherwood is recording secretary of the chapter. Also attending the convention will be Anna Bishop, chapter president and state research chairman.

The theme for the convention is "In Pursuit of Excellence". Southeast Regional Director, Jean L. Ricks will be the international representative and will be the breakfast speaker on Sunday. Dr. Edna May Merson, past Northeast Regional Director, will speak at the Saturday night banquet at the Sheraton Salisbury.

Delta Kappa Gamma is an international society of women educators. The Alpha Alpha Chapter was founded in May 1974. The chapter presents a grant-in-aid annually to a female pursuing a degree in education and this year presented a $50 scholarship to a Garrett County student attending a Maryland Gifted and Talented Summer Program.

A recent revision in the law now includes a provision whereby the state may charge persons for discarding burning material such as cigarettes in an area where they may start a fire.

"Wildfires or forest fires can be especially damaging in the spring because it is a time of new growth, and the fires can destroy this growth," Metz said. "These fires also pose a great threat to wildlife because they destroy nests and the young, which are unable to flee the fire."

Metz urges all county residents and visitors to report all fires to Garrett Central Alarm, telelphone number 911.

State Highways Issues Reminder On Sign Restrictions

In this election year, the State Highway Administration reminds candidates for public office, as well as proponents and opponents of propositions, that campaign signs are permitted along state highways if the following criteria are met:

1. The sign is not erected on State Highway Administration right of way.
2. Permission has been granted to post the sign on private property.
3. The sign conforms with all local restrictions and zoning requirements.
4. The sign is not erected more than 45 days prior to the primary election. Unsuccessful candidates in the primary election must remove signs within 15 days after the primary.
5. The sign is not erected along an Interstate route.
6. All signs must be removed within 15 days after the general elections.

All candidates are reminded that they are responsible for compliance with the criteria for the erection of signs and for their removal. For further information, persons may contact Mr. Morris Stein, Chief, Highway Beautification Section, State Highway Administration, 707 N. Calvert Street, Baltimore, Md. 21202. The telephone number is (301) 659-1642.

Forester Warns Of Fire Danger During Spring

As spring-like weather arrives in the area, many landowners will begin cleaning up their property and there will be increased use of forests for recreational purposes. Garrett County Project Forester Ernie Metz urges everyone to be careful with fire during this period, because of the high fire danger. The erratic winds and increasing daily temperatures can cause the fire danger to change very drastically in a short period of time, he stated.

The burning regulations in Maryland require that any burning must be done after 4 p.m., EST, or 5 p.m. DST and not within 200 feet of woodland or flammable material that could carry fire to a woodland. The only exception to this regulation is in the case of contractors, land clearing, or companies where a hardship is created. These individuals should contact the Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service at Mt. Nebo, (301) 334-3256, if they wish to obtain a burning permit. Personnel from the Forest, Park and Wildlife Service will inspect the site and, if adequate personnel and equipment are available to prevent the fire from escaping, a permit may be issued.

ARCHITECTURE AND YOU

When you make out your list of home-hunting priorities, make sure you include style. Some people just accept the looks of a home—if it's fairly pleasing, they accept it. Architecture should, however be a reflection of your own personality.

If you like new and maybe even daring, innovative ideas, you might consider a contemporary ranch, bi-level, or futuristic design. Are you a nostalgia and antique buff? Then look for a Victorian house complete with "gingerbread" frills, carvings, stained glass, and maybe even a Tiffany lamp! Your love for quiet dignity and formality may mean you'll be happy in a Georgian. Suppose that view of the Riviera Coast you saw in a movie sticks in your mind. That vision could lead you to a Mediterranean style villa.

So don't take the looks of a home for granted. Put it high on your list of priorities. After all, YOU have to live in it and see it all the time . . . make it an extention of yourself! There's an emotional attachment between a home and its residents that goes beyond the deed. The style of the home matching the personality of the people has a great deal to do with this bond.

A parade, a luncheon, a fashion show, the crowning of a queen, the annual ball — all part of the elaborate Cherry Blossom Festival soon to take place in Washington. But will there be a single cherry tree in bloom?

Have you ever seriously considered the uncertainties that so often hide certainty? Sure, nobody knows when the Tidal Basin will wear its wreath of blossoms. But everybody knows it will!

The mysteries of religion are like that. Do church bells call men to wonder . . . or to worship? Is faith the answer to every theological riddle . . . or is it simply trust in God?

It makes more sense to concentrate on a spiritual Certainty than to speculate about uncertainties. Trust in God. He will allay your doubts.

WHAT IS A MISOCAPNIST?

You probably know a great many people who are misocapnists. No doubt several relatives are as well as some very close friends. These days most people who are misocapnists do not hesitate to let you know about it. And with the zeal of a missionary they will try to convert you to their way of thinking. For a misocapnist is a person who hates tobacco!

If you are a smoker but want to get started on a misocapnist career, we can give you some help. There are products available to get you over the first withdrawal hurdles. Of course, to be a true believer you also need some will power. But remember a misocapnist stands a better chance of living longer than a cigarette smoker.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

WHOSE WILL?

Background Scripture: Mark 14.
Devotional Reading: Mark 14:3-9.

"Abba, Father,...remove this cup from me; yet not what I will, but what thou wilt" (14:36).

So Jesus prayed in Gethsemane. He was not looking for martyrdom. I assume he must have wondered if his disciples could carry on without him. He was a young man and surely must have loved life so much that the thought of ending it was most unattractive to him.

Yet, although he surely did not seek the cross, neither did he run from it. If he had to choose between the cross and failing to do God's will, then his choice was clear: "what thou wilt."

THIS CUP

When Jesus was finished praying in this manner, he was arrested and it wasn't long before he was dying on the cross.

What does all of this suggest about the prayer he prayed? Does it mean that God was unable to save him from the cross? Or that God didn't care about it? Furthermore, does it mean that God's will for Jesus was the cross, its terrible shame and suffering?

To all of the above, I would answer with a resounding "No!" I do not think God was helpless or indifferent. Nor can I believe that it was God's will for his Son to suffer and die for the sake of enacting a cosmic drama. I am convinced that God wills for all of us to be righteous and I do not believe that he caused men to perform a heinous so that his own Gospel of Divine Love might be proclaimed.

Yet, although God desires us to be righteous, he does not compel us to be so. Although he wills for his children to do good, he allows them to do evil, if that is what they will. But, having done so, his children do not have the last word. Our sin cannot ultimately thwart his will, only impede it in the short run. As he demonstrated again and again in the Bible, God is able even to use the disobedience of his children to accomplish his own will.

THE CROSS

So, it is with the cross, I believe. Although he did not will the cross for Jesus, neither did he prevent men from erecting it on Golgotha. For he knew that the cross was not the last word in the matter. Jesus would be saved, not from the cross, but through it.

There was at stake here an issue that was even higher than saving Jesus from the crucifixion just as there may often be unseen higher issues at work in our lives when we pray, "remove this cup from me." God's will for Jesus was that he should remain faithful to the Gospel, even if it led to a cross at the hands of the Lord's disobedient children. More important than the bitterness of the cup is the price we would have to pay to escape it. It is then that the will of God is infinitely more important than the cup it may cost us.

Jillian's comeback on TV and in marriage

By David Gabriel

Ann Jillian, who plays Jennifer's ghost on "Jennifer Slept Here," wasn't worried when the show went on hiatus in mid-season. "Jennifer can disappear and reappear anytime she wants to," says Miss Jillian. Sure enough, the series has been revived with five new episodes.

As for movies, Miss Jillian is not going to rush in front of the camera with the first script that her agent sends her. She is going to sit back and wait for a quality script.

"I got tired disappointing my fans with Grade B products," she says. "I want to see one of those quality miniseries or a quality Movie of the Week. I want something that has depth to it. I can walk away because I don't have to worry about the finances. I can afford to sit back and wait."

She regrets having made "Girls of the White Orchid," an NBC television movie that aired last fall which was about American girls lured to Japan with promises of show business offers only to be trapped in prostitution.

"That was not put in the television annals of the greats," she said with a burst of laughter.

The saga of her personal life continues. When she married former Chicago cop Andy Murcia, he served as her manager. Gradually the relationship of client-manager overshadowed the husband-wife relationship.

Ann Jillian

"At last we decided to let a professional take charge," Miss Jillian says. "We sat back and got to know each other as husband and wife. Then we saw that Andy had been doing a better job than the professionals. So we said that we'd be client-manager again. Only this time we set up some ground rules. From 8 to 5 we are business. After 5 o'clock, forget it, no more business. We don't talk about it. This is our private time."

So far it is working out. Miss Jillian has Murcia as her manager in the daytime and as her husband in the evening. But the saga continues, so tune in next week.

Nielsen is 'Shaping Up' comedic image

By Joe Haviland

In ABC's new sitcom, "Shaping Up," Leslie Nielsen gives us his own style of comedy in the role of health-club owner Buddy Fox.

For the veteran character actor, who's played more mean guys in his career than good, this represents a second shot at a prime-time sitcom. "Police Squad," was his first and lasted a mere six episodes.

"'Police Squad' was a marvelously innovative new series but it was up against 'Magnum, P.I.,'" says Nielsen. "In other words, it was up against Tom Selleck. He's a very high-powered personality and people want to spend time with him."

Though "Shaping Up" isn't competing against "Magnum, P.I." it is in the same time slot as NBC's new action series, "Riptide," a series created by Stephen Cannell, producer of "The A-Team."

Nielsen, who had his first big comedic break in the feature film, "Airplane," is confident about the new sitcom but won't make any predictions about it changing the course of situation comedies. "I'm certainly not going to say that this show will bring situation comedy back to its rightful place," he says. "But it couldn't hurt."

In the series, Nielsen plays the 61-year-old owner of a Santa Monica health club. And, like any health club, the show's club has a lot of women in Danskins and men in shorts working out. However, the emphasis is not on the physical, says the 58-year-old Nielsen. "Naturally the ladies and guys in the show are good-looking people. And they're there to be seen but that is not the basis of the show."

Leslie Nielsen

It is of course the humor that Nielsen concentrates on. And it just so happens that humor takes place in a health club, an ideal setup for entrances and exits, says Nielsen.

"I'm capable of any kind of insanity that Buddy Fox is capable of," says Nielsen discussing his role. "I feel that there are certain insensitivities about Buddy that are not particularly a part of me. But it's intriguing to play them and overcome them.

"Humor is close to me," continues Nielsen. "I love laughing and it's nice to do something that people can laugh at."

Moses Gunn, Katherine Cannon and Merlin Olsen (l. to r.) make their return, starring in NBC's "Father Murphy," a series about a western orphanage in the 1870's, airing Sundays.

IN FOCUS

Hufsey makes grade as member of 'Fame'

By Peter Meade

As with any new kid in school, it took Billy Hufsey awhile to get acquainted with his new surroundings. His school is "Fame," the syndicated series based on the experiences of students at New York City's School for the Performing Arts. And it it's hard to get into the real school, it's almost impossible to become a member of "Fame."

Three thousand people auditioned for the role of Christopher Donlon. By winning the part, Hufsey was allowed to put in the 55-to-70 hours a week that is required to put together an hour-long show, which includes dialogue, singing and dancing.

But Hufsey was prepared for the challenge. He'd seen the movie "Fame" nine times while in his native Cleveland. Now, when he has some spare time, Hufsey says he spends it riding his horse or sailing. He also works out twice a week at the gym. Before becoming an actor, Hufsey was an undefeated Golden Gloves welterweight boxer and the 1979 United States Disco Champion. He also plays the guitar, drums, saxophone, trumpet and piano.

Gil Gerard was ready to board the "Blue Thunder" helicopter as weekly work, but he declined just before the series got ready to takeoff.

"I would have no control over the final product," says Gerard. "The producers would, but it would be my name out there. No one ever remembers who produced or directed something, but they always remembe[illegible] starred in it."

Gerard learned his lesson from another series with an airborne theme. He played the high-flying sci-fi hero Buck Rogers in the 1979-1981 series, "Buck Rogers in the 25th Century."

He's still searching for the right series, while his wife, Connie Sellecca, enjoys her success on ABC's "Hotel." Gerard's free time is occupied with horseracing. One of his horses, "Apache Circle," has won more than $1 million.

In the pilot for the CBS series, "Mickey Spillane's Mike Hammer," the character of Capt. Pat Chambers, played by Don Stroud, had a wife named Sally, the name of one of Stroud's former wives. When the two-hour movie did so well that it became a series, about the only change made was that Mrs. Chambers was called Linda, the name of Stroud's current wife. "Now it's easier to remember," says Stroud.

ASK ME ABOUT TV

By Val Carew

I admire the acting and looks of Heather Thomas of "The Fall Guy." Where can I write to ask for an autographed picture? — J.H., Laredo, Texas.

Pretty Miss Thomas, born in Greenwich, Conn., says she is determined that someday she will be behind the camera, as a writer and producer. Meanwhile, she is an actress who gets a lot of mail. Write her for an autographed picture in care of the series at Glen Larson Productions, 20th Century-Fox Studios, 10100 Pico Boulevard, Los Angeles, CA 90210.

Heather Thomas

What does one have to do to get an answer from the TV networks? I think whoever disregarded my letter should author a book on how to lose friends and alienate people. — A.T., Colorado Springs, Colo.

You have every right to expect the network to answer your letter. Granted they get a lot of mail, but your letter was dated last March, so I think you do have a gripe.

I recently saw one of the earlier episodes of "Eight is Enough." The character of David Bradford, however, was not played by Grant Goodeve but by someone else. Please tell me where I have seen him. — B.W., Brooklyn Park, Minn.

Did he by any chance look like Mark Hamill? He was in the pilot, but a broken ankle forced him out when the show went to a series and Grant Goodeve took over.

Tom Selleck

Does Tom Selleck of "Magnum, P.I." also play on the soap, "The Edge of Night"? — A.P., Lewiston, Maine.

No. Selleck is busy enough shooting six days a week on "Magnum." He never was on the show either, although Larry Hagman of "Dallas" was on it years ago.

(Do you have a question about TV? Write Val Carew at 200 Park Avenue, Room 602, New York, NY 10166. Questions cannot be answered personally, but those of general interest will be answered in future columns.)

Lamas' real mom; Penghlis at home

By Kimberly Redmond

I would like to know the name of Lorenzo Lamas' (Lance Cumson on "Falcon Crest") real mother. He's my favorite actor on that nighttime soap. — J.L., Robstown, Texas.

Lamas' real-life mom is actress Arlene Dahl, who portrays Lucinda King on "One Life to Live."

Lorenzo Lamas

I'd like to know if I can buy the song "Coming Home," which Becky Buchanan sang on "One Life to Live." Also, where can I write to Becky? — D.G., New Haven, Conn.

Though actress/singer Mary Murray, who portrays Becky Buchanan, sang the song 'Coming Home' on 'OLTL,' she has not recorded it. Miss Murray can be reached in care of "One Life to Live," ABC-TV, 1330 Ave. of the Americas, New York, NY 10019.

I'd like to know as much as you can tell me about handsome Thaao Penghlis who portrays Tony DiMera on "Days of Our Lives." — R.H., Parsippany, N.Y.

Penghlis was born in Sidney, Australia, to Greek immigrant parents. His original dream was to become an archeologist, but instead he served as a career diplomat and worked for the United Nations. He made his acting debut on the West Coast. Since then, his career has encompassed off-Broadway, motion picture ("Altered States" and "The Bell Jar") and television work, including guest-starring roles in many nighttime series.

Penghlis is also noted as a gourmet cook as many of his "Days" cast mates can attest to since he hosts small dinner parties frequently. He also enjoys collecting antiques and paintings which adorn his plush and tastefully decorated Hollywood home.

(Have a question about soap operas? Write Kimberly Redmond at 200 Park Avenue, Room 602, New York, NY 10166. Questions cannot be answered personally, but those of general interest will be answered in future columns.)

SHOW AND TELL

Robinson preaches a first-class guy

By Gregory Garver

Charlie Robinson

HOLLYWOOD — If there is another season of NBC's "Buffalo Bill," it could contain a history-making step for TV. Among the peripheral characters supporting Dabney Coleman's character, Bill, are a girl named Wendy (played by Geena Davis) and Bill's makeup man, Newdell (played by Charlie Robinson), who are already more than just friends.

"More and more this season," says Robinson, "Newdell and Wendy are showing signs of affection toward each other. If we have another season, I don't know where that could lead. At the moment, I will touch her hand — a little longer than mere friends would touch, yet not as long as lovers. So I'm really not sure what lies ahead for us — if anything does."

The problem is that Wendy is white and Newdell is black. And TV, in the past, has frowned on interracial romance. Years ago, Petula Clark impulsively grabbed Harry Belafonte's hand after a duet, and there was a lot of flack. Gradually, that's changed — but no romances, at least not yet.

Romance or no, Robinson hopes "Buffalo Bill" does come back, because he enjoys working on the show. He likes Newdell and thinks he's a first-class guy. "He's the strongest of all the people on Bill's station," Robinson says. "He's the only one who will stand up to Bill and see that he doesn't get away with anything."

Traditionally, there has been at least the suspicion that makeup men are gay, and Newdell certainly isn't. "So all of Hollywood's makeup men and women love me and my character," Robinson says, "because I am giving their profession respectability."

Before "Buffalo Bill," Robinson studied acting and worked as a security guard, supporting himself while trying to break into television. His desire to become an actor stemmed from his childhood.

"I was always the family entertainer," says Robinson, who hails from Houston, Texas. "As a boy, I wanted to be a minister, but I realize now that was just a way of expressing my desire to be in show business — after all, ministers are always great performers."

'Stowaway to the Moon' A boy hides aboard a command capsule before it blasts off for the moon. Lloyd Bridges, John Carradine, Peter Conrad. 1974.

FmHA Seeking Change In Law Affecting Loans

The Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) is seeking a change in a law that is slowing down the number of loans for single family housing in many rural areas of the country, according to Maryland FmHA State Director, G. Wallace Caulk.

Caulk said a law that became effective last December requires the agency to make 40 percent of its single family housing loans to very-low-income people.

In testimony before a subcommitee of the U.S. Housing Banking, Finance and Urban Affairs Committee March 28, FmHA National Administrator Charles W. Shuman said, "We support efforts to direct the agency's programs to serve the truly needy. However, a mandate that impairs our ability to serve the needs of rural America is not in anyone's best interest."

Shuman explained, "Many prospective homeowners, especially in the more rural areas, find themselves in a 'Catch 22' situation. If their income is high enough to show repayment ability for an FmHA loan, it is too high to fit the very-low-income, category. If their income is low enough to be considered very-low-income, they cannot afford an FmHA loan. Even with a one percent interest rate, . . . the payments are simply too high to leave them enough income to pay other living expenses."

Under these conditions, he said it is difficult in many rural areas to find people who can qualify for very-low-income brackets until it can assure that 40 percent of all single family housing loans can go to very-low-income people.

Shuman suggested to the Housing and Community Subcommittee that it may be that a more practical balance between these economic segments could be agreed to or that "the absolute ratio be removed in favor of more realistic targeting goals."

Census Bureau Slates Survey

The U.S. Bureau of the Census will conduct its regular survey on employment and unemployment in Garrett County during the week of April 16-21, according to James F. Holmes, director of the Bureau's Regional Office in Philadelphia.

In addition to the usual questions on employment and unemployment the April survey will have questions on child support and alimony.

The survey is conducted for the U.S. Department of Labor in a scientifically designed sample of approximately 71,000 households throughout the United States. Employment and unemployment statistics based on results of this survey are used to provide a continuing measure of the economic health of the nation.

For example, in February 1984 the survey indicated that of the 11.7 million men and women in the civilian labor force, 103.9 million were employed. The nation's unemployment rate was 7.8 percent, 0.2 percent lower than reported in January.

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is kept strictly confidential by law and the results are used only to compile statistical totals, according to Holmes.

Accident Farmer Finds Better Way; Seeks Manufacturer For New Hay Rake

by Jeff Fratz
and Joan Sussman

Every time haymaking season rolled around, Kermit Yoder, an Accident farmer, thought there had to be a better way. When he checked his recently mown hay to see if it was ready to rake, it was usually dry on top and quite wet underneath.

If he went ahead and raked, the wet was mixed with the dry, slowing down the drying process considerably. He began to toy with ideas for turning the hay over, putting the wet hay on top and the dry underneath, leaving the hay in an eight-foot swath and allowing the hay to dry more quickly.

Years ago, his father had designed and built a machine, but did not pursue a patent for it, only to see it manufactured and sold a few years later.

Following in his father's footsteps, Yoder worked on plans for various farm machinery but never tried to patent his ideas. Then, he too saw similar machines introduced by farm machinery companies.

Yoder decided not to make the same mistake again. When he thought he had come up with a workable idea, he contacted a popular machinery company describing his idea. He received a reply stating that he had a good idea, but the company's engineers questioned whether it would work.

He found solutions to the engineers objections, and resubmitted his design. This time the company agreed that the design would probably work, but questioned whether it was patentable.

Yoder contacted a patent lawyer from Washington, D.C., and went ahead with the patenting process. Nearly two years later, the patent was approved.

With the patent secured, Yoder once again contacted the machinery firm, which showed more interest. However, the farm machinery market was feeling hard times, and the company explained that several of their engineers had been laid off, preventing the company from building a prototype.

At their suggestion, Yoder contacted a local welding shop, and worked with it throughout the winter to build the machine. By spring, the prototype was ready to go, and Yoder was eager to make hay.

Finally, Yoder faced a field of hay with his new machine. The hay was dry on top, and wet underneath. He proceeded to turn over the hay, but couldn't bear to look. When he could stand the suspense no longer, he got down and checked his results.

It worked beautifully, turning the wet hay uniformly to the top of the swath.

Elated with the results, he called the machinery company, informing them that the idea had worked better than expected. Representatives of the firm made a trip to Yoders 300-acre farm to watch the machine in action, taking photographs and films to present to company executives.

A few months later, Yoder received a letter from the firm stating that the company would seek funds to build a prototype at a reasonable cost, and would conduct a survey to determine farmer interest in such a machine.

Area farmers who have seen the machine in action are excited about the idea for several reasons. Not only does it reduce hay drying time, but it can also turn over a rained-on windrow, and is capable of raking hay for large round bales or for standard bales, without driving over the hay.

Driving over hay with machinery knocks off leaves, which contain the most valuable nutritional content in hay.

The machine is also useful for uniformly wilting forage for storage in silos. Farmers feel that its multi-purpose nature is a definate asset.

Yoder is continuing with his efforts to manufacture the machine that seems to do more things better.

Tractor Safety Course Offered To Young Farmers

A tractor and machinery safety certification course will be offered in two areas of Garrett County to qualify youth between the ages of 13-16 years to legally be employed on farms and operate hazardous equipment. The program is sponsored by the Garrett County Cooperative Extension Service, according to Ted Sprangel, agriculture 4-H youth agent.

The present U.S. Department of Labor Law declares tractors over 20 PTO horsepower and power driven equipment hazardous to youth under 16 years of age if working for anyone except farms operated by their parents. Thus, this 20-hour course will be offered to meet the requirements of the law, Sprangel said.

The locations and starting dates are: Tuesday, April 24, 7 to 9 p.m., at Jackson's Equipment in Oakland; and Thursday, April 26, at the George Bishoff farm, Hoyes Road, near McHenry. Courses will run for 10 weeks on the same day each week.

Youth must successfully complete a written exam and demonstrate practical tractor driving ability to receive a certificate from the Department of Labor which will allow youth under 16 years of age to legally drive tractors and operate farm machinery. Anyone wishing to take the course for safety purposes only are also encouraged to do so, Sprangel stated.

Youth must register for the course by calling the Garrett County Extension Office at 334-2145 by April 19 to register. The course will not be offered if fewer than 10 register. There is no charge for the course except a minimal fee for the student manual.

Farming in Maryland

Farmers Urged To Insure '84 Crops

Pointing out that weather follows unpredictable and often unexplainable patterns, USDA officials are urging that farmers take the precaution of carrying insurance on this year's crops. "We're certainly not predicting back-to-back poor crop years, but the reality is that this could happen and farmers would be well-advised to protect themselves against the possibility," says Merritt W. Sprague, manager of USDA's Federal Crop Insurance Corporation.

The FCIC backs as well as subsidizes crop insurance policies written by private insurance agents and companies. To encourage farmers to use the insurance, Sprague explains that the federal government pays up to 30 percent of the premium. It also pays all sales and administrative expenses of the program.

Farmers Urged

"Farmers are always in a very vulnerable situation in a year following major crop losses," Sprague notes, "because there's been no opportunity for financial recovery. A lot of people won't be in business a year from now if they have another crop like last year's; they simply aren't in a position to handle two bad years in a row."

Officials point to recent changes that significantly increase the yields that can be guaranteed by insurance. At the same time, they add, the cost per dollar of protection has been reduced. On an average, protection per acre (the indemnity for a total loss) is almost half again higher than four years ago, with premium rates 20 to 30 percent lower.

"The insurance now being offered is an extremely good buy," Sprague insists. "It also provides a number of ways for the farmer to tailor his coverage to his individual needs and budget, such as by choosing the percentage of a normal yield he wants to be guaranteed and the amount of indemnity he wants to be paid for each bushel of loss.

"A particularly attractive feature for farmers whose yields are above average for the area where they farm is the chance to purchase insurance based on their own production history. Under what's called the Individual Yield Coverage (IYC) program, they can qualify for additional insurance protection at no additional cost. Insurance agents can provide details."

The deadline to apply for insurance in Maryland on corn, oats, sorghum, tobacco and soybeans is April 15. Early application is advised, however, to allow time to consider the various insurance options available, as well as to obtain the yield verification necessary for participation in the IYC program.

All Maryland ASCS offices have lists of local insurance agents from whom policies can be purchased.

Dramatic roles will be Matthew, played by Greg Flinn; Mark, played by Ricky Lucas; Luke, played by Joe Barna; John, played by John Smith; and the speaker, played by Allen Ridenour, pastor of the church. The drama will be directed by John Smith.

CHICKEN
COOK IT SLOW

Chicken is a versatile food, with lots of preparation possibilities. And, believe it or not, ounce for ounce, it has as much protein as red meat and is a lot lower in calories (3 ounces of skinless chicken equals 115 calories; 3 ounces hamburger equals 245 calories). Also, chicken is a short-fibered meat which makes it easy to digest. To top off all of this, chicken is inexpensive—a good way to stretch the food dollar.

Chicken can be prepared many different ways, one of which is the slow cooker. Here are some slow cooker tips that will be helpful to you when preparing chicken in your slow cooker.

*Before putting fatty cuts of meat or poultry into the slow cooker, brown them under the broiler or trim off fat. Excess fat raises the temperature in the cooker and can cause overcooking.

*Broiler-fryer chickens are a better choice for the slow cooker because they have less fat.

*If excess fat collects on surface of liquid in cooker, remove before serving with a bulb-type baster.

*Liquids don't boil away in slow cookers, so only about half the amount required in conventional cooking is needed.

*Milk, cream and sour cream may curdle if left in a cooker for many hours. Add during last hour of cooking.

*Whole herbs and spices may give more flavor in a slow cooker than in conventional cooking and ground herbs and spices may give less. Season carefully until you become familiar with your cooker.

*Pasta and rice may disintegrate during long periods in a slow cooker. Add during last hour of cooking.

Try this easy and delicious recipe:

SOUPER
SIMPLE CHICKEN

1 broiler-fryer chicken, cut in parts
2 tablespoons dry onion soup mix
1 can (10¾ oz.) condensed cream of mushroom soup

Arrange chicken parts in bottom of slow cooker. Sprinkle onion soup mix over chicken. Pour soup over all. Cover and cook on low for 6 hours. Makes 4 servings.

The current EDB crisis and rabies prevention will be covered by the Environmental Health Program, which will provide staff to answer questions.

The Mental Health staff will run three films on conquering fear, drugs, and alcohol. The latter stars Tommy Smothers, who attempts to resolve his conflict with realism and humor. Deputy Von Evans' exhibit of harmful drugs will identify the dangers of these substances.

Local chapters of the American Red Cross, Epilepsy Foundation, American Cancer Society, and American Lung Association will provide didactic exhibits like "Smoking Sam," whose lungs give a clear view of damage done by cigarettes.

The Health Fair is set for Saturday, May 5, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. For more information, persons may call Rebecca Parks or Liz Rees Gilbert at 334-8111 or 895-5050.

Philatelic Catalog Now Available

A free catalog illustrating all current and soon-to-be-released U.S. Postage Stamps, Postal Stationery and other philatelic items is now available by mail, Paul Bauer of the Oakland Post Office said recently.

"Some of our new commemorative stamps are truly beautiful," Bauer said. "such as the 1984 Louisiana World Exhibition stamp featured on the catalog's cover and the orchids block of four stamps with floral designs. Demand for this colorful, free catalog is going to be great, so we're offering it by mail in addition to distributing it in some Post Office lobbies."

Published six times a year, the catalog describes the Postal Service's complete philatelic product line and contains reproductions of all commemorative and regular issue stamps currently available via mail order. Customers interested in acquiring stamps may purchase them from their Post Office or use the mail order form and pre-addressed, postage paid envelope found in the catalog.

A booklet, entitled "And Now the World's Greatest Hobby," telling how to get started in stamp collecting can be ordered free, along with the catalog, by writing to USPS Philatelic Catalog, Philatelic Sales Division, Washington, D. 20265-9997.

Thayer Remands Frostburg Youth For Evaluation

A 16-year-old Frostburg area (Garrett County) male was ordered by Judge Fred A. Thayer to the Noyes Children Center, near Rockville, for evaluation after he was found guilty during Juvenile Court proceedings held April 4, of theft and telephone misuse.

The theft occurred on June 4, and involved 8-track tapes, a tool box and assorted tools valued at over $300.00. The items were stolen from a dwelling near Finzel.

The youth was also found guilty of making obscene phone calls during the period between February 15 and 21, 1984.

Two co-defendents involved in the theft, 15 and 17-year-old males from the scene area, were put on supervised probation.

A 17-year-old male from Wexford, Pa., was found guilty of the theft of a pair of skis from the McHenry House at the Wisp Ski area on January 14.

Judge Thayer ordered the youth put on supervised probation to be transferred to Pennsylvania.

Three juveniles from the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park area were found guilty of three separate breaking and enterings and one theft which occurred on January 8 in Mt. Lake Park.

The three broke into one dwelling and removed assorted tools and blank checks. One youth then forged the checks on the First United National Bank in Oakland.

All three were put on supervised probation by Judge Thayer.

Truancy from Northern High School was the charge brought against a 14-year-old Swanton area female after she missed 54 days of school.

She was ordered to serve supervised probation and is to have no further unexcused absence from school.

The Federation Speaks

GCFT AFT

Garrett County Federation of Teachers

by Bill Hogan

Every new reform in the field of education brings new ideas, some good and some that sound good but, on a closer look, are not very well thought out.

The latest set of reforms recognizes that the key to good education is the classroom teacher. Every "expert" on the field of education realizes that we must maintain our teaching force and add to it, but it never fails to come up that we must get rid of the incompetents—the ones who are hurting our profession and, in the long run, education itself.

As students, we have all had teachers who have made us want to achieve and we have also had some that we felt shouldn't be there. This is a difference in judgement, not only on a student's part, but also on an administrator's part. A teacher who seems incompetent to one supervisor or student may be the best in the world to others. Teaching does have its incompetents, just as any other profession. So how do we cure this ill?

One idea is to abolish tenure, making it easier for administrators and supervisors to dismiss incompetent teachers. This would help in many cases, but it would also take away the right of the teacher to know why he is being terminated and appeal it to an impartial group so both sides can be heard.

The question here is, "Would the Abolishment of Tenure Lead To better Teaching?" Two states, Mississippi and Texas, currently do not have tenure laws. Is the quality of teaching and education in these two states better than the other forty eight? If it is, it is something to be considered.

Another idea for the improvement of teacher effectiveness is recertification. Some suggest that this be done every five years. This way incompetent teachers could be removed without a lenghty dispute or argument. This is a good idea, but only if applied to other professions, such as doctors, lawyers, dentists, etc.

A third alternative would be competency testing of teachers. Most teachers have been tested in some way before they have been hired, but how does one test a teacher who has been in the profession 10 to 15 years? Knowledge in a certain field is always expanding and teachers should keep abreast of this knowledge, as should other professions, through professional journals, workshops and seminars.

There seems to be two drawbacks to teacher testing: area of teaching and ability to impart knowledge to others. Concerning area of teaching, how much change has occurred in the teaching of Algebra, Shakespeare, elementary school arithmetic, or English composition, as opposed to changes in medicine, pharmacy or the sciences?

Concerning imparting knowledge to others, this seems to be the area of highest priority. A written test can show if a teacher knows his subject area well or not, but cannot show if he can get that knowledge across to others.

Does this mean nothing can be done? Not at all. What it does mean is that administrators, supervisors and teachers must work co-operatively to institute a system that works to strengthen our profession.

Oakland Police Investigate Theft Of Antique Items

The Oakland Police Department is investigating a breaking and entering and theft which resulted in a loss of some items, reportedly valuable antiques, for a Second Street resident.

Mrs. D.E. (Kay) Offutt reported to authorities on March 29 the theft of a clock which was reported to police as being approximately three-hundred years old; an afghan; a kitchen clock; two large, brass, pedestal candelabras; a china clock; and a large, hand painted French bowl.

The culprits reportedly gained entry by breaking a window and unlocking the back door from inside. Mrs. Offutt had been away from home prior to the burglary.

Sgt. Roger Lewis is continuing the investigation.

Beitzel Clan Featured In Sunday "Sun"

A well-written and reseached feature on the Beitzel clan of Bittinger was a highlight of the Sun Magazine of the Baltimore Sun published March 25.

The article, written by Luther Young, starts out by saying "The Beitzels of Bittinger are beside themselves" and continues by telling of the descendants of Lewis Beitzel, who arrived in Baltimore in 1856 and walked 170 miles to a new life in Grantsville.

His son, Daniel, had 12 children of his own, four of whom died in infancy. The six surviving sons are Roy, the eldest of the six boys; Raymond, Lawrence, Gorman, Freeman, and Wilbur.

The article tells how the family was reared in the Mennonite faith with "no smoking, drinking or carousing to distract them from their chores."

It tells of a simple rural life with a social focus through the church and with homemade toys and clothing, and good farm foods in abundance. It also tells a little of the hard work which has been and continues to be a part of their lives and their children's lives.

Their family now embraces 40 children and 82 grandchildren and great-grandchildren, and the article notes there are 36 Beitzels in the local phone directory, "right up there with the Yoders, Glotfeltys, Rodeheavers and Kitzmillers but somewhat shy of the total of seven score and 10 families named Friend."

Included are several color photographs including one with five of the six brothers; maple sap gathering; quilting by Edna Beitzel, Roy, Gorman, and Virginia Beitzel, and the former Cherry Glade Mennonite Church and the tombstone of Lewis Beitzel.

The article concludes with a quote from Roy, who said when asked if there is anything he misses from the old days that doesn't still exist in the past-present of Bittinger, "I guess my wish would be for things to remain the same. People here are nice. People here take pride in being able to help themselves. And if someone needs help, they get. It's a little bit like the old days yet."

THE WORK OF AZA STANTON will be displayed throughout this month at the Custom Shop Gallery, W. Main Street, Uniontown, in the first Pennsylvania display of his drawings and paintings. The late Stanton, whose work includes the official flag and seal used during the Garrett County Centennial celebration in 1972, has had numerous other works displayed throughout the state. Above, the artist holds "The Sentry," an oil painting of an Amish horse and buggy which won first prize in 1981 in a western Maryland art show. A native of Grantsville, he worked for many years as advertising director for the former H-P Stores, retiring not long before his death in 1981. The Custom Shop & Interiors Unlimited is the result of a merger between the Custom Shop, a picture framing business, and Interiors Unlimited, owned by Mary Silber Deniker. Deniker has done design work in the tri-state area and resides off Route 219 north of Accident. She presently manages the shop, which each month features original works of a different artist in the shop's gallery.

Local Broker Attends Academy

Barbara Reed of Century 21 Country Time Realty, Deep Creek Lake, was one of approximately 185 Century 21 brokers, owners and managers who recently attended a four-day International Management Academy in Irvine, Calif.

Dr. Richard McKenna, management consultant to Century 21 Real Estate Corporation, said that the seminar is "designed to introduce all new Century 21 affiliated brokers and managers to the advanced marketing tools and systems that the Century 21 system offers to help brokers and sales associates better serve their client's needs."

Century 21 Real Estate Corporation is an international real estate sales organization with approximately 6,500 affiliated, independently owned and operated real estate sales offices throughout the United States and Canada, and more than 65,000 salespeople.

Workshops covering each area in the successful operation of a real estate office were held throughout the seminar. A certificate of course completion was awarded to all attendees, who later toured the Century 21 International Headquarters building in Irvine.

Century 21 Country Time Realty is presently located in the Humberson Homes Building along U.S. Route 219 in McHenry.

PHONE MESSAGES
FOR MARYLANDERS

from Leroy W. Fisher, Community Relations Manager

Is There A Simple Way To Save Money On Your Phone Bill?

Maybe.

At C&P Telephone, we understand how important it is for you to get the most out of every dollar you spend for telephone service. But, frankly, there is no simple answer. Because, for the most part, you're the one who must judge the kind of service that represents the best value for you.

For example, if you make a lot of local calls, then unlimited service gives you the most calls for the money.

On the other hand, if you don't make many calls, then a more limited local calling service can save you money. Or you can pay on a per-call basis. For only what you use.

Custom Calling Services—Call-Waiting and Call Forwarding—are low-cost alternatives to additional phone lines or answering machines.

And if you want to save money on long distance calls, remember that C&P's weekday long distance rates are lower from 5 p.m. to 11 p.m., and lowest from 11 p.m. to 8 a.m.

The point is, today you have more choices and options when it comes to telephone service than ever before. And that means a better opportunity to make sure you get the best value.

For information, call your C&P Business Office. The number's right on your telephone bill.

You can count on C&P Telephone to help any way we can to provide you with the best phone service at the best price.

Maryland Tax Refund Checks Largest Ever

"With state income tax refunds now averaging $234, it's hard to believe so many taxpayers are waiting until the last minute to file their returns," says Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein. "It now appears we will have our biggest ever 'rush' at the filing deadline of April 16."

Goldstein noted his office has mailed back 867,000 refund checks, totaling $203 million, and that the average check is higher than it was at any time last year. The Comptroller offered tips to last minute filers seeking help and obtaining extensions.

"If you think you'll still be working on your income taxes up until the last minute of the April 16th filing deadline, you'll be happy to know our State tax experts will be on duty to help you from 8:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. through Friday, April 13, and even some extra hours on April 14 and April 16," said Goldstein.

All 14 offices of the Maryland Income Tax Division will offer free taxpayer assistance on Saturday, April 14, from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m. In addition, the offices will remain open on the filing deadline, Monday, April 16, from 8:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. to help last-minute filers.

"Our State tax experts will be glad to answer any questions, provide the necessary forms, and even complete your State income tax return free of charge, as long as you bring a completed copy of your Federal return with all W-2 statements," the Comptroller said.

Noting that some taxpayers may need to request an extension of time to file due to delays in retrieving certain documents, Comtroller Goldstein said, "First, you must obtain a Request for Automatic Extension—Federal Form 4868. Send us a copy of the Federal Form 4868, along with a payment of the estimated amount of State tax due by April 16th."

Under Federal law, these taxpayers may be granted up to 120 days to file a completed Federal return to the Internal Revenue Service. "For Maryland tax purposes, you will be granted 60 days to file a completed State return," the Comptroller stated, noting that the different State and Federal fiscal years account for the different extension periods.

Named National Award Winners

Brandon Seifert

Barry Livengood

The United States Achievement Academy has announced that two seniors at Southern High School have been named 1984 United States National Award Winners in Band. They are Brandon Seifert and Barry Livengood.

Seifert is the drum major of the Southern Garrett Marching Band and is also a member of the concert and stage bands. He is the first male drum major of the Southern Band in five years, and the first drum major to claim two trophies for Best Drum Major in field competition. He is the son of Hank and Margie Seifert, Oakland.

Livengood is also a member of the Southern Garrett Marching Band, and the concert and stage bands. He is the son of William Livengood, Oakland, and Linda Livengood Stanton, Baltimore.

They were nominated for this Award by Richard Clever, band director, and their pictures and biography will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, published nationally.

The Academy recognizes less than 10% of all American high school students. It selects winners upon the recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors or other school sponsors and upon the Standards of Selection set forth by the Academy. The criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and co-operative spirit, dependability, and a recommendation from a teacher or director.

Library Corner

The Saturday afternoon film program at the Ruth Enlow Library on April 14 at 1:30 will include: Miss Nelson is Missing, Floating Free, Swiss Family Robinson and The Ant and the Grasshopper.

Volunteer Gerald D. Eddy is helping to solve a major library problem: the many expensive books which fall apart after a few circulations. With glue, clamps and patient, careful work, Eddy has been able to restore many books to usefulness without the considerable cost of rebinding, according to a library spokesperson.

Eddy, now a year-round resident of Beckman's Peninsula, spent most of his working career in the Monongahela Valley as a life and casualty insurance salesman for the Prudential Insurance Co. Community service has always interested him. He was treasurer of the Clairton, Pa. Lions Club for over 20 years and has served as an officer of St. John's Lutheran Church, Meadow Mountain, for several years. He has five children, 18 grandchildren, and 12 great-grandchildren. "His hobby of mending books at the Ruth Enlow Library is a valuable service to the county," the spokesman said.

BOOKMOBILE SCHEDULE

Week of April 16:

Monday: Cuppett Weeks Nursing Home, 10-11:45.

Tuesday: Dry Run School, 10:30-11; Savage Mt. Youth Camp, 12:15-1; White Oak Trailer Court, 5-6:30.

Wednesday: Dennett Road Manor, 1-2; Mt. Lake Park, Martin's Store, 3:30-4; Bradley Manor, 4:15-5.

Thursday: Goodwill Mennonite Home, 12:30-1:15.

The Ruth Enlow Library is now taking requests for summer stops of the bookmobile throughout Garrett County. Any person who would like to have a stop in his or her area is asked to visit the main library or one of the branches to fill out a request form.

Requests will also be taken by phone, with the following information needed: possible location, approximate number of patrons, best and worst times of day, and the name and telephone number of a contact person. The main library branch in Oakland may be reached by calling 334-3998.

Deadline for making requests is April 30.

Smith Attending ARC Conference

Appalachian governors and other state officials, as well as leaders in business, labor, education, and economic development, will gather for the Appalachian Regional Commission's 1984 Conference which opened yesterday in Hershey, Pa. Representing State Senator John N. Bambacus (R-Allegany, Garrett) at the three-day meeting will be Mona M. Smith, District 1 Administrator.

Entitled "Appalachia Working: The Competitive Edge for Today and Tomorrow," the conference is an action-oriented follow-up to the Commission's 1983 "Conference on Jobs and Skills For the Future." The 1983 conference focused on the rapidly changing job market, the outlook for future changes, and policies that would help prepare for those changes. This year participants will examine and evaluate what specifically is being done to address several areas of critical concern identified in 1983.

A series of five panel sessions will be featured, and will assess actions under way to address these issues: matching education and jobs, accelerating the growth of service industries, fitting the displaced worker into the economy of the future, packaging capital for business and industry, and harnessing technology for traditional industries.

BASIC DESIGN II students at Garrett Community College recently completed this four-by-five foot relief sculpture. Each student constructed a shadow box with wood scraps and other found materials. Similar to the work of Louise Nevelson, the boxes were painted a solid color and combined into a single unit that involves the relationships of light and shadow and various individual forms interacting with the total structure. Each box represents a person as a singular unit and the combined form reflects the interaction of students in a group. The sculpture is on display in the College Center for public viewing. Students involved in the construction of the sculpture were: Ray Adkins, Judy Bittinger, Kevin Garvey, Emily Georg, Marty Harvey, Charles Locke, Jerri Mancuso, Tina Mason, Paula Nealis, Pat Riley, Brian Wachter, Debbie Wagner and Tom Whitehair.

Non-Certificated Employees Meet With School Board

Representatives of several labor organizations were on hand at the April 12 Board of Education meeting to express their support for demands by non-certificated county school system employees regarding the composition of bargaining units that would represent them in negotiations with the school board.

Non-certificated employees are seeking separate representation for secretarial and office personnel and custodial and cafeteria workers.

The non-certificated workers won the right to collective bargaining with the passage of Senate Bill 35 in June 1983. The bill was sponsored by State Senator John Bambacus.

The Garrett County Association of Educational Support Personnel, which represents school clerical employees and instructional aides, has been seeking recognition as bargaining agent for its membership since 1981.

Cafeteria and custodial workers desire recognition as a separate bargaining group, two employee groups cite different job functions and activities as the reason for the establishment of separate bargaining units.

Spokesmen for the two groups feel that bargaining would be faciliated by the designation of separate groups because a combination could result in intra-organizational conflicts caused by a disparity in the situations and goals of the two groups.

Representatives from the American Federation of State, County, and Municipal Employees, the Maryland State Teachers Association, the Maryland Educational Services Council, and the American Federation of Teachers spoke in favor of the designation of separate bargaining groups..

James Lupis assistant supervisor for administrative affairs, stated Monday that the board favors one bargaining group because more groups would cause difficulty in coordinating contract administration and in keeping things equalized among all groups.

Also at issue was which employees will be included in bargaining negotiations, regardless of whether one or two units are designated.

The Board of Education has taken the position that employees working less than six hours per day would not be included. Labor groups, including the AFSCME and the MSTA spoke in favor of including employees with four or more hours in negotiations.

Harold Fox, AFSCMA rep-

"THEY TOIL NOT, NEITHER DO THEY SPIN," but regardless of that fact, the Easter lily will be seen in abundance this weekend in Garrett County and around the world as members of the Christian faith celebrate their greatest of holidays on Sunday. A variety of Maundy Thursday, Good Friday and Easter worship services have been planned by local churches whose doors are open to all people. See stories in this issue of The Republican for times and locations of these events.

Language Arts At Middle Schools Praised By Board

The language arts programs at the county's middle schools were recognized by the Garrett County Board of Education at its meeting April 12 as Programs of Merit.

Wilda Massey, assistant principal at Southern Middle School, Tom Fowler, principal at Northern Middle School, and Cherie Rettel, language arts teacher for the gifted and talented classes at Northern Middle, presented the board with an overview of the two middle schools' language arts programs.

Massey and Fowler cited dramatic improvements in achievement tests as evidence that the language arts programs are making significant progress. According to Massey, almost 93% of eighth graders at Southern Middle School passed the Maryland Functional Reading Test this year compared to 66% five years ago.

She pointed out to a variety of changes as contributing to the improvements, including curriculum revisions designed to fit Project Basic guidelines, the use of elementary teachers as well as secondary school teachers in the middle schools, and the stressing of basic grammar skills.

Students are grouped according to their current achieve-

Commissioners Gain Insights At ARC Convention

The Board of County Commissioners returned from last week's Appalachian Regional Commission conference reassured that funding for the commission will remain intact for a least two more years.

The commission provides funding for the Tri-County Council, which is a major source of funds for road construction, sanitary commission, and other public projects in Garrett, Allegany and Washington counties.

According to Commissioner Ernest Gregg, the convention focused on the economic plight of the 13-state Appalachian region, and speakers and panels provided helpful insights into how other areas are solving problems similar to those of Garrett County.

Gregg said that speakers emphasized that the Appalachian region must accept changing market and employment conditions, and re-acclimate to a new job market that will emphasize service related fields such as tourism, medical services, and the computer industry instead of clinging to traditional industry that is experiencing a downward trend in the region.

Speakers also emphasized a hands-off policy for governments and stressed that govern-

Conger, Crane Honored By Maryland Employment Of Handicapped Group

The Maryland Governor's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped, at its April 13 annual conference and awards luncheon, presented Dr. Barry Conger, McHenry, with the "Dentist of the Year" award and Mrs. Mildred Crane, Oakland, with a Certificate of Merit, for their outstanding contributions toward employment and public understanding of the problems and challenges faced by individuals with disabilities.

Dr. Conger and Mrs. Crane were two of the four local nominations made to the Governor's Committee by the Garrett Organization for the Handicapped. The awards and luncheon are to honor those who have distinguished themselves either as handicapped individuals or on behalf of the disabled.

Dr. Conger has donated his time and skills to assist handicapped clients at the Appalachian Center work toward "Job Readiness." Mrs. Crane, a parent of a handicapped child, and one of the original incorporating members of the Appalachian Parent Association, Inc., has volunteered numerous hours to the Appalachian Center, the Garrett Organization for the Handicapped and FREE, the 4-H handicapped riding program.

GOH also nominated Albert Stiles for the "Handicapped Maryland of the Year" award and Naylor's, Oakland, for the "Small Employer of the Year" award. GOH will honor all the nominees at their annual dinner to be held in June.

Country Oven Bakery received the "Small Employer of the Year", in 1982. The Garrett County Courthouse received a Certificate of Merit for the their barrier-free design and Dorothy Leuba received a Certificate of Merit for her efforts as a volunteer in 1983.

Garrett Countians who attended the awards luncheon in Baltimore were: Dr. and Mrs. Conger, Leslie Hineman, Mrs. Mildred Crane and her daughter, Vauda Legeer, Alice Ann Ridder, Dot Leuba and Charlotte Griffith.

The Garrett Organization for the Handicapped is a local advocacy community group which serves all disability groups in Garrett County. GOH meets the first Thursday of every month at the Appalachian Center at 7 p.m.

GOH's largest annual fundraiser, Hike and Bike, will take place on Saturday and Sunday, May 5 and 6 (rain dates May 19 and 20). All monies raised by GOH support local handicapped services. For more information about GOH, persons may contact Dot Leuba, president at 387-5810.

Belles Win Third Consecutive Title

The Southern Belles winter guard of Southern High School wrapped up the season by returning home with their third consecutive West Penn Championship title from competition held this past weekend in Latrobe, Pa.

The Belles were one of 22 high school guards representing Maryland, Pennsylvania and Ohio. They were the single representative of Maryland. Their preliminary score was an 82.4 followed by a winning 83.9 in the finals.

Director Richard Clever stated their performance was the best they had ever given and warranted the one-minute standing ovation they received from the audience. According to Clever, the crowd of spectators was the largest they had encountered during any of their competition meets.

Second and third place winners were both from Pennsylvania, McGuffey High School and Penn Trafford, respectively.

Senior members of the guard competing for the final time included Captain, Kristi Bowling, rifle; Sonja Peterman, rifle; Lorie Teagarden, rifle; and Chloie Hutson, silks.

School Board To Appeal Denial Of Funds For NHS

Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, superintendant of Garrett County schools, informed the Board of Education at its April 12 meeting that the Inter-Agency Committee for Public School Construction has denied funding for renovations at Northern High School in the vocational education department.

The ICPSC approved funding for the addition of a 1,200 square foot special education classroom, which is needed to serve additional special education students that will be coming to Northern from children's homes in the northern end of the county.

The board had requested funds to add 4,000 square feet of space in the school to help equalize the vocational education programs at the two high schools.

Ryscavage requested approval from the board to appeal the committee's ruling, which was granted. The board will take their appeal to the committee on May 4, and will request the support and attendance of the county commissioners, Senator John Bambacus, Delegate George Edwards, the Vocational Advisory Council, and advocates and staff of Northern High School at the meeting.

If the appeal is unsuccessful the board would have to consider other options including, acquiring local funding for the addition, cutting the square footage, eliminating some vocational education programs, or building the addition more cheaply. James Lupis, superintendant for administrative affairs, pointed out Monday

Hughes Replies To Commissioners On Conference Center

Governor Harry Hughes has responded to the Board of County Commissioners concerns about a possible state funded conference center in Western Maryland with an assurance that "the Western Maryland Enterprise Study Committee does not intend to promote an enterprise that would interfere with the legitimate economic development objectives of Garrett County."

The governor was writing in reply to a letter from the commissioners informing the governor that a private Garrett County developer, Helmuth Heise, is planning to expand his resort facilities to include a conference center complex. The commissioners expressed their determination to resist "any action by state government that would lead, directly or indirectly, to publicly-subsidized competition which might jeopardize Mr. Heise's private-sector initiatives."

Governor Hughes wrote that "an analysis will be conducted to determine the economic impacts of any proposed projects on comparable existing facilities." He assured the commissioners that he will insist that the issue be given serious attention during committee deliberations.

Commissioner Braskey commented, "I am very pleased with the governor's response on an issue that is vitally important to Garrett County. The conference center would provide employment for the county, which is a major concern of this board. The governor's reply shows that he is concerned."

Garrett Community College Board Approves FY'85 Budget Proposal

The Board of Trustees of Garrett Community College approved a budget proposal for FY1985 Tuesday that shows an increase of $76,010 over last year's amount. The board had examined the budget proposal in detail at a special meeting last week.

Randall Harman, college president, said that the increase mainly reflects the cost of proposed salary increases for faculty and staff, computerization of administrative functions, increased spending in the area of learning resources, and higher physical plant costs.

The six budget categories and the amounts budgeted are: instruction, $832,668; instructional resources, $106,491; student affairs, $177,444; physical plant, $343,333; administration, $224,435; and institutional, $197,009.

The college will request $565,000 from the Garrett County Board of Commissioners as the county's cash share, which is a decrease from last year's $669,200. The county's in-kind services, which include use of the GCC Oakland Center facilities at Center Street School, have been included in the county's 33.6% share in this year's budget, bringing the county's contribution to $672,200.

The college expects to receive $903,000 from the state, which reflects 525 Full-time Equivalencies reimbursed at a rate of $1,720 per FTE. The state share amounts to 48% of the total budget.

Tuition and fee income is projected at $331,180, or 17.6% of the budget.

Investments and miscellaneous income are projected to contribute $15,000, or .8% of the college's projected income.

Harman explained that a line-by-line comparison of the FY1984 and FY1985 budgets does not give an accurate picture of which areas have been cut or increased, as in many cases items within budget lines have been moved to more appropriate areas. For example, salaries for athletic coaches have been moved from the instructional area to student affairs.

According to Harman, the administration is working on a revised salary scale for its employees. The Board of Trustees has allocated $40,000 for the purpose of salary increases, but individual increases have not yet been determined.

Harman cited the cost of computerization of most major college administrative functions as the second major area of increased spending. Harman said that he expects computerization to allow administrative

Columbia Gas Seeks General Rate Increase

Columbia Gas of Maryland asked the Public Service Commission on Monday to approve a 1.2 percent general rate increase to reportedly cover higher operating costs by the company.

If approved by the PSC, a typical heating customer's bill would increase by an average of $1.13 a month. A non-heating customer's bill would increase about 63 cents a month.

Columbia requested that the change take effect May 16. The PSC can suspend the effective date up to 90 days.

The company stated that higher rates are necessary due to continuing increases in taxes, materials and supplies, labor and cost of borrowing money.

Ridenour Named Distrct Pastor Of The Year

Rev. Allen C. Ridenour, pastor of St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland, has been named Pastor of the Year by the Romney District of United Methodist Churches. The announcement was made at the annual Romney District Conference, held Saturday at Piedmont Trinity United Methodist Church.

Rev. Ridenour was selected for the honor from among 60 ministers in the district. There are 176 churches and approximately 17,000 members in the district.

Another Garrett County pastor, Rev. K Almond, of the Grantsville Charge, was one of two runners-up for the award by receiving the Outstanding Pastor award.

Ridenour, a native of Tunnelton, W.Va., was called to St. Paul's in Oakland in 1981. He is a graduate of Fellowsville High School, West Virginia University and Duke University Divinity School. He is now en-

Local clergymen participating in the event include Rev. John Grant, Rev. Verne Leininger and Rev. Martin Feild.

Local citizens are invited to attend this worship service to commemorate the Easter holiday.

Mental Health Unit To Conduct Local Survey

The Garrett County Mental Health Advisory Committee, which operates under the Mental Health Unit of the Garrett County Health Department, is planning to conduct an extensive community needs assessment survey in the next several months. The Needs Assessment Sub-Committee is in the process of developing the strategy for obtaining the information and is planning to use questionnaires to obtain the information.

Father Martin Feild is the chairperson of the Mental Health Advisory Committee. Members of the Needs Assessment Committee are: Sandy Nesline, Sr. Mary Ann Mazza, Sr. Joanna Sinko, and Charlotte Griffith, chairman.

The goal of the Advisory Committee is to learn from local citizens if they are aware of the existing services of the Mental Health Unit of the Garrett County Health Department; if they know how to obtain them; what services they have or are using; and especially, what services are needed, but don't exist. The data from the survey will be given to the staff of the Mental Health Unit for future planning and for seeking funds to establish the needed, requested services.

The questionnaires used to obtain the information will be designed for three basic groups: consumers of the mental health services (present and former), citizens and agencies in the community, and the staff of the Mental Health Unit.

Plans are for the community questionnaire to be published in local newspapers. Local identified food stores, branches of the Ruth Enlow Library and the Country Oven Bakery will be drop off points for the questionnaire, or the questionnaire can be mailed in.

The Advisory Committee is hoping that members of the community will take the time to complete and submit the questionnaire. "Public input is very important for the development of local services," stated Ms. Griffith.

For more information about the survey, persons may contact Ms. Griffith at 334-1322.

Lucas Honored For Designation Of Eagle Scout

Ricky Allen Lucas, Underwood Road, Oakland, was recognized in several ceremonies this week for his achievement of the rank of Eagle Scout, BSA.

Family and friends of Troop 31 gathered at St. Paul's United Methodist Church Monday evening to honor Lucas and his parents, Larry and Carol Lucas. The program featured a covered dish dinner, Court of Honor, and reception. Elks Lodge #2481 and Delegate George Edwards presented citations, while Pastor Richard Tepper conveyed a letter of congratulations from Senator Paul Sarbanes.

Highlighting the evening was a first of its kind celebrity-style "roast" of Lucas by his friends and associates. Speakers for the roast included Dr. Herbert Leighton, Bill Freyman, Larry Lucas, Greg Flinn, Kevin Keplinger, Darrell Spence, and Scoutmaster John Smith.

Delegate Edwards and Dr. Leighton assisted in presenting an insigna to Rick's parents. A reception followed with a cake provided by the Elks, the Troop's sponsors, and drinks furnished by Coca-Cola.

The Eagle Scout award was actually conferred in a special ceremony Tuesday afternoon with Congresswoman Beverly Byron. Mrs. Byron presented a congressional citation and a United States flag which had flown over the capitol.

County Offices To Be Closed Friday

All county offices will be closed Friday, April 20, in observance of Good Friday. Ordinary business hours will resume on Monday, April 23.

County offices will also be closed Tuesday, May 8, for Primary Election Day.

The Board of County Commissioners will hold public session on Thursday, May 10, instead of May 8. Persons who wish to bring business before the commissioners are urged to make an appointment in advance.

Commissioners Approve Solid Waste Changes

The Board of County Commissioners approved three amendments to the county's Solid Waste Ordinance at a public hearing which attracted no citizen participation.

Edgar Harman, director of environmental health for the Garrett County Health Department, suggested the amendments to address situations not covered by existing regulations.

The first amendment prohibits the operation of a landfill or solid waste disposal site without a permit from the Garrett County Health Department or the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene.

Harman noted that while Maryland law already requires a permit for operators of landfills or solid waste disposal sites that are used by the public, solid waste disposal procedures at apartment complexes which were for the use of the apartment complexes only were not included in the law, and were a source of concern for the health department.

The second amendment makes it illegal to "place or deposit solid waste in a strip mine, along a public road or another location that is not permitted to receive solid waste" by the county or state health department.

According to Harman, this would aid in the elimination of unauthorized dumps.

The third amendment would prohibit individuals from allowing "solid waste to become a nuisance to an adjacent property owner by allowing solid waste to be blown onto an adjacent property or allowing solid waste to accumulate to such an extent as to create a rodent attraction and harborage."

Harman noted that the health department receives numerous complaints concerning nuisance situations of this type.

In other county business Tuesday, the commissioners met with representatives of the Garrett Community College Board of Trustees and administration and received a large aerial photograph of the college to be hung in the commissioners' meeting room.

The commissioners met with Ken Metheny and Earl Foster of the Garrett County Roads Department concerning budget planning for the department.

County budget planning occupied the commissioners for the remainder of their Tuesday session.

RECEIVING A LENTEN GIFT OF LOVE is Duane Yoder, shown left, chairman of the Board of Directors of Habitat for Humanity. Making the donation is Rev. Allen C. Ridenour, right, treasurer of the Mt. Top Ministerial Association. The donation was raised by the collection of special Lenten offerings taken at area churches. Habitat for Humanity is a local, non-profit group organized to help low income families acquire their own homes. A drive is currently underway in the community to establish a fund from which no interest and no profit loans can be made to eligible citizens.

The Best News . . .

"For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten son, that whosoever believes in him shall not perish, but have everlasting life."

Never were there greater words of hope than these. Never was there a greater person than the man who first voiced them. Never was there a greater event than that which Christians will celebrate this Sunday.

Day after day, we allow our hearts, minds and bodies to be riddled with stress and worry, most of the time needlessly. The things of this world control and consume us, causing us to hurt others and thus hurt ourselves. Our priorities, our values and our sense of direction become so confused and backward. Selfishness and greed infect us to the point that, not only are personal relationships broken, but wars are waged between nations. We mortal weaklings, pitiful as we are, foolishly believe that we are strong and can go it all alone. Yet, our possessions, our alleged power and our physical beauty must all be left behind some day.

The focal point of the Good News for members of the Christian faith becomes crystal clear on Easter morning, and what refreshing news it is! For we are reminded that no matter how rough things may become in this life, our God will never abandon us. This is a gift, a guarantee sealed with his own blood, for each one of us. If we choose to believe, then nothing, not even death, can separate us from our creator. "With God for us, who can be against us?"

This is the best news that we have to report, not only this week, but every week. Happy Easter.

Letter To Editor

To the Editor:

We are very grateful to all who so generously devoted money for food and veterinary care for animals we confiscated due to malnutrition, disease and parasites, but we are still in need. These animals range from very small to very large and it takes a lot to feed them.

Maybe hearing some of the conditions we have found will be an incentive to help:

1. Animals tied to trees without food, water, shelter, veterinary care until, due to weakness, they have fallen over or, due to very short ropes, they could not reach the ground, thus they strangled.

2. Animals with large abscesses covering ¼ of their bodies.

3. Animals so filled with parasites they died.

4. A beautiful colt tangled up in a rope that cut into its leg, died from infection. Apparently no one had checked it for a long time. When found it was covered with blow flies and maggots.

5. Large animals in cages so small they could not stand up. In those small cages they starved and died.

6. Dogs so hungry they were eating the dead animals lying around.

7. Horses standing in freezing rain with icicles hanging from them in 20-below zero weather.

8. Small pigs in smaller pens in mud and muck to their stomachs in sub-zero weather.

9. A sledge hammer covered with blood and hair.

These animals move, breathe and have feelings. They are also God's creations.

that building the addition now utilizing cheaper construction alterantives would cost the school system more money in the future for replacement of shorter-lived construction alternatives.

Budget Tabled

The board tabled discussion of the FY 1985 budget pending notification of the level of aid it will receive from the state. A special meeting to consider the budget is scheduled for April 24 at the Board of Education offices. The board will meet in executive session at 7 p.m., and will open the meeting to the public at about 9 p.m.

School Year Extension

Ryscavage recommended that the current school year be extended until June 15 for students and June 18 for staff. The extension is necessary to make up eight snow days and January 2, which was originally scheduled as the first day of classes after Christmas break.

The board approved the extension after hearing the results of a poll of teachers conducted by the Garrett County Teachers Association where a majority requested extending the length of the school day to eliminate the necessity of making up all of the days at the end of the school year.

1984-85 School Calendar

The board also approved the 1984-85 school calendar as recommended by Ryscavage. The calendar calls for school to begin for students on August 29 and to close on May 31, with holidays on Labor Day, General Election Day, Thanksgiving and the day after, Presidents' Day, Good Friday and Easter Monday and Memorial Day. Christmas break is scheduled for 1 p.m. Dec. 21 through Jan. 1.

Staff will report August 28, with their last day scheduled for June 6. Staff will report with no school for students on parent conference days November 2 and March 29. The Maryland State Teachers' Convention is scheduled for October 19, with no school for students.

Commencement for both high schools will be Sunday, May 25, 1985.

Career Employabilty Program

John Ledden presented a summary of the proposed Career Employability Program for the upcoming year. Ledden requested that the board provide some of the cost of the programs next year so that the program can be extended to include students that do not meet current eligibility guidelines based on income.

The program is currently funded by three grants, which are matched by in-kind services provided by the school system, but with no local funding.

Ledden explained that the program is designed to parallel the curriculum for regular students, but focuses on the application of basic skills in work situations. Seniors in the program can earn credit for time spent at on-job training sites.

Ledden also recommended that a field advisor be added to monitor job training sites, because classroom teachers do not have time to monitor sites in addition to their classroom duties.

According to Ledden, the career employability program is currently reaching about 9% of the student bodies at the high schools.

The board agreed to authorize Ryscavage to sign the grant applications for the project which are due May 4.

Other Business

Kenneth Bittinger, supervisor of vocational education, presented the school with the draft of a memorandum of agreement with Garrett Memorial Hospital outlining areas of responsibility for the schools and the hospital to follow in implementing a vocational health program at the hospital. The program will include two hours of observation time in health care facilities for every hour of classroom instruction, and will qualify students for some entry-level health care positions such as nursing home aide.

The board will take action on approving the agreement at the May meeting.

A proposal to allow spouses of deceased retirees to continue to purchase hospitalization through the board's insurance plan was approved. Lupis explained that this will allow them to take advantage of a lower group rate to maintain decent insurance coverage.

Fourteen vendors were awarded custodial supplies contracts for 78 bid items totaling $31,963.27.

Doyle Builders, Oakland, was successful bidder to install emergency doors at Southern High School. The doors will increase the gym's capacity by 400 people, and will hopefully be completed before graduation. The bid amount was $5,584.

Gonder Insurance, Oakland, representing Guarantee Trust, was successful bidder to provide student accident insurance. Pilot Life, which previously provided insurance, is no longer offering student insurance plans, according to Lupis. The Guarantee Trust plan does not cover as many minor items as the old plan, but provides better catastrophic coverage, Lupis said. The new plan, which offers both school-time and 24 hour coverage options, is slightly less expensive than the old plan.

Monte Vista Computers, Oakland, was contracted to provide a Zenith hard disc computer for each of the high school business education departments for the amount of $4,620. The computers have increased storage capacity, and will allow for the addition of four work stations each at a later date. Kenneth Bittinger noted that the computers were purchased instead of work stations as originally planned because the work stations are not yet available.

The School bus route 42 contract was awarded to Dale Evans, as recommended by Michael Sines, supervisor of transportation.

Three employee hirings were approved, including Shelba Martin, secretary for food service at Northern Middle, Mitchell Hetzel, custodian at Northern Middle, and Cathy DeWitt, aide at Dennett Road.

Two volunteer baseball aides were approved for Southern High School including Terry Helbig and Ed Wildesen.

Dr. Ryscavage informed the board that he will be advertising for applicants for the position of Director of Secondary Education, which was recently vacated by Robert Rodeheaver. Deadline for applications will be May 2.

Employees Meet

resentative, stated that a large portion of the cafeteria and custodial workers and secretarial aides would be excluded if the six hour minimum were enacted. He added that four hours is the existing criteria for designation as a part time employee throughout the state.

The Board of Education and Superintendent Jerome Ryscavage have opposed the inclusion of four hour workers because it would cost more money in employee benefits. Lupis said Monday that each person receiving fringe benefits costs the board $1,587 in hospitalization benefits alone each year. He added that the school system is already paying the state $29,504 annually in accrued liability charges created by the inclusion of six hour non-certificated employees in the retirement system in 1975.

The third point of contention between the board and the non-certificated employees was whether cafeteria and custodial supervisors should be included in the bargaining units.

Fox stated that cafeteria and custodial supervisors are not considered to be management in any other county in Maryland. He said that the managers were only nominally supervisory and do not have the authority for hiring, firing, and disciplining employees that constitutes a true managerial position.

School cafeteria supervisors testified that they perform similar work to that of the other cafeteria workers, and do not have sufficient authority or a sufficiently high pay scale to be considered management.

Lupis said Monday that while the Board of Education has final authority on hiring and firing, the supervisors in question do have the power to make recommendations on those issues, and are paid a higher salary for their supervisory duties, which include employee evaluations as well as hiring and firing recommendations.

Steve Bittner, ESC spokesman, urged that the Board of Education work to resolve the issues in question before bargaining begins July 1.

Board president Clarence Stem said that the board would take the groups' comments under advisement.

The board will consider the employees' requests at a special meeting on Tuesday, April 24. The board will meet in executive session at 7 p.m., and the meeting will be opened to the public at approximately 9 p.m. The FY 1985 budget proposal will also be considered at the meeting.

College Budget

staff to spend their time more productively, while the computer performs functions which were very time consuming for the staff. He also expects improved information gathering to result from the move to computerization.

Spending in the area of learning reserves has been reduced annually for the past several years, according to Harman. Allocations to the Learning Resource Center, which includes the library and the college's audio-visual department, have been increased by $17,203 for FY1985. Harman commented that the increase was necessary to bring the college closer to the national average of 8% of the total college budget allocated to learning resources.

Harman said that the $38,000 increase in physical plant costs is attributable to increased fuel costs as well as a $15,000 payment for water and sewerage, which is a first-time item in the budget this year.

According to Harman, the college is working to control its fixed costs now, so that more money and personnel can be allocated to provide expanded services to the community in the future.

In other business, the board looked at the status of the 1984 budget in relation to money on hand versus projected expenditures for the rest of the fiscal year. Harman explained that while some areas show a deficit, others show a surplus, and that 5% of the FY1984 budget remains unencumbered at this time, which is on target for this time of year.

The board examined the college's cash flow situation. Harman stated that he projects a $1,419 surplus at the end of the fiscal year, and does not foresee a cash flow problem in June. He noted that final payments from the state for the 1984 fiscal year will not arrive until sometime in July, which may delay some purchases until after July 1.

Harman reported that at this time applications for admission for the fall 1984 semester are on target, but that a true picture will not emerge until June. So far, four more students have applied for admission than last year at this time. Harman noted that high school graduates in Maryland will decline 30% in the 1980's, but that the decline is not as dramatic in Garrett County.

The board was updated on plans for the May commencement, which is scheduled for Saturday May 19 at 10:30 a.m. This year's commencement address will be delivered by Susan J. Crawford, General Counsel, U.S. Army. Candidates for degrees will be presented by George Dailey, professor of history at GCC. William Goldsborough, chairperson of the college Board of Trustees, will perform the conferral of degrees.

Harman noted that April 22-28 is Community Colleges Week, and that the college is planning a number of activities to commemorate the week.

Harman explained the State Board of Community Colleges Funding Study, which was mandated by Governor Hughes to examine local governments' ability to provide adequate levels of local funding for community colleges, especially in economically disadvantaged areas of the state.

The resignation of Katherine Zimmerman, supervisor of accounting services, was accepted by the board with regrets. Harman informed the board that Rick Briggs, career counselor and coordinator of student activities, will not be renewing his contract when it expires. Harman said that both positions will be filled.

Harman submitted a policy proposal on the disposal of surplus property other than real estate for the board to consider before action is taken at the next board meeting.

The board approved 57 candidates for Associate of Arts degrees for May graduation pending completion of degree requirements by the students.

Jim Willis Trends

I have just returned from a trip to Washington, D.C. and frankly, I am impressed.

Washington's mass transit system is a model of efficiency. The new Capitol Hill renovation projects sport tempting plazas and provide an impressive display for our international visitors. The cultural offerings are myriad and the nightlife is inexhaustible.

While some may argue that we spend too much money on Washington, I am pleased that the city is such a visible ambassador for the best which America has to offer.

John F. Kennedy once wrote, "Washington is a city of southern efficiency and northern charm." And it is.

One man who would like to relocate to Washington, Democratic presidential candidate Gary Hart, was recently criticized for changing his name. His original family name was Eberhartpence.

Such name changes are not uncommon. President James Polk was originally James Pollok. One can only speculate on the profound effect that has had on the course of our history.

Had it not been for a change of name back in the 12th century, our nation's capital might now be Hartburn, D.C.

It is a recorded truth that George Washington's ancestor, William de Hartburn, moved from Hartburn in England to Wessington in 1130 and changed his name to William de Wessington. This would later evolve to "de Washington," the "de" was dropped when George's family arrived on our colonial shores around 1659. Had William retained his original surname, it follows that our founding father would have been on "George Hartburn" and our capital named accordingly.

We owe William a debt that can never be repaid.

Quotations concerning hope were given to each person, and scripture readings relevant to Holy Week were read by Mrs. Durst and Mrs. Bender. A "Hope Graffiti" board was used to visually underscore the many dimensions of hope and the worship center featured the scene of the empty tomb. The Easter story was read by Mrs. Nora Stahl.

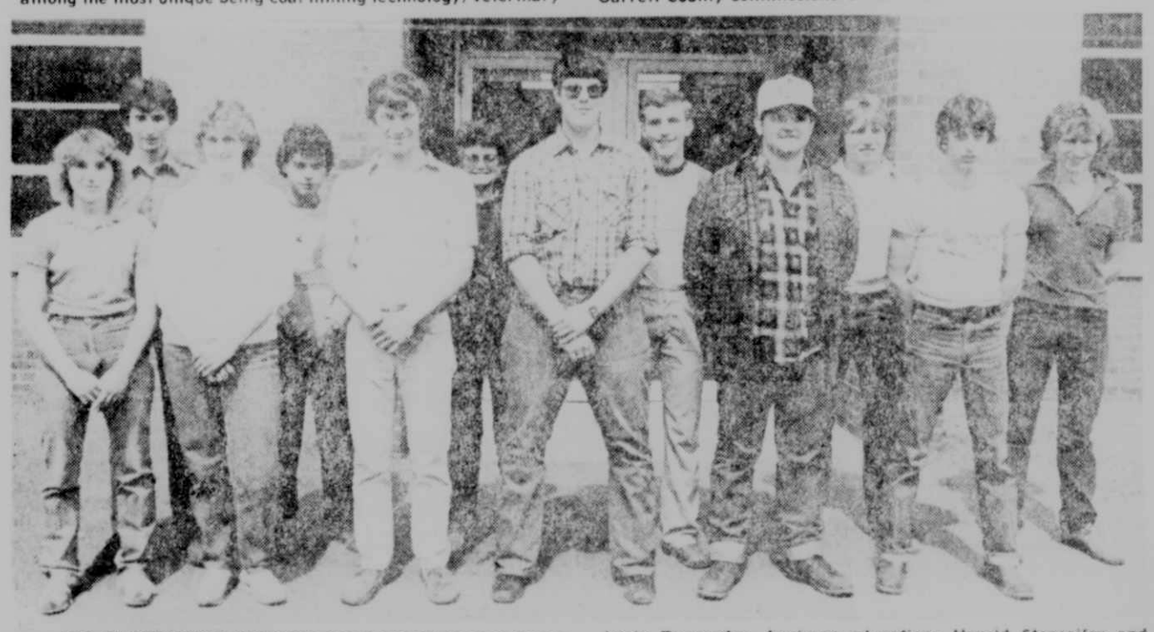
GARRETT COMMUNITY COLLEGE is sponsoring a series of events next week in observance of Community College Week (see story for schedule). GCC, which was founded in 1971, has grown from 144 to nearly 700 students in credit programs. The college offers some 328 courses in 29 different degree programs, among the most unique being coal mining technology, veterinary science technology and maintenance technology. GCC employs 21 fulltime and 39 parttime faculty members. The college also operates a continuing education division, which is housed at the Oakland Center and serves 1,000 students. A framed copy of the above photo was presented by the GCC board of trustees to the Garrett County commissioners this week.

GCC Sets Plans For Community College Week

In observance of Community College Week, April 22-28, Garrett Community College has scheduled a series of events at the McHenry Campus for the public.

On Tuesday, April 24, there will be an Outdoor Education slide presentation in the College Center from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. During those same hours, admissions counseling will be available, also in the College Center. From 7 to 9 p.m., persons may observe dramatic and technical work by the Act IV Players, Theatre Department, in the auditorium.

Transfer and financial aid counseling will be available on Wednesday, April 25, in the College Center and there will be another open rehearsal by the Act IV Players from 7 to 9 p.m. in the auditorium.



On Thursday, April 26, there will be a "Coffee Break" for prospective secretarial students from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. in the College Center conference room. Career counseling will be offered in Office 405 of the College Center from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. A Look at Advanced Programming will be presented in the Computer Center, Building A, from 7 to 8 p.m. Once again, the Act IV Players will conduct an open rehearsal from 7 to 9 p.m. in the auditorium.

DONATION TO RESCUE SQUAD — Russell Sines, left, owner of My-O-Tire in Oakland, recently donated tires and tire-related service to the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad. The squad vehicles use a total of 20 tires which were all replaced at no charge by My-O-Tire at the beginning of this year. The company will render free service for these tires and replace any if necessary during the 1984 calendar year. The contribution has a retail value of $2,500. Also in the photo is Dan Swartzentruber, first lieutenant for Southern Rescue.

JOB PLACEMENT SERVICE has been established by the Garrett County Board of Education to assist county high school vocational graduates in obtaining employment. Ron Kuhn, director of the program, is seeking the cooperation of local businesses in the county to organize a placement job bank for the graduates. Businesses in need of employees, who are trained in a number of vocational areas, may contact Southern or Northern high schools for more information. In the above photo are several seniors representing the various areas of training at Southern High School. They are, left to right, front row, Susan Beeghly and Lorie Teagarden, business education; Harold Stonesifer and Melvin Custer, machine tool; and Tom Cosner and Robert Rice, auto mechanics. In the second row, same order, are Jay Unger and Jim Flanigan, drafting; Michelle Sheltra and Gene Friend, food services; Bill Ashby and Joe Likens, trowel trades. There are also students being trained in carpentry, electronics and vocational agriculture. Below, students of J. Arch Baker work and learn in auto mechanics class. Featured next week will be students from Northern High School.

First United's Cumberland Office To Expand Facilities

The Board of Directors of First United National Bank & Trust recently authorized construction of an addition of approximately 1,300 square feet of floor space to its Center City Office in Cumberland.

The new brick addition, designed to complement the existing structure, will consist of one floor at ground level to accommodate offices for the bank's Cumberland Regional headquarters. The new addition will also provide an operations area to the Trust Department for the purpose of expanding trust services in the Cumberland area. Some minor remodeling of the existing structure will also be performed.

Construction has already begun and completion of the project is expected by the end of July. The construction work may cause minor, temporary inconveniences to customers according to spokesman for First United. However, he said no major interruption of service is anticipated during construction.

Detachable Pull Tabs On Cans To Be Prohibted

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein announced he is reminding brewers, manufacturers and wholesalers of alcoholic beverages that a law prohibiting the sale of alcoholic beverages and soft drinks in containers with detachable pull tab openers goes into effect July 1, 1984.

"The 1983 session of the Maryland General Assembly enacted this legislation, but delayed its effective date until July 1, 1984," Goldstein said. "We are reminding the alcoholic beverage industry of this law, and their responsibilities under it."

The new law prohibits the sale of alcoholic beverages or soft drinks in metal or composite containers with a detachable pull tab. However, the law does not apply to containers sealed with a laminated tape seal, frozen beverage concentrates in all metal containers or metal containers for milk-based or soy-based products or similar products which require sterilization and pressure in the canning process.

These exemptions generally apply to containers for products used primarily in the home.

Fair Weather, Leap Year Boost Sales Tax Revenue

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein announced that March 1984 retail sales and use tax revenue increased by 22.2% over the same month last year, the largest percentage increase since the sales tax rate was increased to 5% in 1977.

"The $69,999,577 in sales tax revenue received during March, 1984, actually represents retail activity during February, 1984," Goldstein said. "Two factors contributed to the large increase in revenue. February, 1983 included the 'blizzard of 1983', when little retail activity took place, and February, 1984, had 29 days because of leap year.

"In addition, there continues to be a strong increase in the construction-related categories of sales tax collections as well," Goldstein said.

For the first eight months of Fiscal Year, 1984, retail sales tax revenue totals $646,450,347, up 14.3% over the $565,752,128 collected during the same period of the prior fiscal year.

"While the general merchandise and taxable food and beverage categories of sales tax collections each show increases of more than 10% over last fiscal year, the most dramatic growth appears in the construction-related categories of sales tax revenue," the Comptroller stated.

For Fiscal Year 1984 to date, the building and contractors category posts a 28.3% increase over the same period of Fiscal Year 1983—an increase spurred by the growth in lumber sales. The closely related furniture, fixtures and appliances category reflects an increase of 23.3% for the same comparative period. A third construction-related category of sales tax collections, hardware, machinery and equipment, posts a 13.9% growth rate.

"This demonstrates the importance of the homebuilding industry," Goldstein said. "For each new home built and occupied in Maryland, we estimate that about $2,500 in sales tax revenue is paid to the state as builders purchase materials and homeowners buy 'big ticket' items such as appliances, carpeting, furniture and other taxable merchandise."

Public Hearings On Aging Plan Are Scheduled

Two public hearings have been scheduled on the proposed Garrett County Area Agency on Aging Plan of services for senior citizens.

According to Garrett County Community Action officials, the first hearing will be held on May 3, at 2 p.m., in the Oakland Senior Center in the Garrett Community College Building on Center Street. The second hearing is scheduled in Grantsville on May 8, at 1 p.m., in the Grantsville United Church of Christ Sunday School room.

Duane Yoder, executive director of the Community Action Committee, stated that the plan will describe the proposed goals and objectives of the Area Agency on Aging for the 1984-85 fiscal year. According to Yoder, the final plan must be submitted to the Maryland Office on Aging by May 15.

Further information may be obtained by contacting Community Action Office at 360 W. Liberty Street, Oakland, or by calling 334-9431.

What's Optional In Standard Homeowners And Auto Policies Is Standard In PCP
Like automatic inflation protection for your home.
With a standard homeowners insurance policy, you have to pay extra for optional "inflation guard" coverage—protection that will keep your home insurance current with the growing costs of repair and replacement.
Not with PCP—Personal Comprehensive Protection. PCP, from Continental Insurance, is the personal insurance package that protects your home, car, liability and more in a single policy. PCP automatically gives you many coverages that are only optional with standard policies. Such as automatic "inflation guard" protection—adjusted each year or at the time of loss—so your home is always covered for its current value. You'll also get replacement cost protection (no depreciation) for most of your personal belongings. Towing and labor coverage for your car. And more—all included at no extra charge in your PCP policy.
Find out more about PCP today. You'll see how you can get better protection for your insurance dollar.

Auto Accidents Injure Several Local Residents

Maryland State Police investigated several auto accidents which resulted in personal injuries for area residents.

An Oakland man, Jerry Wilt, 39, remains in "satisfactory" condition this morning in Garrett County Memorial Hospital after he was injured in a one-vehicle accident Tuesday afternoon on the Rock Lodge Road, just off U.S. Rt. 219.

Police reports indicate Wilt was the driver of a vehicle traveling westbound when he lost control and ran off the left side of the roadway, striking several trees.

A passenger in the Wilt vehicle, Carl Cosner, 16, was treated at the hospital and released.

The investigation is continuing.

Two women remain in the same medical facility after sustaining injuries in a two-vehicle mishap Sunday afternoon at the intersection of Rt. 219 and Rt. 42 near The Winds Restaurant.

According to reports, a 1984 Mercury Topaz being driven by Donald E. Morrow, 53, Marietta, Ohio, was attempting to make a left turn onto Rt. 42 and collided with a northbound vehicle being drived by Arthur J. Hanlin, 53, Oakland.

Morrow's wife, Bertha, 53, sustained leg injuries and is listed in "satisfactory" condition at the hospital.

Georgie M. Hanlin, 80, and Letha J. Hanlin, 50, were passengers in the Hanlin vehicle. Georgie is listed in "satisfactory" condition while Letha was treated and released. Neither of the drivers involved were injured. The injured parties were transported to the hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad.

Another accident Sunday afternoon occurred on Rt. 39 on the "Crellin straight", injuring several young men.

A vehicle being driven by Anthony Calvert, 17, Newburg, W. Va., and carrying passengers Allen B. Cartwright, 17, and David B. Cartwright, 11, both of Terra Alta, W. Va, was eastbound and had just completed passing another vehicle. As he returned to the right lane, Calvert applied his brakes, slid out of control, traveled off the shoulder and back across the center line striking headon a vehicle being driven by Joseph Hardesty, 25, Kitzmiller.

Douglas Hardesty, 21, also of Kitzmiller, was a passenger in the Hardesty vehicle. He sustained facial injuries and was admitted to Garrett Memorial Hospital, but has since been released. Joseph sustained leg injuries but did not require hospital admittance.

Forest Ranger Rolland Schoch Receives Award

At the annual western regional meeting of the Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service on March 7 at the Ali Ghan Shrine Club in Cumberland, Forest Ranger Rolland Schoch, Deer Park, was the recipient of a Service Director's Merit Award. The award was presented to Ranger Schoch by Dave Hathway, chief of operations for the Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service.

The award is given annually by Director Don MacLaughlan to employees, private citizens, and organizations who have brought distinction to themselves and/or the Forest, Park and Wildlife Service.

Schoch is the senior ranger on Savage River State Forest with over 28 years of state service. The award was for his contribution as a heavy equipment operator in the construction of over five miles of timber and forest access roads, using existing state owned equipment.

Construction of these roads resulted in the sale of over $132,000 worth of state forest timber. It was estimated by the Forest Manager that Schoch saved the state over $15,000 in construction costs compared to other methods of construction.

Besides his duties as a heavy equipment operator, Schoch also is a commissioned forest, park and wildlife law enforcement officer and supervises the law enforcement and protection activities on Savage River State Forest. He also performs many other maintenance and public service duties.

Besides providing access to timber sales, these roads also provide the public greater access for recreational use such as hiking, camping, sightseeing, birdwatching, hunting, fishing, firewood gathering, and other recreational activities. The roads also enable state forest personnel to better protect the resources of the forest from fire, insect, disease, and abuse from man. When properly designed and stabilized, forest access roads provide minimal environmental damage while enhancing the management potential of the forest.

Ranger Schoch and his wife, Laura, are the parents of four children. He is a member and former assistant chief of the Deer Park Volunteer Fire Department.

ment level which allows teachers to focus on each group of students' needs.

A two hour language arts block was instituted to ease the transition from three hour periods in the elementary schools to one hour periods in the high schools.

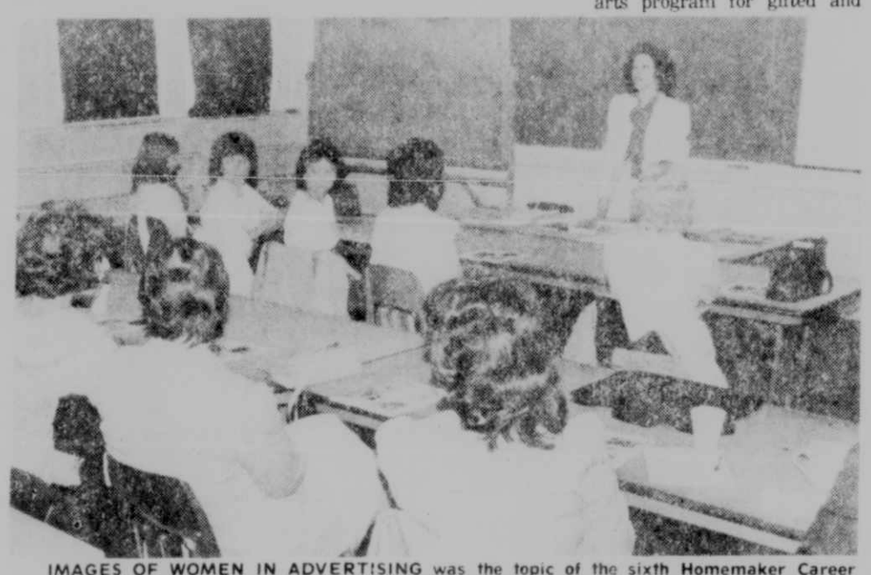
Updated textbooks and a variety of texts for varying levels within each grade also contributed to the improvements in student achievement. There are three levels of English texts for the seventh grade students at Southern Middle School.

The use of a silent, sustained reading period to encourage reading as a personal activity was seen as successful

The middle schools are putting an increased emphasis on writing skills. Massey said that the development of a writing curriculum would be a valuable tool to promote better writing skills in students.

Rettel outlined the language arts program for gifted and talented students at Northern Middle School, and displayed projects executed by her students that illustrate her classes' dual emphasis; understanding of content as well as work on higher level thinking skills.

The projects included condensation of books read by students into five frame comic strips and "Howdy Folks Biography Buddies", which are life-sized drawings of biographical characters containing clues to the character's identity.



Rettel said that the students enjoy working on special projects for display, and that students respond to raised expectations with increased efforts.

Board president Clarence Stem commented, "It is gratifying to see tangible results such as test scores that show the excellent job these people are doing."

Al Ringer, assistant supervisor of instruction, recommended that the language arts programs receive a tangible reward such as a plaque to recognize their efforts.

Language Arts teachers at Northern Middle School include Nancy Frank, Linda Raley, Cherie Rettel, Brenda Spiker, Sherry Stafford and Sandra Warne.

At Southern Middle School the teachers are Dianne Dean, Mary Jane Fike, Betty Foy, Sheri Kennell, Wesley Lovelace, Mary Ryscavage, Maureen Sharps, Suzanne Sincell, Robin Taylor, Shirley Whitmer and Sara Ramsey.

IMAGES OF WOMEN IN ADVERTISING was the topic of the sixth Homemaker Career Opportunities workshop held at the Garrett Community College, Oakland Center, on April 11. The program, which was led by Carol Ann Lovett, pictured above with program participants, featured a film entitled "Killing Us Softly", which dealt with exploitation of women in advertising. Twenty-two persons participated in the workshop. Another free workshop, held Wednesday, April 18, was entitled "Helping People Succeed", and dealt with helping family members develop to their full potential. The next workshop, entitled "Putting Yourself On Paper", which focuses on building a resume, is scheduled for Wednesday, April 25. Workshops are held from 10 a.m. to noon at the GCC Oakland Center. ## ARC Convention ments must examine their policies to determine whether they might be hindering economic growth in the area. Gregg cited as an example North Carolina's inheritance tax laws which hinder North Carolina's growth as a retirement state. Retirees are reluctant to move to North Carolina despite ideal weather conditions because the inheritance tax rate is extremely high, and retirees prefer to leave their estates to their heirs rather than to the state government.

According to Gregg, speakers said that governments must guard against "over-possessive, over-restrictive legislation", and "must make sure they demand no more than their fair share of taxes from industries."

Commissioners Braskey and Groves agreed that the convention was both "helpful and interesting."

Huskies Defeat Beall To Up Record To 3-2

The Northern High baseball team improved its season record to 3-2 on Monday by blasting Beall, 12-5, on the Mountaineers' diamond in Frostburg.

The Huskies were down 4-3 after three innings before Northern pitcher Steve Zumpano settled down and gave up only one more run the rest of the afternoon, that being in the sixth inning.

Zumpano also paced the Huskies' hitting effort, along with Phil Carr, especially in the top of the fourth when Northern recorded seven runs to put the game out of reach. Zumpano collected two of the Huskies' nine hits, while Carr rapped three. Greg Diehl and Bill Murray also hit key doubles for Northern.

The Huskies added a pair of security runs in the seventh inning.

Beall, which dropped to 2-2-1, recorded 13 hits on the afternoon, but were unable to capitalize on many of them. John Brewer paced the Mountaineers with three hits, while Richards added a double.

The contest between the Huskies and Southern, which was slated for yesterday, was rained out just prior to game time.

Grantsville Man Slightly Injured In Plant Mishap

Maryland State Police investigated an industrial accident Monday in which a Grantsville area man was slightly injured.

According to reports, William D. Sipple, 53, was working at the Harbison-Walker Refractories Plant, which is located on Rt. 495 near Grantsville, when he was struck from behind by a forklift.

The accident occurred at approximately 3:25 p.m. when the forklift operator, Allen Brinegar, failed to see Sipple walking in front of him. A trash bin which was being moved by the lift blocked the operator's line of vision and, because of other factory noise, Sipple did not hear the machine approaching.

Sipple was transported to Sacred Heart Hospital in Cumberland, but has since been released.

Tfc. G.R. Chaney investigated the incident and no charges were filed.

Council Urges Search For State Energy Resources

Maryland is a state with a heavy dependence on outside energy sources, and has a vested interest in energy development onshore and offshore, according to Michael D. McDonald, spokesman for the Maryland Petroleum Council.

Marylanders consumed about 91 million barrels of petroleum products in 1982, a decrease of 26% from 1978 levels, according to McDonald.

During the same period electricity use rose 69%, coal use fell 2%, and natural gas consumption rose 29%, according to McDonald.

Overall energy use by Marylanders dropped about two percent. Oil supplied 47% of Maryland's energy requirements, electricity accounted for 19%, coal 18%, and natural gas 16%.

In 1982, Garrett County produced the natural gas equivalent of 20 barrels of oil per day, and the coal equivalent of 40,000 barrels of oil per day, according to McDonald.

The Maryland Petroleum Council estimates that Western Maryland, along with the 13 other Appalachian states, may contain as much as 1.5 billion barrels of undiscovered, recoverable crude oil, as well as 70 trillion cubic feet of natural gas.

Successful exploration of offshore regions has raised hopes of oil and gas reserves that may be recoverable from the Atlantic Ocean floor.

McDonald stated that it is imperative that the offshore search for energy reserves be allowed to move forward unhindered to ensure adequate energy supplies for Marylanders in the 21st Century.

Environmental and seafood production groups oppose the lifting of the moratorium on offshore exploration as a threat to the environmental health of the ocean and the Chesapeake Bay.

Correction Noted

Information received by The Republican and published last week in a newsstory about the Southern Garrett Band traveling to Virginia Beach contained an error in a telephone number. It stated that the band students were available to do odd jobs for local residents, such as yard cleaning, babysitting, car washing, etc., and local persons could call 826-8264 for service. The number should have been 334-8264. The other number listed, which was correct, was 334-3751.

Why are Stark Bro's trees better?
For generations Stark Bro's has meant quality—healthy trees that are also vigorous and super productive. They're unique, too. Our dwarf apple trees, for example, are all hand built, using four separate parts. Tree size is controlled by a unique section grafted into the trunk for precision dwarfing control. Other nurseries' dwarf trees have their growth restricted by natural dwarf roots, which are weak, and susceptible to damage by drought, wind and heat. Our roots are healthy, hardy, three-year-old seedlings of a type successful across the U.S. for 160 years. They grow deep and wide, insuring a solid anchor and vigorous fruit production. The sturdy two-year-old trunk, which guards against damage from weather and disease, is grafted onto the root. Then the secret—our amazing dwarfing section that checks growth but allows the production of full-size fruit. On top, we graft a stem of the variety that'll become the top of the tree and bear the fruit. It's always a record-bearing cultivar with proven results. Our process for producing dwarf apple trees is so different it was once awarded a U.S. Plant Patent, and it pays off, consistently, delivering top-quality fruit trees that stay small. That's pretty important to home gardeners.

BAIT AND SWITCH
It's a method of selling that is used to market virtually everything from cars to log homes. The one real pitfall of this selling technique when evaluating log homes is the confusion it creates for you—the customer. For example, one company may advertise a price of $9,000 and show you a picture of a complete log home. In reality, the total cost of the package to create that log home might be $24,000-$25,000 plus freight.
Speaking of freight, if you purchase a package from another area—say, Tennessee or North Carolina, etc.—your freight could be as much as $2,000 or more. If you have financed the purchase of your new home, that extra $2,000 over a 20-year loan could easily become $5,600 or more.
We at Mountaineer Log & Siding want you—the public—to know that we do not use the old "bait and switch" method of selling. When we publish or quote a price, it is for the complete shell package including the floor system, solid T&G log walls, between log sealant, log caulking, thermopane windows, insulated doors, roof system, soffit and fascia, exterior trim, plus the interior partitions and more. In other words, the complete shell as shown in the picture in this advertisement is included in our price. Also, our freight is so low, you'll be very pleased—just $200 including all trucks throughout Garrett, Preston, and Tucker Counties. It may also please you to know that when you buy from Mountaineer Log & Siding Company, you are buying from a local company—keeping two million dollars of revenue right here in your area helping to employ 130 area people.
So, CHECK AROUND, CHECK US OUT, and then you'll know the whole story why we're so popular.

Noted Poet, Author Visits Yoder School

Through the combined efforts of the Maryland State Department of Education, the Garrett County Board of Education, Frostburg State College Foundation, and Yoder School, Lee Bennett Hopkins was a special guest at Yoder School on Friday, April 6.

Dr. Estelle Williamson and Dr. R. Anthony Baraloto, Dept. of Library Services of the Maryland State Department of Education, Albert R. Ringer, assistant superintendent of curriculum and instruction in Garrett County, and Dr. William Bingman, education professor at Frostburg State College, joined the Yoder School faculty and students in welcoming Mr. Hopkins. Charles Pariseau, of the Garrett County Board of Education Resource Center, was on hand to take pictures.

Hopkins has authored three novels, several children's and young adults' books, as well as professional texts and curriculum materials. As a "piper of poetry" (as he calls himself) he has anthologized some 20 books of poetry for young people. He regularly writes for journals such as the Horn Book, Language Arts, and English Journal. Hopkins has taught elementary school in New Jersey and served as consultant and visiting professor of children's literature in colleges throughout North America. His current responsibilities include being Literature Consultant for Harper and Row's Text Division, as well as serving on the National Council of Teachers of English and International Reading Association committees.

Hopkins was greeted at Yoder School by a 220 cm. Gothic banner, "Welcome, Piper of Poetry," that was created by three eighth grade students, Martha Jane Kaiser, Tracey Folk and Suzie Bowser. Students of Miss Ada Schrock, in grades four through six, presented him with a portfolio of original poems they had both written and illustrated. An added personal touch was given by Rose Kaiser, who created an intricate white paper carving to complement the green cover on the portfolio. These same middle-grade students also shared original words set to the tune of "Frere Jacques," plus a choral reading of one of Hopkins' favorite Sandburg poems, "Arithmetic."

Children in grades one through eight had opportunity to talk with Hopkins as he visited each classroom. A considerable portion of his time was spent sharing poems and answering questions for students in the middle and upper grades.

After leaving Yoder School, Hopkins went to Frostburg State College where he was the honored guest of the Frostburg State College Foundation. The student-made banner was loaned to the college and used for the head table's decoration during the weekend Children's Literature conference. It has since been returned to Yoder School.

Sisler Receives Maryland Faculty Research Award

Dr. Hugh D. Sisler, Beltsville, formerly of Garrett County, received the Faculty Research Award of the University of Maryland, Division of Agricultural and Life Sciences, at a ceremony held in College Park on March 28. The award was given for research accomplishments "which demonstrated vigorous and consistent pursuit of excellence."

The research done in Dr. Sisler's laboratory on the mechanism of action and specificity of chemicals which control fungal diseases of plants and animals has received international acclaim. In 1973, he was selected a Fellow of the American Phytopathological Society, an honor conferred annually to 0.25 cents or less of the society membership.

Dr. Sisler, who is a professor of botany, was formerly chairman of the Botany Department at the University. He is the son of Mrs. Ida Sisler of Friendsville.

Marylanders Due $1.6 Million In Unclaimed Funds

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein announced that his office is trying to reach 4,123 Marylanders to tell them how to claim $1.6 million in unclaimed funds. "We are running newspaper ads to try and locate the apparent rightful owners of these funds," Goldstein said.

Ads will appear in today's and next week's issues of The Republican.

These ads are one of three ways the State Comptroller's Office and Maryland businesses are looking for 4,123 people who are apparently the rightful owners of approximately $1.6 million in unclaimed funds reported to the State by banks, savings and loan institutions and other corporations.

In addition to the ads, both the comptroller's office and the bank or other institution holding the funds mail notices to the owner's last known address.

"If you receive a notice from our office or an unfamiliar banking institution, please don't immediately discard it as junk mail; it could bring you cash," Goldstein stated. "The notices advise owners whom to contact. But if you spot your name or the name of someone you know in the ads, contact the Abandoned Property Section of our office and you will be told how to file your claim."

Unclaimed property reported by banks includes checking and savings accounts, contents of safe deposit boxes, unclaimed wages, dividends and other property held by banks and unclaimed for five years, in most cases. No time limit is placed on reclaiming the property. Rightful owners or heirs can reclaim the funds at any future date.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE
A COMPLEX PROBLEM

High pressure can mean anything from a local weather report to a persistent salesman. But when you insert the word "blood" in between, it takes on its most important meaning — a sign of a disorder of the body's cardiovascular system. The effects of high blood pressure and certain of its causes produce injury to the heart, the blood vessels and the organs they supply.

There are a great many prescription medicines that a physician can prescribe to help relieve this condition. Very little is known as to what is the actual cause in many cases. If you have an elevated blood pressure follow your doctor's advice very carefully.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine.

What is Easter, Mommy?

"Is it the time when bunnies get born?" I looked at my little daughter, appalled.

Did she really think of Easter in terms of sugared eggs, fluffy bunnies and pretty candies? Had I given her the impression that for grownups Easter is a time for new clothes, flowered hats and fragrant corsages? Surely, at some time, I must have told her the real story of Easter. Or had I?

I was really flabbergasted at my negligence — it took my little daughter to make me realize it. I dismissed my house chores and sat down right then to tell her what hope this event brought for all of mankind — with its promise of eternal life.

I might add that the next week I enrolled my daughter in church school. And my husband and I started attending church again. We haven't missed a Sunday since.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THE ASTONISHMENT OF EASTER
April 22, 1984

Background Scripture: Mark 15:1 through 16:20.
Devotional Reading: Mark 15:6-15.

In many Bibles, particularly the more recent translations, the Gospel according to Mark ends with verse 8, usually with a notation that "Other texts and versions add as 16:9-20 the following passage:..."

It is not my purpose to pursue the scholarly arguments concerning what is the original ending of Mark's Gospel. There is real value in 16:9-20 and it does not matter to me if it was originally part of Mark or added later in some versions.

At the same time, I must confess that, if we end Mark with verse 8, the last sentence of this gospel hits us with a tremendous intensity:

And they went out and fled from the tomb; for trembling and astonishment came upon them, and they said nothing to anyone, for they were afraid.

HE HAS RISEN!

It is possible that Easter has become for many of us so tame and predictable that we have lost the sense of excitement it should generate. In Greece on Easter Sunday the resurrection means more than just the biggest worship service of the year. The Greek Orthodox still have the capacity to become emotionally involved in the sheer magnitude of Christ's resurrection. They still are able to tremble at the thought of it and their capacity for holy "astonishment" remains.

If we are not truly "amazed" or "astonished" by this eternal event, it is because we don't really comprehend what it means. To be "ho-hum" about Easter means we've missed the point.

And what is amazing and astonishing about the resurrection is not that the stone was mysteriously rolled away from the tomb, nor that they found there a young man dressed in a white robe, nor even that, as the young man indicated, Jesus was no longer there in the tomb. What makes Easter an occasion for a holy "tremble" or two is the extraordinary proclamation that "He has risen," that "He is going before you to Galilee" and "there you will see him, as he told you."

THEY WERE AFRAID

The very last thing Mark tells us in this "short version" is that the disciples fled from the garden, "for they were afraid." Why? Why should they feel "afraid"? Perhaps this was not fright so much as a kind of "holy fear," the sense of awe and wonder in the face of something that overwhelms our minds and hearts.

Furthermore, I believe the disciples realized that the resurrection of Jesus confirmed that, in being with him, they had been in the presence of the Almighty God —and that should always be an astonishing thought for us.

So it is for us: to experience Easter in the deepest sense is to know that we are confronted with the presence and power of God. And if we "tremble" just a bit in the knowledge of that, is it not a fitting response to the astonishment of Easter?

A NEWLY RELOCATED AND RE-NAMED BUSINESS was established recently between Routes 40 and 48 two miles east of Grantsville, offering mobile and modular homes. Called The Home Place, the business is being managed by Dave Maust, above left, assisted by Dave Puffinburg as sales manager. Partners in the venture are Ernest Miller and Marlin Schrock. The business was originally established in Springs, Pa., as Puff's Mobile Home Sales by Puffinburg's father, Dan. The new owners will offer in addition to Pine Grove, Marlette, Liberty and Bristol mobile homes the Simplex line of modulars. They also plan to construct and offer for sale utility buildings and modular garages, and hope to hire ten carpenters and other employees by late summer. The Home Place is located on the site formerly used by Grantsville Ford as a display and sales area for trucks and tractors.

NEW PROPRIETORS of Crystal Waters Marina at McHenry are, left, Joida Sherwood of McHenry, and Bob Browning of Sang Run. The marina offers boat service, storage, dockage, and rentals, and sales of Thundercraft and Sylvan crafts. Charles Ruskey, former owner, will continue to manage the boat rentals divisions of the business. Joida (pronounced Jody) is a factory-certified technician for boats and motors. In addition to the marina, Bob and his partner will continue to operate Deep Creek Outfitters. The marina now handles the Mercury outboard franchise as one of its new features and plans for the business include hiring two or three persons for the summer, Browning says.

Farley Foodland Gets Honorable Mention Award

Ken Farley and his employees at Farley's Foodland at Tri-Towns Shopping Plaza near Westernport have received an honorable mention on the 1984 Honor Roll of Outstanding Independent Grocers.

Farley, owner of the store for only the past nine months, was particularly proud of his store's standing. In the crisis management category, Farley's staff is said to have done well in overcoming natural disasters, personal hardships, crime, labor problems, financial difficulties, new competitive challenges and major operating breakdowns.

The store owner has been a resident of Garrett County for over six years, and he notes that many of his faithful customers are from the southeastern part of the county.

As far as he knows, this is the first time for any store in this area to receive such an honor, which usually goes to stores in large cities.

The store and its employees have been included in an article in the trade magazine "Progressive Grocer."

In an interview on the store's honorable mention status, Farley said "We are going to continue working hard to have a big city supermarket in a small community and to offer varieties that are offered by big stores - low prices, fresh seafood, good service, a clean store, etc. We will continue to work hard so we can give the people a store they deserve."

Participants will be placed strategically on the boundary between Honduras and Nicaragua and will be giving indications for a peaceful settlement and solutions to that country. Pastor Flora said the effort is to convince the United States government to pursue the cause of peace rather than to continue efforts to overthrow the present Nicaragua government by supporting the guerrilla warfare there.

It was reported by the Reverend Leininger that the Association will attend the Church World Center in New Windsor, for its May meeting on May 2. The group will be leaving Oakland at 6 a.m. from the Oak Park Church and arriving at New Windsor at 10 a.m. The group expects to return to Garrett County by 6 p.m. The tour is to be conducted throughout the Church World Center which distributes clothing and blankets throughout the entire world for emergency purposes and will also include an afternoon program which is a discussion of the world peace academy and a tour of the world peace bookstore by the Reverned Harold Smith, executive director.

Motorists Reminded Not To Dump Oil

The Maryland Environmental Service reminds motorists who change their own automotive oil to not dump the oil.

"First," says MES oil recycling coordinator Hilary Tatem, "It is against the law to dispose of used oil any place but at an approved collection center." And Ms. Tatem points out there are more than 700 such drop-off points in Maryland . . . so it is extremely easy to dispose of used oil correctly.

"Second, your five quart contribution to the environment may seem insignificant to you; but each quart of oil incorrectly dumped will eventually contribute to the long-term damage to the Chesapeake Bay." Ms. Tatem explains that oil will seep into the ground or into a stream or creek . . . and from there the route to the Bay is quick, easy and destructive.

"Third," Ms. Tatem adds, "by returning your used oil to a nearby collection facility, you will be assured that it will be recycled for use as a fuel or lubricant; thus reducing our dependence on imported oil. In 1983, Marylanders returned 11.2 million gallons of used oil or enough to heat 11,200 homes for the entire winter."

Oil collection centers in Garrett County include: Casselman Motor Company, Grantsville; Grantsville Ford, Grantsville; Oakview Motors, Inc., Oakland; and Shaffer Ford Sales, Inc. Oakland.

Henry Winkler sees 'Happy Days' ahead

By Peter Meade

Henry Winkler

There's a lot more to Henry Winkler than the black leather jacket he wore for 11 years as the Fonz on "Happy Days." The actor has been involved in a variety of extracurricular activities since leaving the ABC sitcom.

Winkler's current preoccupation is directing. He made his directorial bow in a 1982 episode of the "Happy Days" spinoff, "Joanie Loves Chachi." But that was just a trial run for "All the Kids Do It," a CBS "School Break Special," to air Tuesday, April 24. Winkler, in his capacity as executive producer of the project, went to the network with what he calls "a one-line idea" for a program about the effects of teenage drunk driving. When the network executives accepted the idea, Winkler was asked if he had any suggestions for a director.

"I pointed to myself," says Winkler. "Hey, I've directed my daughter (who's almost 4) in plenty of home movies."

The executive producer got his way. Winkler is involved with four production companies: Monumental (for movies), Fair Dinkum and Winkler-Rich (for TV) and JZM (children's TV). JZM — the initials stand for his three children, Jed, Zoe and Max — is behind the hour-long "All the Kids Do It."

Now that "Happy Days" has ended its run as one of the most successful series in television history, Winkler will have more time for his role as the devoted father. He will also have time to work on other projects and keep in touch with "Happy Days" alumni.

Winkler will be directing Scott Baio in "All the Kids Do It." He calls the former Chachi Arcola, cousin of the Fonz, "a complete professional." He also has hopes to work with Ron Howard and Anson Williams again, and his movie company is currently working with director Rob Reiner on a feature called "The Sure Thing." But another series is not just around the corner.

"There are too many things to do," says Winkler. "Directing is great fun. In producing, I knew how everything ran, especially working in theater. But movies are more complicated. But I think 'All the Kids Do It' is a great little movie. Kids are so sophisticated today, you can't talk down to them. But I want to take them on an emotional journey that will knock their socks off."

Jagger imitates Brown; 'A-Team' gets mad

By David Gabriel

James Brown

IMPRESSIONS: Is Mick Jagger really an imitator? Keith Richards, lead guitarist of the Rolling Stones, believes the group's leader borrowed his wild style. He recalls the first time the Stones came to New York.

"Mick and I went up to the Apollo. We saw James Brown working. And two or three shows after that — there's Mick doing the James Brown act suddenly. You see the influences."

DON'T LAUGH: Doesn't "The A-Team" have a sense of humor? They got irate when Pocket Books came out with a satire called "Not the A-Team." The producers of NBC's top-rated show demanded that the paperbacks be removed from the shops. They charged copyright infringement.

"We don't use anybody's name in the book," says author David Everitt. "We refer to them as The Leader, Dreamboat, Tagalong Female and Bad Ass. We satirize the type of characters on the show, not the characters themselves. So I don't see how we can be infringing on anyone's copyright."

BETTER SHOW: "Newhart" is completing its second year, and Mary Frann, who plays Bob Newhart's character's wife, is glad the series came along when it did. Before this show she was in an ABC dramatic series, "Kings Crossing." She found it an emotional drain. "I was exhausted week after week." Three weeks after it was canceled, she got the part on "Newhart." "I was thrilled it was a comedy," she says.

TELLING IT: Now that her hosting stint on "Miss Teen USA" is behind her, Heather Thomas can reveal her distaste for beauty contests. "I think they're absolutely ridiculous," says the actress who plays Jodie Banks on "The Fall Guy." "I hope the contestants realize the contest is a vehicle, not an end." She took the assignment because she was free and the fee was hefty. Her series with Lee Majors resumes filming in July.

Miss Thomas was voted Homecoming Queen at Santa Monica High School, and she remembers writing in the school paper that considering beauty contests are "a continuation of a barbaric tribal ritual, and a pseudo ego trip, I plan to make the best of it, especially if I can get out of class a couple of hours."

Alex (Michael J. Fox) is confronted by his dad (Michael Gross) when he tries to cope with the pressures of his senior year by popping pills, on "Family Ties," to be rebroadcast Thursday, April 26 on NBC.

SHOW AND TELL

Matt McCoy looks beyond chasing girls

By Gregory Garver

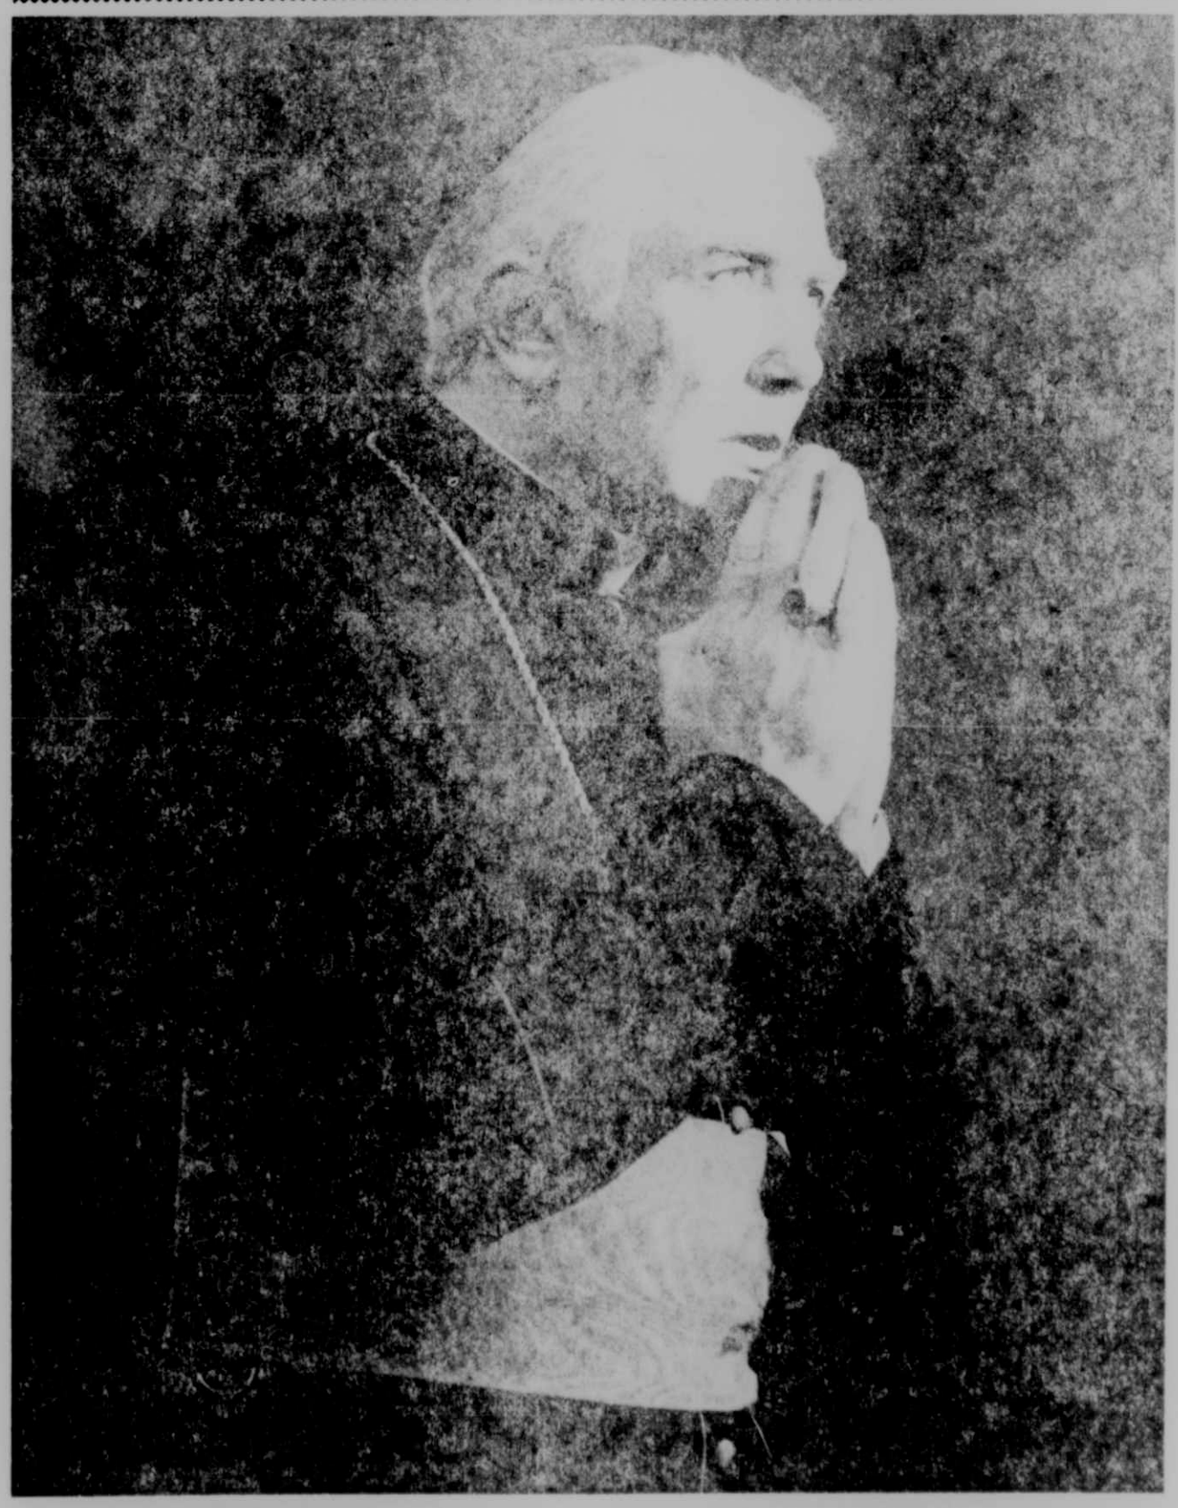
Matt McCoy

HOLLYWOOD — Among the better-grade cliches that are dropped during your average Hollywood TV celebrity interview is: "Our show is different — we are just like family."

Matt McCoy of NBC's "We Got It Made" claims it applies to his show. However, one member of the show's "family," Stepfanie Kramer, who played Claudia, has been dropped. "They said that it was going to open up the show somewhat, a way to give Tom Villard and me more of a chance to do something else besides chase girls."

McCoy says that if the show is picked up again next season — and he believes the odds are 50-50 that it will be — then he feels there will be more of this "opening up" process. Whether that means that more of the family will be lopped off is, at the moment, anybody's guess.

The "family" atmosphere and attitude around the set is one big reason why McCoy thinks the show is as successful as it is. "It is the camaraderie of the six principals," he says, "or is it five now? None of us knew each other when we were hired, but Fred Silverman (the executive producer) brought us all together. We immediately found we had a rapport, and we became family."



McCoy believes that that rapport is something an audience is aware of, consciously or not. "They sense that we are having fun while we work, and the audience gets a kick out of watching people have fun."

The taping of "We Got It Made" is over for this year, if not forever. McCoy and his girl friend, Joan Ayres, who was formerly on the "9 to 5" series, are planning a long trip to Europe on their hiatus. It will be the first time there for both of them.

McCoy, who grew up in Bethesda, Md., was always involved in acting and, as soon as he had the money and a little local acting experience, he lit out for New York.

"I love New York," he says, "and I can't wait to get back there. I really prefer doing stage to television. But I do like one thing about California — you can play golf and tennis 12 months of the year."

And you can worry about whether your series will be picked up while you're doing it.

Albert Finney makes his American television debut portraying the current pontiff in "Pope John Paul II," airing April 22 on CBS.

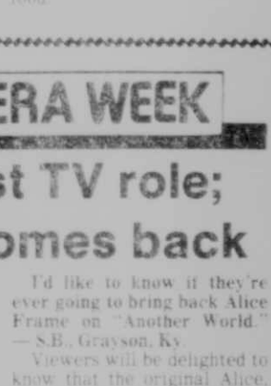
Morgan's memoirs; Minnelli's new partner

By Cindy Adams



NEW YORK — An incendiary manuscript has just been delivered to Delacorte. "The Vicki Morgan Story" deals with the late Alfred Bloomingdale and his ladyfriend, Vicki Morgan, who had two husbands, five lovers — some of whom are alive, married and famous — and was, the pages claim, in love with Bloomingdale.

Gordon Basichis, who had the agreement to write Miss Morgan's memoirs, spent nine months interviewing her. "Delacorte will put it under legal scrutiny," says the author's agent, Peter Miller. In any case, Miller has another publisher panting in the wings.

Mike Douglas

Come fall, Mike Douglas will take a shot at lecturing for the American Program Bureau. He'll show footage of his best interviews ranging from Malcolm X to Totie Fields. He'll kick off several Town Halls in Washington state for $7,500 a pop. Queen Sirikit of Thailand and a party of 25 were seen at her majesty's favorite New York place, the Rainbow Room... Louise Nevelson, 84, is working round-the-clock, designing costumes, props, furniture, sets, backdrops and scenery for Gluck's "Orfeo" which opens at the St. Louis Opera in June.

Liza Minnelli

Liza Minnelli and Kiss's Gene Simmons are doing an album together... Sheryl Lee Ralph of the Broadway play, "Dreamgirls," insists that she's not playing Diana Ross. Miss Ross figures she is. Both beauties, inadvertently came eyelash to eyelash at a New York restaurant. The frost could have chilled the sherbet... Gloria Vanderbilt hands in her finished, but so-far untitled, personally written autobiography this month... Steve Allen at East, the popular Japanese restaurant: "I get a yen for this food."

Cooperman found ideal subject in Wojtyla

By Joe Haviland

Alvin Cooperman

Executive producer Alvin Cooperman was looking for heroes back in 1979, and the result of his search is the CBS movie, "Pope John Paul II," airing Sunday, April 22.

At that time, Cooperman wanted to do the story of a contemporary hero, and in his search he came up with what seemed to be an "ideal subject."

The subject was Karol Wojtyla, who became Pope John Paul II, then the newly appointed head of the Roman Catholic Church. "There was a lot of material on his life that I had come across," says Cooperman, "and I decided to do the story of a man who had come from humble beginnings and grew up in a society overrun by the Nazis and then by the Russians and the Communist government."

Cooperman went with his idea to the New York archdiocese, then under the direction of the late Cardinal Cook. Cardinal Cook, Msgr. Clarke and Father O'Brien welcomed the project with open arms and became Cooperman's mentors. "They guided me in my research, and they were my contact to the Vatican."

In January 1982, Cooperman had an audience with the Pope. "I've been in the company of presidents, world-class athletes and all kinds of rock stars and I didn't think that I would be as moved. When we shook hands and looked at each other my jaw dropped. The Pope has a very powerful kind of presence."

It is that presence that Cooperman wanted to capture in his movie, which started production in Rome on Feb 24, 1983 and concluded in Austria at the end of May 1983.

"The movie functions in three parts," says Cooperman. "A very small part of it, which I use as act openers, is Cardinal Karol Wojtyla's trip to Rome for the election of a new Pope. Our picture starts with the death of Pope John Paul and ends with Cardinal Karol Wojtyla becoming Pope."

Through a series of flashbacks and two actors playing Wojtyla (Michael Crompton as the young Wojtyla, and Albert Finney as the mature cleric) we see Wojtyla's life before he became Pope, as a young man under the Nazis working in a quarry, and then as a priest, a bishop, a cardinal and then Pope.

"It's not a story about Catholicism and it's not a story about the man as Pope," says Cooperman. "We're talking about a man who is living in a Catholic country, fighting against a totalitarian government, with its lack of freedom. The movie shows the totally human, personal and universal side of Karol Wojtyla."

ASK ME ABOUT TV

By Val Carew

Who plays John Abbott on "The Young and the Restless"? Also, is Steven the real first name of the actor who plays Andy Richards on the same soap? — B.S. Rio Dell, Calif.

Jerry Douglas plays John Abbott. And, yes Steven is "Andy's" real first name. His last name is Ford and he is the son of former president Gerald Ford and his wife Betty.

David Selby

Steven Ford

Maybe you remember this show. No one else does. It was a continuing series in which the women and men were in reversed roles. The men stayed at home, wore aprons and did the housework. The women were business executives. — K.C., Amherst, Maine.

The show was "All That Glitters," a late night soap opera produced and created by Norman Lear. Gary Sandy, later of "WKRP in Cincinnati," was in it and so was Lois Nettleton. It had some hard-core fans, but not enough of them.

I enjoy watching David Selby on "Falcon Crest." I know he was on "Dark Shadows." When did that show run? Also, can you tell me something about Selby? — J.M., Waynesville, Mo.

"Dark Shadows" ran on ABC from June 27, 1966 through April 2, 1971. "Dark Shadows was Selby's first professional acting job. A native of Morgantown, West Va., Selby appeared in many Broadway plays and movies such as "Rich and Famous," "Up the Sandbox," "Supercops" and "Raise the Titanic." He is 6 feet 3 inches tall, has brown hair and blue eyes. He and his wife Claudeis have three children, a boy 15 and two girls 10 and 7.

Now that people are responding to their fuel bills by tightening up their homes, a new problem is resulting. It's called indoor pollution. A typical home has historically had an air exchange per hour of ½ to 1½. Air exchange per hour (ACH) is the number of times each hour that indoor and outdoor air switch places. However, in many new, very tight homes, the air exchange may be as high as only once every five hours. This means that the air, as well as the pollutants, in the house stays around as much as 10 times longer.

Pollutants can come from any number of sources. Formaldehyde is in plywood, particleboard, carpet backing, permanent press clothing, towels, grocery bags, soap and even toothpaste. More than a third of the formaldehyde produced annually is used for wood products. Because of the amounts used, formaldehyde gas emissions, or "outgassing," can occur for as long as 30 years. Nitrogen dioxide levels can reach very high levels in the home due to the use of fireplaces, unvented kerosene heaters and gas stoves. A third pollutant, carbon monoxide, is common in homes with attached garages, particularly if they are located underneath the living quarters. When starting cars in the garage, the exhaust fumes can leak into the home.

These pollutants and others are not new—they have been around for centuries. The difference is, in a tight home, they are not able to dissipate into the atmosphere as easily.

As a general rule, good ventilation can eliminate most indoor air pollution problems. Most experts agree that one air exchange every two hours (½ ACH) is safe. The average homeowner can achieve this level by caulking and weatherstripping an existing home.

However, in a home where a plastic vapor barrier has been attached to the framework, or other measures have been taken to assure tightness, a different approach is needed to provide for an adequate air exchange. This approach is an air-to-air heat exchanger, which allows the homeowner to ventilate the house without losing very much of the heat. When air to air heat exchangers have been installed in homes that have high levels of indoor pollution, the problem has disappeared.

Next month's article will deal with air-to-air heat exchangers-what they are and how they work.

For more information on indoor pollution, contact the Cooperative Extension Service at 11 Prospect Square, Cumberland, Md. 21502, Telephone: 724-3320; or 202 South Third Street, Oakland, MD. 21550, Telephone: 334-2145; or Telephone: 895-3124 at Grantsville, Maryland on Mondays and Fridays.

Computer Talk For Kids

by Stan and Chris Lambert

Have you Apple II+ owners ever wondered how to get upper/lower case letters into one of your Applesoft BASIC programs? Those of you who have an Apple Writer II with an upper/lower case adapter know that your computer can have upper/lower case, but how can it be made available in your BASIC programs?

1. To start with, boot your Apple Writer II diskette. After you have completed this, go into the text entry mode. Type in your program as you normally would and pay special attention to syntax. All of the commands must be in capital letters, but what is inside quotations may be upper or lower case. (To achieve upper case letters, use the SHIFT key. All others will be lower Case automatically). Be sure to hit (Return) after completing a program line.

2. When you have finished your program, save it to a diskette. What you have saved is now a text file. Now, turn the computer off.

3. Take out the diskette that has your file on it and put an initialized diskette into the drive. Turn the computer on. Remove the diskette from the drive and put the diskette that contains your program into the drive. Type EXEC the name of your file (Return). For example:
EXEC HELLO.

4. Your disk drive will begin to whirl, sometimes pausing. Along the left side of the screen you will see several Applesoft BASIC brackets. When everything has stopped, type LIST. Your program will now be in memory with upper and lower case letters.

5. You may now save your program as you would a normal program. Be sure to save it with a different name than the name of your text file.

In the future to gain access to your program, either LOAD it or RUN it.

If you would like to make modifications in your program, boot the Apple Writer II and load your text file that contains the program. Type in the modifications and complete the five-step process beginning with step 2.

Legal Aid Bureau To Hold Meeting

The Western Maryland Office of the Legal Aid Bureau, Inc., will be holding an open community meeting on Friday, May 4, at 3 p.m., at the Deep Creek Lodge, McHenry.

The Legal Aid Bureau, Inc., provides free legal service to low income individuals and families. Because of funding and staff limitations, however, the Legal Aid Bureau, Inc. cannot serve every eligible person who has a legal problem. The Western Maryland Office of the Legal Aid Bureau, Inc., serves Garrett and Allegany counties, and from the Hancock area and west in Washington County. A community meeting is being scheduled in each of these three counties. For further information about these meetings or about the Legal Aid Bureau, Inc., persons may call 777-7474.

"WELCOME TO GRANTSVILLE" community signs have recently been installed on the east and west approaches to this Garrett County community along U.S. Route 40. Members of the Grantsville Lions paid for the construction of the metal frame structures and, during breaks in the weather during this past year, furnished the labor to complete the physical installation. Area clubs, churches and community organizations have furnished their own logos to be placed on the structure which welcomes visitors to the community and shows the many and varied groups within the community. A third sign is scheduled for installation this summer at the south side of Grantsville from the exit off U.S. Route 48. In the photo, left to right, are Lions Bob Watkins, Ron Gillum, Harold Humberson, John Carey, John Braskey, and Mike Downton.

Real Estate Tax Rate Held At 21¢ Per $100

The Maryland Board of Public Works, consisting of Governor Harry Hughes, State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein and State Treasurer William S. James, voted April 11 to hold the State real estate tax rate at 21 cents per $100 assessed value for the year beginning July 1, 1984. This is the fourth year the rate has been 21 cents.

In its report to the Board, The Committee to Study the State Debt, chaired by Comptroller Goldstein, noted that the State of Maryland is actually getting out of general obligation debt. The State is reducing its general obligation debt by more than $95.5 million durtng Fiscal Year 1984. Goldstein estimates Maryland general obligation debt will total $2,314,315,000 on June 30, 1984.

"The State real estate tax rate we are setting is expected to raise $94.9 million, during Fiscal Year 1985. All revenue raised by the State property tax is used to help to pay the principal and interest costs on Maryland's general obligation bonds," Goldstein said. The Board of Public Works must establish a State real estate tax rate by May 1st each year.

In setting the rate, the Board of Public Works took into account $94.5 million in general funds appropriated to the annuity bond fund, and approximately $8 million in other receipts which will also be used for debt service during Fiscal Year 1985.

Grant applications are available from Arthur Murphy, executive director of the Maryland Legal Services Corporation. They must be submitted by May 10, 1984. The $278,000 that will be given in response to these applications will be the first sum of money distributed by the corporation since its inception.

This $278,000 was generated by a second piece of legislation, the Interest on Lawyer's Trust Accounts Law (IOLTA), that also was enacted in 1982. This law authorizes private attorneys to place small and short-term escrow accounts in interest-bearing banking accounts. The $278,000 represents the interst earned from these accounts.

A recently completed study funded by the State Department of Human Resources indicates that Maryland's poor receive legal assistance with respect to only one out of every six legal problems that they have. The study estimates that, during the past five years, an additional 60,000 Maryland citizens fell below the poverty line, swelling the ranks of the poor in Maryland to over 600,000. In light of this study, Civiletti stressed that "the need for legal services is greater than ever before."

In response to this need, the 1984 Maryland General Assembly enacted legislation, which will go into effect July 1, 1985, to provide the Corporation with an additional $500,000 annually.

DECD Selects Winners Of 6.8 Percent Mortgages

Frank J. De Francis, Secretary of the Department of Economic and Community Development (DECD) on Thursday drew the names of recipients of 6.8 percent mortgage loans in a lottery sponsored by the Community Development Administration (CDA), Maryland's housing finance agency, a division of DECD.

Over 2,300 applications were received by CDA for the second lottery held for the low-interest mortgage loans. Of those applicants, approximately 168 will receive financing through the Maryland Home Financing Program (MHFP). Funding for the mortgage loans is from a revolving fund of older MHFP loans.

Three loans, at an average of $40,000 each, have been allocated for Garrett County. There were 21 applications filed from the county.

The maximum loan amount is $48,000 for homes anywhere in Maryland. To be eligible for the lottery, applicants had to fall within income limits of $13,000 or less for a single individual and $17,500 for a family of two or more. Single-family residences, including condominiums and approved modular homes are eligible for financing. Recipients must meet other MHFP eligibility requirements.

CDA announced the lottery on February 14 and over the six-week period distributed, along with participating county officers, over 6,000 applications.

All applicants were given a ranking from the drawing and will be notified by CDA in writing within seven days. Applicants falling within each county's allocation will receive complete information and loan applications. A reserve list of applicatins will be maintained in the event that an applicant drops out of the program.

PHONE MESSAGES

from Leroy W. Fisher, Community Relations Manager

Is There A Simple Way To Save Money On Your Phone Bill?

Maybe.

At C&P Telephone, we understand how important it is for you to get the most out of every dollar you spend for telephone service. But, frankly, there is no simple answer. Because, for the most part, you're the one who must judge the kind of service that represents the best value for you.

For example, if you make a lot of local calls, then unlimited service gives you the most calls for the money.

On the other hand, if you don't make many calls, then a more limited local calling service can save you money. Or you can pay on a per-call basis. For only what you use.

Custom Calling Services—Call-Waiting and Call Forwarding—are low-cost alternatives to additional phone lines or answering machines.

And if you want to save money on long distance calls, remember that C&P's weekday long distance rates are lower from 5 p.m. to 11 p.m., and lowest from 11 p.m. to 8 a.m.

The point is, today you have more choices and options when it comes to telephone service than ever before. And that means a better opportunity to make sure you get the best value.

For information, call your C&P Business Office. The number's right on your telephone bill.

You can count on C&P Telephone to help any way we can to provide you with the best phone service at the best price.

Local Birders Working On Atlas Project To Hold Spring Workshop

Upon completion of the first year of the Maryland/D.C. Breeding Bird Atlas Project, local birders participating in the project will meet for their spring workshop on Friday, April 27, in Room LC-155 at Garrett Community College, McHenry. The workshop will begin at 7:30 p.m. and will be led by Rick Blom, state Atlas coordinator, according to Fran Pope, Garrett County coordinator.

MAP is a five-year project which involves the observation and recording of nesting birds throughout the state and the District of Columbia. These observations, which are being done by volunteer birdwatchers with the advice and assistance of professional ornithologists, are being recorded by the Maryland Department of Natural Resources on computer and will then be published as a series of maps, one for each species, by the Maryland Ornithological Society in the Maryland/D.C. Breeding Bird Atlas.

The Atlas will serve as a baseline for numerous scientific studies on Maryland's environment, bird distribution and the impact of land use changes. It will provide the necessary data to spot critical species and habitats and to propose protective measures where necessary.

The entire state has been divided into geographic blocks for observation. The state has 1,260 blocks, 84 of which are in Garrett County.

At the workshop Blom will return field cards and review the first year's work. He will have the computer print-outs for the blocks and some of the preliminary breeding range maps of selected species. In addition, he will discuss some of the more difficult species to find, such as owls, and suggest ways to confirm them in the blocks.

Sixty-three of Garrett County's 84 blocks were assigned to one or more breeders in the first year, and the local observers recorded 5,000 sitings, second highest among Maryland's 23 counties. Garrett County also ranked second in the state in the average number of species per block (58.34).

Approximately 100,000 records are needed statewide for completion of the project, Mrs. Pope said, a record being one bird species observed in one block. After the first year, 45,000, or nearly half, of the records are now on computer.

Coordinators of the project expect about 200 breeding species to be recorded by the end of the project and already 184 have been confirmed.

The block in the state with the highest number of species recorded thus far is also located in Garrett County, just east of Grantsville. This block contains the Nature Conservancy's Finzel reserve and the Maryland ornithological Society's Carey Run sanctuary. Over 100 species have been recorded in this block.

Mrs. Pope said that more volunteers are needed in Garrett County, especially in the Kitzmiller area and along the Potomac River, plus in the northern section of the Youghiogheny Reservoir. She said all interested persons are welcome to assist, particularly those interested in birding and keeping records.

"Garrett County's first-year achievement is unique since there is no organized bird club chapter in the county," Mrs. Pope said. "The work has all been done by a group of enthusiastic Garrett Countians, plus many birders from down state who appreciate the county's aviflauna and enjoy coming here to observe it. Many species regularly breeding here are absent or uncommon in most other parts of the state."

Persons interested in obtaining more information about the Atlas project or the spring workshop may contact Mrs. Pope at 334-4908 or Sallie Thayer at 387-4114.

DEER PARK

Easter Sunrise Services will be held at 6 a.m. at the United Methodist Church April 22. The public is invited.

Meals On Wheels Group Seeking More Volunteers

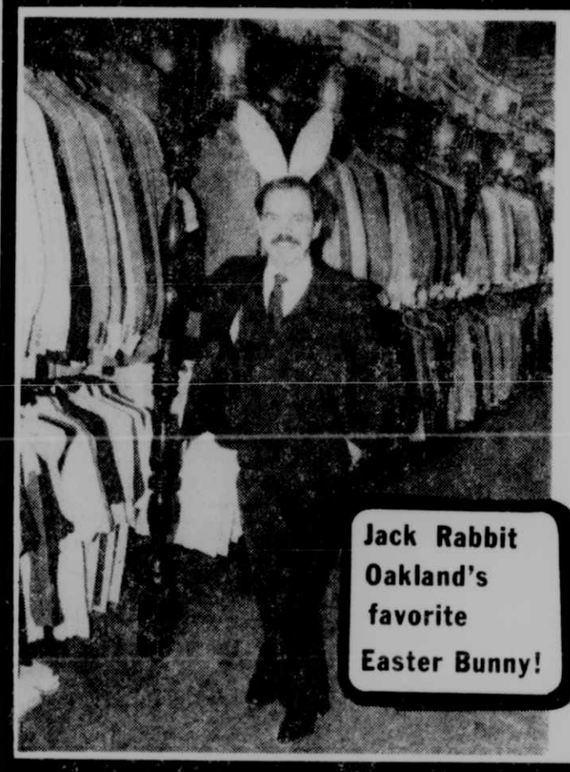
The Oakland area Meals on Wheels, an organization of volunteers who deliver two meals each day, five days per week, to shut-in residents in the Oakland, Mtn. Lake Park and Loch Lynn areas, is looking for new members.

A spokesman for the organization stated that some of the members have moved away or are available only on a seasonal basis.

Each day Garrett County Memorial Hospital prepares approximately 20 meals of a prescribed diet required by the various clients' physicians. The cost to the client is minimal. The volunteers of the program report to the hospital at 11:15 a.m. when the meals are ready for delivery. Drivers usually are able to return the containers to the hospital no later than 12:45 p.m.



Persons interested in becoming a Meals on Wheels volunteer are asked to meet in the assembly room of the Garrett County Health Department, Oakland, at noon on Wednesday, May 2. The meeting will be for all present volunteers as well as new ones and will last about one hour. Elections of officers will also be conducted.

Persons desiring more information about the meeting or Meals on Wheels may call 334-4851 or 334-8566 at dinner time.

America's first compulsory education law was passed in 1647 in Massachusetts.

State Police Speeding Up Arrests

A FAMILIAR SIGHT TO SPEEDERS — State Police Corporal Bill Tower, a native of Garrett County and a member of the Special Traffic Enforcement Unit, demonstrates the technique used by troopers to pull over motorists if they are caught speeding. Sophisticated stationary and moving radar units, airplanes, marked and unmarked police cars are being used by State Police to nab speeders. (Photo by Hoyt A. Jones)

According to statistcs compiled by the Maryland State Police Field Operations Bureau, 130,400 drivers were issued speeding tickets by troopers in 1983 for exceeding the posted speed limit of 55 miles per hour on Maryland highways.

Colonel W.T. Travers, Jr., State Police Superintendent, expressed concern that vehicle speeds have risen and has directed the Field Operations Bureau to increase the patrols on those roads which continue to the problem areas.

The State Police Special Traffic Enforcement Unit, composed of specially trained troopers, has already begun targeting interstate highways in six counties which have resulted in over 3,500 speeding arrests thus far in 1984.

Additionally, the Aerial Speed Enforcement Program, which uses aircraft to detect speeding motorists, reported over 4,200 violators cited in 1983 as a result of the program. A unique aspect of the aerial speed enforcement effort is the ability to circumvent the use of conventional radar detectors used by some of the motoring public such as fuzz-busters.

Examples of several of the motorists cited in 1983 as a result of aerial enforcement included an automobile traveling at 103.7 miles per hour, a tractor/trailer traveling at 91.9 miles per hour, and a motorcycle traveling at 83.3 miles per hour. State Police are projecting an expansion of the Aerial Speed Enforcement Program and an increase in the total number of citations to be issued in 1984.

"We are again seeking voluntary compliance with the speed laws in Maryland and it is our hope that the citizens of Maryland will help in our effort as in the past," Travers said. However, Travers stated that speeders will continue to be arrested.

Legal Services Group Announces Grant Funding

Benjamin Civiletti, chairman of the Board of Directors of the Maryland Legal Services Corporation, announced recently that the Corporation will be making grant awards in the total amount of $278,000 to nonprofit groups that provide civil legal services without fee to indigent clients.

The Legal Service Corporation was created by the Maryland General Assembly in 1982 after the budgets of the State's legal services programs had been reduced by almost $3 million. The Corporation was created to raise funds to both offset these cutbacks and expand the provision of legal services to Maryland's poor.

Grant applications are available from Arthur Murphy, executive director of the Maryland Legal Services Corporation. They must be submitted by May 10, 1984. The $278,000 that will be given in response to these applications will be the first sum of money distributed by the corporation since its inception.

This $278,000 was generated by a second piece of legislation, the Interest on Lawyer's Trust Accounts Law (IOLTA), that also was enacted in 1982. This law authorizes private attorneys to place small and short-term escrow accounts in interest-bearing banking accounts. The $278,000 represents the interest earned from these accounts.

A recently completed study funded by the State Department of Human Resources indicates that Maryland's poor receive legal assistance with respect to only one out of every six legal problems that they have. The study estimates that, during the past five years, an additional 60,000 Maryland citizens fell below the poverty line, swelling the ranks of the poor in Maryland to over 600,000. In light of this study, Civiletti stressed that "the need for legal services is greater than ever before."

In response to this need, the 1984 Maryland General Assembly enacted legislation, which will go into effect July 1, 1985, to provide the Corporation with an additional $500,000 annually.

A spokesman for the organization said that "an enthusiastic group" attended the meeting held on April 12 and discussed many of the campaign issues.

Friends of Mt. Storm Library Group Organizes

Two Charleston, W.Va. residents were guest speakers in December last year at the organizational meeting of the Friends of the Allegheny Mountaintop Public Library in Mount Storm.

Shirley Smith and Dave Childers informed those present of the advantages to forming a Friends group to support the library in numerous ways, such as purchasing small items from clocks to bulletin boards; providing decorations for the holidays, a flag and flagpole, and book and magazine purchases.

The group has met twice since its organization, and at the beginning of this month instigated a membership campaign. The group now has 12 charter board members and the librarian Karen Durst in addition to several other members, and the Friends hope to turn their efforts to help provide a larger building.

The Grant County Library Commission in Petersburg is the major decision maker concerning the Mt. Storm library facility, and is credited by the Friends with the present success the library enjoys.

The Friends have stated as their goal cooperation with the commission to see that all the library needs are met.

The membership year will ordinarily begin on July 1 of each year, but this year the campaign began on April 1 to acquaint the people with the library and the Friends group. Anyone submitting dues before May 14 will be eligible to win a Norman Rockwell limited edition stein which will be on display at the library. The drawing will be held May 14 at 6 p.m.

Dues are $1 for individuals; 50 cents for junior members under 12; $5 for clubs or organizations; and $25 for businesses. Memorials will be accepted and the donor may request specific use of their contribution.

All donations over $50 will entitle the donor to receive a statewide borrower's card for use at any West Virginia library including those on university and college campuses.

Membership forms may be found at the library and several other locations on the mountaintop, or are available from any board member. Children in schools in Elk Garden and Union Complex will be bringing forms home.

Deborah L. Hanlin is president of the Friends of the Allegheny Mountaintop Public Library.

Senator Mathias Sponsors Proposal To Reduce Deficit

A proposal to reduce the deficit by $206 billion over the next three years was introduced late Tuesday by Republican senators Charles McC. Mathias, Jr. (Md.), John H. Chafee (R.I.), Robert T. Stafford (Vt.) and Lowell P. Weicker, Jr., (Conn.).

Calling the budget reduction package "fair, well-balanced, and politically achievable even in an election year," Mathias noted that it calls for $89 billion in spending cuts and $117 billion in new revenues.

Mathias pointed out that a major source of new revenues was repeal of tax indexing. "I called tax indexing a bad idea when it was introduced in the 1981 tax bill and a bad idea now."

Mathias warned that failure to repeal indexing will "guarantee the country massive structural deficits for the rest of the century."

Mathias also predicted that congressional inability to cut the deficit "will destroy the confidence of domestic and international financial markets and very likely precipitate a new global recession sometime in 1985."

He emphasized that federal deficits "are doing enormous damage to the international economy.

"Not only are U.S. exporters suffering from the exorbitantly priced dollar, but so are oil importers, Third World debtor nations and our NATO allies. To finance the deficits, we are counting on European capital that Europeans now need desperately to keep their own economic expansion growing," he said.

Remarking that "I pray it is not too late," Mathias urged his colleagues to give the plan introduced by the four Republican senators "careful consideration. It is the minimum we should accomplish this legislative session," he said.

Thanks a Million . . .

I want to thank all the wonderful friends and neighbors whose prayers and help were such a comfort during the recent illness and death of my beloved husband, Brison Elwood Resh. Brison was Jesus' gain and my loss. I especially want to thank all the people who served the wonderful and delicious meal to family and friends in the Bittinger Fire Hall after the funeral and for all those who gave flowers, cards, food, money and letters; the pallbearers, Pastor Dewayne Johnson for his beautiful sermon, Lynn Newman for the wonderful organ music, Don Newman for singing my favorite song, "Rock of Ages", Mr. and Mrs. Donald Newman for services rendered, the cemetery workers, especially Wilbur Bowser. I will always remember and appreciate your kindnesses. May God bless you all forever.

MARKET VALUE

A way of determining market value goes like this: "The price that one who wishes to buy, but is not compelled to buy, would pay to a seller willing but not compelled to sell!" That's a real mouthful, and prompts a remark like: "How's that again?"

This illustrates that market value is a phrase that's bandied about by many people, but if you ask exactly what it means and how to determine it, they're stumped! It's a figure arrived at by weighing a collection of data. Comparable market sales are analyzed and the price for a home is adjusted according to factors such as size, construction, location, and the time the property is on the market.

Sounds complicated, doesn't it? It's not something for amateurs to figure out. We, as professionals do it all the time, since the correct market value for a property can make the difference between a quick and profitable sale and a home that stays on the market for a long time. That's because market value IS the price in dollars that a home is estimated to bring.

Fortunately, you don't have to go through all that data. You have a simple and easy way to find out the market value of your home. Just ask us!

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone one of our offices.

Assault, Exposure Lead Complaints To Local Sheriff

Garrett County Sheriff's Department personnel received numerous complaints this week which included assaults on two area residents.

Deputy Larry Gnegy responded to a call from Kenny Broadwater, 30, Deer Park, who reported he had been assaulted by his sister, Nancy Lee Stewart, 37, Oakland, at his residence on the Spring Glade Road.

Broadwater was advised of the procedures for filing criminal charges.

An assault on a young Oakland woman resulted in personal injuries which required treatment at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Jeannette L. Sweitzer, 23, was taken by officers to the medical facility after reporting to authorities that she had been assaulted Friday at a residence on Third Street extended during a domestic dispute.

According to reports, two suspects closed Sweitzer's car door on her left arm and leg and her head. After the assault, she reportedly walked to the Sheriff's office as she had been injured so severely she was unable to drive.

The investigation is continuing by Deputy Thomas.

An indecent exposure was reported on April 10 by a woman who was working in the Garrett County Board of Education office on Green Street in Oakland. The unidentified male allegedly exposed himself while having a conversation with the woman.

The suspect is described as being a young white male, approximately 20 years in age; approximately five feet, eight or nine inches tall; and has short brown hair. He was reportedly wearing a blue, felt baseball cap with an unknown insignia on the front.

Assistant Chief Deputy Harland S. Tichnell is investigating the incident.

The destruction of several mailboxes was reported Sunday by several Snowy Creek Road residents near Crellin.

According to reports, the damage was done by a motor vehicle being driven into the mailbox posts and knocking them over. The boxes were owned by Delmus W. Evans, Donald Stull and Charles D. Baker.

Deputy Larry Gnegy investigated the incident.

A destruction of property was reported by Sharon L. Rowan who resided on H Street in Mt. Lake Park.

Reports indicate that on the night of April 12, the window of her 1979 Plymouth was shattered by unknown persons.

Paul J. Hodos reported to police the April 10 destruction of a window in a 1984 Ford Bronco which was parked at his residence on Pensinger Blvd., Oakland.

Deputy Gnegy is handling the investigation. There was no reported estimate of damage.

Another case of vandalism was reported by Edith L. Messenger on April 12 which involved her 1983 Oldsmobile Toronado.

According to reports, the Messenger vehicle was parked at their residence on Dennett Road when someone shot out the rear window. Damage was estimated at $400.00. Assistance Chief Deputy Paul J. Pratt is investigating.

Other activities of the "Drive-In" included: a tour of the Senate floor and reception area, observation of a ceremony marking the 200th anniversary of Andrew Jackson's birth, a buffet dinner at Hogate's and attending the Broadway musical "42nd Street" at the National Theatre.

Farming in Maryland

Wheat Program Changes Noted

Congress has recently passed the Agricultural Programs Adjustment Act of 1984 which implemented major changes in the 1984 Wheat Program, according to Olin S. Davis, Jr., chairman of the Maryland State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

"The new 1984 Wheat Program will include a 10% paid Diversion, an 85% PIK payment and a target price of $4.38," Davis said.

The previous program had required a 30 percent unpaid acreage reduction, which has been replaced with a combination of paid diversion for 10 percent of the farm's acreage base and a 20 percent unpaid acreage reduction requirement. The paid diversion rate is $2.70 per bushel times the diversion acres idled. "Producers may request an advance payment equal to 50 percent of the diversion payment," said Davis.

Producers who had signed contracts to participate in their payment-in-kind will have their contracts revised to reflect an increase in the rate of payment from 75 percent to 85 percent of the farm's yield. "Participants will soon receive copies of their contracts which have been revised to reflect this increase in the number of bushels which they will earn through the PIK program," he said.

The target price for wheat has been changed from $4.45 per bushel to $4.38 per bushel. As a result, the maximum possible deficiency payment has been reduced by seven cents, to $1.08 per bushel.

"The Maryland State Committee has approved a special provision which will allow acreage designated as Acreage Conservation Reserve, and was planted to wheat prior to January 12, 1984, to be hayed or grazed," said Davis. "The haying must be completed before the wheat reaches the soft dough stage, but not later than June 1. There is no deadline for grazing; however, grazing must be sufficient to prevent the wheat from reaching maturity and cannot be grazed to such an extent that the acreage is not protected from wind and water erosion," he said.

Farmers with wheat bases who previously had not signed up for the 1984 wheat program will be permitted to enter the new 1984 program during an April 16 to May 4 signup period. Producers who previously signed up for the wheat program need take no action unless they wish to change their level of participation in the revised program. "The County Committee must be notified in writing of any changes or withdrawal prior to the May 4 deadline," said Davis.

During the earlier signup period, 164 Maryland producers signed contracts enrolling 10,382 base acres in the program.

Motivation, self-fulfillment, diet and excercise are some of the areas women will explore during the all-day session.

Presentations will be made by Sylvia Gannon, Talbot County councilwoman; Judy Godfrey, director, Upper Chesapeake Dairy Council; Janet Drew, Cross Keys therapist; and a local health club-trainer.

Women of all ages are invited to call 245-4345 or 922-3426 for information and reservations.

Young Farmers' Group to Meet

The newly-organized Garrett County Young Farmers' Group will meet Monday, April 23, at 8 p.m. at the Extension Office in Oakland.

Guest speaker will be Rex Holcraft, of the Oakland Southern States Co-operative. His topic will be "Crop Production", with Brooks Hamilton, assisting. Refreshments will be served.

All young farmers between the ages of 18 and 35 are welcome to join the group.

Evans Elected To Membership In Angus Association

John T. Evans, Oakland, has been elected to membership in the American Angus Association, reports Dick Spader, executive vice president of the national organization with headquarters in St. Joseph, Mo.

The American Angus Association, with some 38,000 active life and junior members, is the largest beef cattle registry association in the world. Its computerized records include detailed information on nearly 10 million registered Angus.

The Association records ancestral information and keeps records of production on individual animals for its members. These permanent records help members select and mate the best animals in their herds to produce high quality, efficient breeding cattle which are then recorded with the American Angus Association. Most of these registered Angus are used by the U.S. farmers and ranchers who raise high quality beef for U.S. consumption.

Sheep And Goat Field Day Set At Fairgrounds

A public informational field day on sheep and goats will be held Saturday, May 19, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Garrett County Fairgrounds in McHenry.

The event, sponsored by the Garrett County Shepherds 4-H Club, is the first of an annual event supported by the Cooperative Extension Services of Preston County, W. Va., and Garrett County to better inform livestock producers and the public on all phases of sheep and goat production.

Demonstrations and educational presentations by knowledgeable people will be held from 10 a.m. to noon and repeated from 1 to 3 p.m. Included will be information on diseases and parasites, marketing, no-till pasture improvement, fencing, grazing, forage testing, fitting and showing, shearing, sheep dogs, etc. Animals of representative breeds will be displayed. Commercial exhibitors have been invited to display their products.

A lamb luncheon is planned for the public's convenience.

For more information, persons may contact Ron and Debbie Fulk, Route 1, Box 384, Aurora, WV 26705. Tom McConnell, Preston County, and Ted Sprangel, Garrett County, Extension Agents, are representing their respective Cooperative Extension Services for the event.

Do You Know How Much Water We Use?

A commonly accepted value for domestic water use in the United States is 133 gallons per person per day. If that sounds like a lot, consider these figures for water used in food production (from Parade Magazine, 3/25/84). It takes: 1.6 million gallons of water to feed one person for one year; 12 gallons to produce a baked potato; 26 gallons for a dinner roll; 100 gallons for a pat of butter; 408 gallons for a serving of chicken; and 2,600 gallons for a steak! One typical American meal thus requires from 500 to over 2,000 gallons of water to produce. It is no wonder that Agriculture accounts for 80 percent of all water consumed in the U.S. These figures should remind us to look for ways to conserve this vital natural resource. Remember, if all the water on earth were equated to that in a 55-gallon drum, the amount readily available for human use would only be equal to approximately two quarts.

Mixing Order for Herbicides

There are several important steps in mixing herbicides to ensure successful tank mixing. First, fill the spray tank half full with a carrying agent (water) and begin agitation before adding herbicides. Wettable powders or granules should be mixed first. To aid powder or granule breakdown, it is wise to make a slurry with the herbicide and water in a five-gallon bucket before adding to the tank. Next, liquid chemicals should be combined, followed by emulsifiable concentrate formulations. Then add crop oil or other surfactants and top off the tank with the carrier agent (water). Emulsifiable concentrate herbicides, crop oil, and all petroleum based additives need to be mixed last, since they can keep powders and granules from suspending properly.

After completing these pre-application tasks, attention to details in the field will also increase postemergence herbicide success. Besides constantly checking ground speed, pressure and spray pattern, you should watch for heavy weed infestation. Spotting these areas allows you to slow down and apply more herbicides to obtain thorough leaf coverage.

The following dairy herds were the top milk producers for the Garrett County, Maryland DHI area for the month of March 1984.

Work to be performed under this contract includes, but is not necessarily limited to, approximately 1,100 linear feet of 6-inch force main. Excavation, sheeting and shoring, dewatering, backfilling and paving and miscellaneous construction required to complete the sewerage project are also included.

The "Contract Time For Completion" shall be 120 calendar days. The Contractor shall employ the necessary crews and equipment required to meet the "Contract Time For Completion" assigned to the contract.

Drawings, specifications, and other contract documents may be examined at the Garrett County Sanitary Commission, 313 East Alder Street, Old Courthouse, Room 200, Oakland, Maryland 21550, and at the office of Rummel, Klepper & Kahl, 1035 North Calvert Street, Baltimore, Maryland, Monday through Friday, 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Copies may be obtained at the above mentioned addresses upon payment of fifty (50) dollars, which is non-refundable. Checks shall be made payable to: Garrett County Sanitary Commission.

Bidders shall examine the contract drawings and specifications carefully and shall make a personal examination of the location and nature of the proposed work. In case doubt shall arise as to the meaning or intent of anything in the contract drawings or comprised in the specifications, inquiry shall be made of the Owner in writing before the proposal is submitted. No verbal answers to inquiries will be given. The submission of a proposal shall indicate that the bidder thoroughly understands the contract drawings and the terms of the specifications.

To better insure fair competition and to permit a determination of the lowest bidder, unresponsive bids or bids obviously unbalanced, may be rejected by the Owner.

NON-DISCRIMINATION IN EMPLOYMENT

Bidders on this work will be required to comply with the President's Executive Order Number 11246. The requirements for bidders and contractors under this order are explained in the specifications.

All work on this project shall be performed in accordance with the requirements of the Davis-Bacon Act and Copeland Anti-Kickback Act.

Each proposal shall be accompanied by a certified check or satisfactory bid bond in the amount of five percent (5%) of the amount of the proposal but not less than $1,000, made payable to the Garrett County Sanitary Commission and unless so accompanied will not be considered. The check or bid bond of the bidder to whom a contract is awarded will be forfeited to the Garrett County Sanitary Commission as liquidated damages in the event the contract and bonds are not executed within ten (10) days after receiving the contract for execution. The form of bid bond is bound in the contract specifications.

All proposals must be submitted on the prepared forms, which must remain bound in the contract specifications. Proposals must be signed by the bidder with his name and address, corporate seal affixed, and enclosed in a sealed envelope marked "Proposal for Project C-240565-03, Deep Creek Lake Sanitary District Sewerage Facilities, Contract 13, Underwater Pipeline Crossings."

Proposals made in pencil and/or any other than the prepared forms will not be considered. Changes in the phraseology of the proposal, additions or limiting provisions will render the proposal informal and may cause its rejection.

Bidders shall also complete the following forms which are bound in the contract specifications:

1. Attachment 5 to Federal Requirements, Certification of Nonsegregated Facilities.
2. Form FHA 400-6, Compliance Statement.

Proposals once submitted may not be withdrawn for a period of ninety (90) days after the date of opening of bids.

The bonding company shall be licensed to do business in Maryland. The bonds will be subject to the approval of the Owner.

Now's the time to plan on a home for this year. We are builders of quality homes and businesses. We plan energy savings into the original design.

Buying a home from someone? Shouldn't it be inspected as you would have a car mechanic inspect your car? We do inspections of homes prior to purchase for banks, private parties and businesses.

This is going to be a great year for building, so let's get your plans, or ours to the bank and get going while the weather is unstable.

We are a turnkey contractor—we take it from the plans to the final grade and present you with a key. We thank all of our homebuyers for their patronage and we were happy to have a part in their realization of the American dream.

COMMEMORATES 350TH BIRTHDAY OF MARYLAND — Arbor Day, April 4, was the occasion for planting a 2 year old seedling from Maryland's Wye Oak on the grounds of Garrett County Memorial Hospital. The occasion marked the first Garrett County observance of Maryland's 350th birthday. Mrs. Ruth Calderwood, county 350 Committee chairperson, officiated at the ceremony. Pictured are: kneeling, Ernie Metz, Department of Natural Resources; shoveling, Mike Collins, hospital groundskeeper; standing, left to right, Larry Beck, hospital administrator; Jacqueline Shirer, vice chairman, Hospital Board of Governors; Paul and Ruth Calderwood, Clifford DeWitt, Jane Renschler, Walter Price and Rev. John Grant, St. John's Episcopal Church, who closed the ceremony with a prayer. Also present was Adeline Ruckert. DeWitt, Price, Grant, and Ruckert are members of the Garrett County 350 Committee.

SMOKEY THE BEAR CONGRATULATES Red House School's students on the schools acquisition of a Wye Oak seedling. The seedling was presented to the school on Arbor Day, April 4. Forest, Park and Wildlife Service personnel Paul Mateer and Louise Slaubaugh presented the tree to Red House School principal, Dorothy Spaid. The weather did not cooperate on Arbor Day, so the planting was postponed until a future date.

ACCIDENT PARK WAS THE SCENE of the planting of a Wye Oak seedling April 11. Accident residents looked on as Wayne Fratz, mayor of Accident, and Ernie Metz, Department of Natural Resources, planted the two year old seedling. Five Wye Oak seedlings were planted throughout the county since April 1. The seedlings were distributed through DNR's Forest, Park and Wildlife Service.

Wye Oak Seedlings Planted In County

Five Garrett County locations were the scene of ceremonies honoring the planting of offspring seedlings from Maryland's state tree, the Wye Oak, in the past two weeks.

Seedlings were planted at Accident Community Park, Loch Lynn School, Friendsville School, and Red House. Garrett County's 350 Committee planted a seedling at Garrett County Memorial Hospital in honor of the state's 350th birthday.

The seedlings were distributed through the Department of Natural Resources' Department of Forest, Park and Wildlife Service.

The Wye Oak is a massive white oak tree which has been growing on Maryland's eastern shore for at least 400 years. It was probably already a sizeable tree when Maryland was first settled by white men 350 years ago.

It has been recognized as the largest known white oak tree since 1904, and continues to hold that distinction today.

It measures 27 feet 8 inches in circumference, and its crown spans 165 feet, shading almost half an acre of ground. Despite its mass, the Wye Oak is only 95 feet high.

The Wye Oak retains its health and vigor through the efforts of the Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service, which has cared for the tree since the Wye Oak State Park was established at Wye Mills in 1939.

The inner portion of the tree is hollow, and must be regularly treated with insecticide and fungicide. Its interior is packed with charcoal to absorb excess moisture. Cables intertwine the tree's enormous crown to prevent limb damage from high winds.

With continued care, the Wye Oak is expected to be around for several more generations of Marylanders to enjoy.

Assorted Missing Items Reported To Local Sheriff

The Garrett County Sheriff's Department is investigating several thefts involving a variety of items taken from local residents.

Ervin L. Lowdermilk, Friendsville, reported the theft of a Homelite chain saw on April 10 from his garage located off the Friendsville-Addison Road.

The saw was valued at $200. Deputy Richard Kutchman is handling the investigation.

Gary Bray, Deer Park, reported the April 12 theft of a shotgun and two fishing rods and reels from his vehicle which was parked in the parking lot at the Oakland Elks Lodge.

Loss was estimated at approimately $170.00.

Three area men reported the theft of $140.00 taken while they were involved in sports activities at Garrett Community College, McHenry.

According to reports, Toney Artice, Friendsville, Tom Ritchie, Mt. Lake Park; and Bryan Smoot, McHenry, were in the gym area on April 7 when the cash was taken from their street clothing left in the locker room.

Deputy Richard Kutchman investigated the incident.

Agway, Inc., Oakland, was the scene of a breaking and entering on April 9, although nothing was reported taken.

Police reports indicate unknown persons broke the glass in a side garage door to gain entry. The culprits attempted to open the safe, but failed to do so. A Coca-Cola vending machine sustained $175.00 in damages as the would-be thieves attempted to open it, but again were unsuccessful.

Assistant Chief Deputy Harland Tichnell investigated the incident.

County Planning Director Resigns

County Planning Director Tim Dugan has submitted his resignation effective June 8, the Board of County Commissioners announced Tuesday.

In his letter of resignation, Dugan, who has been County Planning Director since the planning program's inception in 1971, said that "the county might be better served by obtaining fresh staff perspectives on its development issues, re-inforced by my own desire to pursue fresh career challenges."

He said that his work with the planning commission has been "not only an invaluable opportunity for professional growth, but also a source of deep personal satisfaction through participating with the many dedicated Commission members, county commissioners, and other citizens in activities to improve this county."

Dugan amplified his praise of the Planning Commission members in a telephone conversation yesterday, calling them "a superb group of dedicated, hardworking persons with the interests of the county at heart. I cannot praise them highly enough."

He cited the County Plan, adopted in 1974, and the county Zoning Ordinance, adopted in 1975, as accomplishments of which he is particularly proud.

Planning Commission Chairman Charles "Bus" Bender commented, "Mr. Dugan will definitely be missed. He has been a good planning director and will be difficult to replace."

Col. H. J. Jackson, secretary of the commission, said "Tim is a wonderful professional. The county has gained from his knowledge, but with his talents he could be expected to want to move onward and upward."

Dugan said that he intends to maintain his residence in Oakland, and has "become a Garrett Countian over these dozen years, and I'll long remain one whether or not I'm employed here."

Bloodmobile To Visit Grantsville

The American Red Cross bloodmobile will visit the Grantsville Fire Hall on Monday, April 30, from noon to 6 p.m.

Lela Bender, Garrett County Chapter chairman for the visit, explained, "Anyone between the ages of 17 and 65 who weighs at least 110 pounds and is in generally good health may give blood every 56 days up to five times in a 12-month period."

The actual donation time takes about six to ten minutes; it and the mini-physical before and refeshments after take about 45 minutes to an hour. "The sick and injured of our community—accident victims, persons with leukemia or

FARM/CITY WEEK TOUR — A group of local handicapped youngsters learned this week that the milk they drink does not originate magically in a carton on the grocery store shelf, but in fact comes from cows and must go through a rather involved process before it is ready for consumption. The youth took a tour Wednesday of Tableland Milk Producers Inc. in Oakland as part of a Farm/City Week program sponsored by the Women's Committee of the Garrett County Farm Bureau. The trip was organized with Dot Leuba, president of the Garrett Organization for the Handicapped. Above, Gene Matthews, manager of Tablelands, explains and demonstrates how the milk must be cooled after it is pasteurized. Also in the photo are George Swinson and Richard Parrish, seated left to right, and teacher Cheryl Henderson, in the background. Also accompanying the children on the tour was Karen Hamilton, current Garrett County Farm Queen.

NGCRS Will Receive $10,000 In Federal Funds

The Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad will receive $10,000 in federal revenue sharing funds to assist with the purchase of an ambulance, which in the words of squad leader Terry Spear, "was very desperately needed."

The Board of County Commissioners approved the funding for the ambulance after meeting with representatives from both county rescue squads Tuesday.

The Northern squad has been operating with only one ambulance to serve the 275 square mile area around Accident, Friendsville and McHenry.

Spear said that the funds will allow the squad to borrow substantially less money than the squad had anticipated, although a loan will probably still be necessary.

The Board of Directors of the Northern Squad will meet Friday to consider which ambulance to purchase. A special meeting of the entire squad will be held Sunday, April 29 to further discuss the ambulance purchase.

hopes to go ahead with the ambulance purchase within two

Judge Grants Injunction Against Liquor Board

Circuit Court Judge Fred A. Thayer has granted an injunction sought by Quality Foods and McCarthy-Hicks, Inc. against the Garrett County Liquor Control Board.

The injunction prohibits the liquor board from obtaining records about liquor licensees' purchases of alcoholic beverages. The record check would allow the liquor board to determine if license holders are paying the correct surcharge tax to the county.

In making his decision, Judge Thayer agreed that although the state statute gives the board the right to conduct hearings and administer its duties, the statute is also clear that only seven counties have the right to subpoena records as well as witnesses.

The judge also agreed with Quality Foods attorney William Gampel that the subpoena was improperly served. The subponea was delivered by registered mail rather than the sheriff or a deputy in the county where the firm is located.

In his research into the case Judge Thayer determined that the original statute for the

Ice Storm Results In Power Outage For County Residents

As many as 2,000 customers were without service at the peak of this week's ice storm which poured freezing rain on the mountaintop from Sunday morning through Monday and caused numerous downed power lines. According to Jerry Kremer, area line superintendent for Potomac Edison, by 11:30 p.m. Tuesday, the power to all but a few isolated residents had been restored.

Kremer stated that the problem was caused by ice accumulation on trees. In cold weather, the ground is frozen and the trees have a tendency to snap or break, however when the ground is wet the trees will uproot, as was the condition during the recent storm.

Those affected areas included Kitzmiller, Turkey Neck, Green Glade, Thousand Acres, the O'Brien Road, Dry Run area, Sky Valley, Swanton, Keyser's Ridge, Deep Park, Bittinger and the Bethlehem area.

Even though 17 men and nine trucks from the Martinsburg-Romney, W.Va., area were brought in, it was impossible for line crews to keep up with the number of calls received by Potomac Edison.

Kremer reported that at least one crew was out every hour round the clock and it was necessary to replace six broken poles, three of which had to be carried in because the remote area was inaccessible to vehicles.

Kremer stated that he wished to remind customers that patience must be shown during periods when "unforeseen circumstances" could cause a delay in the restoration of power.

Thayer Says No To Zoning Board Exception Request

Judge Fred A. Thayer ruled Tuesday that the Mt. Lake Park Zoning Appeals board has no authority to grant a special exception permit to Lawrence W. Wolfe for the enlargement of El Lobo restaurant, in the absence of a valid amendment to Article 4 of the ordinance.

Judge Thayer referred to Article 4 by saying, "It appears that restaurants, except as pre-existing uses, simply are not permitted in town residential zones, not even by special exception."

The town council had acted to amend the zoning ordinance to allow restaurant expansion by special exception last year.

Thayer's decision stems from a 1982 request by Wolfe to expand his building. He sought and obtained approval from the town for a zoning amendment which would allow restaurant expansion along Rt. 135, and then requested the special exception for the construction of an addition to his building.

Wolfe stated that he is undecided at this time as to what his next action will be.

Commissioners Ask Hughes Not To Sign HB404

The Board of County Commissioners asked Governor Hughes to refrain from signing HB404 into law in a letter Monday. The law would authorize the state to borrow $250,000 for the purpose of planning, design and construction of a conference facility on a state property in Western Maryland.

The commissioners' letter pointed out that a study of Green Ridge State Forest in eastern Allegany County had found that site unsuitable, and "any other state-owned site further west in Allegany County (or in Garrett County) would be even more directly in competition with the private enterprise venture being developed by Mr. Heise."

The letter said that, "especially in this era of fiscal stringency, we can see no worthwhile purpose in putting the State of Maryland $250,000 into debt to construct something in competition with private enterprise . . . Since the purpose identified in the Bill's preamble will be accomplished by Mr. Heis's project, we urge to consider this carefully in deciding whether to sign HB 404 into law."

Commissioner Elwood Groves was recommended as the designated representative of the local governing body as required by the law.

Two members representing the county soil conservation district must also be included. Recommended for the two positions were Shaun Sanders, Oakland; and John E. Hinebaugh, McHenry.

Potential appointees were selected on the basis of individual qualifications and interest.

Final appointment will be made by Dr. Torrey E. Brown, Secretary, Department of Natural Resources.

County Asked To Guarantee Funds For Water Project

The Garrett County commissioners have been asked following the April 17 meeting of the Sanitary Commission to guarantee funding for the Kitzmiller Water Project.

According to Wendell Beitzel, sanitary district administrator, the Farmer's Housing Administration will not permit advertising for bidding on the project until a gurantee has been secured. The commissioners are reluctant to give their decision at this time and have requested a delay.

An appeal has been made to the State Water Financial Assistance Program for $315,000.00 to fund the project

Board Of Education Approves FY '85 Budget Proposal, 6% Salary Increase

At a special meeting Tuesday evening, the Garrett County Board of Education approved its FY'85 budget proposal amounting to $13,170,064.

The board also approved a 6% salary increase for all school employees at the meeting.

The Board received final notification from the state only Tuesday regarding state funding to Garrett County schools. Current expense aid will amount to $4,263,358.

The county will receive $689,000 in additional funds allocated by the state legislature as a result of recommendations by the Civiletti Commission. Included in this figure are additional new funds amounting to $253,553 which can be spent in any budgetary area, and $327,542 which can only be spent for instructional purposes.

Also included in the Civiletti monies are funds for vocational education amounting to $35,273, an increase of approximately $6,700 over last year's allocation, and funds for compensatory education, which show a decrease of $2,600 from last year's funding level.

The board will request $5,442,469 from the Board of County Commissioners this year, which is a $592,469 increase over last year's county allocation.

Federal funding for Chapter One programs, Vocational Education and Special Education, and state funding for Extended Early Education were not included in the budget because they are funded completely by federal and state governments.

According to Ryscavage, five spending areas mainly account for increased expenditures.

The first increased spending area is employee salaries. The 6% salary increase for employees from all departments will cost the school board an additional $663,609 over last year's personnel expenditures. Ryscavage said that one-third of the salary increase will come out of the state current expense category, with the other two-thirds hopefully coming out of the county share. Incremental increases based on seniority will also come out of state funds.

The 6% increase is the amount recommended by the arbitrator called in to arbitrate the salary dispute between the Garrett County Teachers' Association and the school board.

The second area of increased expenditures is text books and equipment purchases. According to Al Ringer, assistant superintendent of instruction, the school board must purchase new spelling books for grades K-8, social studies books for the middle schools, and academic and general math books for the secondary schools.

Increased equipment expenditures will include more equipment for laboratory sciences such as physics, chemistry and biology, due to new state requirements regard-

Ad Valorem Hearing Postponed Until May 2

At the joint request of attorneys involved, Circuit Court Judge Fred A. Thayer has postponed a hearing in the case of Russell Alexander against the Garrett County Commissioners and the Garrett County Sanitary Commission until May 2.

Attorney Robert Watson, representing Alexander and the towns of Mt. Lake Park and Loch Lynn, and county attorney W. Dwight Stover made the request shortly before the case was to be heard April 18.

Both attorneys are now in the process of preparing what Judge Thayer referred to as a "voluminous record" of past documents to be submitted to the court. Rather than lay witnesses, the attorneys are relying on a record containing hundreds of documents, accompanied by narratives on their interpretations of the law. Some oral arguments may be heard during the hearing as

School Board To Recognize Two Bargaining Units

At the Board of Education's special meeting Tuesday, the board decided to recognize two units to represent noncertified employees in contract negotiations with the school board.

According to Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, superintendent of schools, the first unit will be composed of supervisory employees, including cafeteria managers and head custodians. This group would represent about 27 employees.

The second group will be composed of non-supervisory employees. About 178 persons, including food service workers, custodians, maintenance workers, mechanics, secretaries, clerks, aides, and technicians, will be represented by the second group, according to Ryscavage.

Non-certified employee representatives and labor organization representatives met with the school board April 12 to request separate bargaining groups for food service and custodial workers and for clerical and instructional aide employees. The board did not grant that request.

At the April 12 meeting, supervisory employees asked to be included in bargaining, which was approved by the school board Tuesday.

The non-certified employees also requested the inclusion of four hour per day employees in bargaining units. The board decided Tuesday that only employees that work six or more hours per day will be considered full time workers eligible for representation.

According to Ryscavage, labor organizations that have expressed an interest in representing the bargaining units are being contacted about the school board decision.

Separate elections for each unit will be held in June to select an organization to represent each group. Eligible employees may vote for the organization of their choice, or they may vote for non-representation, according to Ryscavage.

THE NORTHERN GARRETT AND JUNIOR NORTHERN GARRETT CHAPTERS of the Future Farmers of America have pledged a donation of $3500.00 to the Garrett County Agricultural Fair Association to assist with the purchase of the fairgrounds in McHenry. The pledge will be fulfilled over a one to three year period. Money is being raised through candy sales, citrus fruit sales, auctions and a variety of other projects including the raffling of a quilt with the FFA emblem. In the photo, Joe Friend, center, treasurer of the Northern Garrett FFA, presents a check for $1000.000 to Lee Shillingburg, left, president of the fair association, and Merrell Wilburn, far left, treasurer of the fair board. With Friend are Sheila Bender, president of the North Garrett FFA, and Mark Rodeheaver, member of the Junior North Garrett FFA. The FFA stated that they would like to challenge other youth and adult organizations to support the fair in a similar manner.

AN UNEXPECTED LOAD OF FIREWOOD arrived at the Rock Lodge Road residence of Beatrice Glotfelty when a huge limb fell from a tree during Sunday's ice storm. The storm caused a power outage which affected nearly 2,000 area residents. The problem stemmed from ice accumulation on trees which in turn caused the uprooting of trees onto power lines. Potomac Edison restored power by Tuesday night to most area residents.

Health Fair To Feature Varied Free Screenings

Garrett County residents who wish to have their posture evaluated may do so on television at the 1984 Garrett County Health Fair.

A closed circuit television will be available so participants may watch Drs. Ronel R. and Earl N. Williams and David Bolinger, local chiropractors, complete the free screening.

The Health Fair will be held May 5 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Garrett County Health Department and Garrett County Memorial Hospital in Oakland.

Among other health professionals donating their time for the Health Fair will be Dr. Michael Wolf, who will test participants for glaucoma, and Dr. Fred Hazelwood, Alvin Friend and Raymond Mansfield, who will screen for oral cancer. Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad personnel will check participants' weight, height and blood pressure and will give a CPR demonstration in the Health Department auditorium.

Tests for blood sugar and hematocrit (level of iron in the blood) will be free, but the blood test that screens 22 items in the blood will cost $8. People planning to take this test should not eat any food for 12 hours before the Health Fair; only water or black coffee or tea.

Following their screening, Health Fair participants will be directed to the Health Department's auditorium and the Garrett County Memorial Hospital lobby. In the hospital lobby, participants will learn what services are offered by the hospital, review an ultrasound display by the Radiology Department and witness a display and tour by the nursing staff, illustrating their different responsibilities in the hospital. The Cardiopulmonary Department will also offer free testing of vital lung capacity.

Statewide sponsors of the Health Fair are Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Maryland, WBAL-TV, the American Red Cross, WLIF-FM 102, and the National Health Screening Council for Volunteer Organizations. No appointments are necessary for any Health Fair activities. For more information, persons may call Rebecca Parks or Liz Rees Gilbert at 334-8111 or 895-5050.

Garrett Theater Group To Present One-Act Plays

An evening of one act plays will be presented at Garrett Community College auditorium next week through a collaborative effort of the college theater department and the Act IV Players. Performances are scheduled for Friday and Saturday, May 4 and 5, at 8 p.m., and Sunday, May 6, at 2:30 p.m.

According to Frances Acton, director, and Ben Sincell, instructor of speech and theater, the plays have been selected to provide a program of varied entertainment.

"The Valiant," by Holworthy Hall and Robert Middlemass, is a gripping drama of a mysterious man sentenced to die in the electric chair who receives a last-minute visit from a girl searching for her brother. This play will be performed by students from the college: Michael Hale-Cooper, the warden; Bob Grove, Father Daly; Tom Altmiller, James Dyke; and Camille Wolf, the girl. It will be presented with permission of Baker's Plays.

In a lighter vein, "A Visitor From Forest Hills" from Neil Simon's "Plaza Suite" shows the dilemma of parents in their hotel suite anticipating the wedding of their daughter who has locked herself in the bathroom and refuses to come out. Featured in this play will be members of ACT IV Players: Maria Gonder, the mother; Bob Ulino, the father; Mike Ross, the groom; and Jana Harshman, the daughter. It will be presented with permission of Samuel H. French.

A third mystery play will be announced at the performance. Co-director of the plays is John Ackerman, with Ben Sincell as designer of the set and lighting. Set construction is being done by students in the Technical Theater class.

Tickets for the performance can be purchased at the door, with reduced prices for students and senior citizens. The program is being sponsored by the Humanities Division of Garrett Community College with support of the Garrett County Arts Council, as part of the Highlands Concert Series.

Mt. Lake Park To Keep Tax Rate At 55 Cents

The mayor and council of Mt. Lake Park have agreed to keep the tax rate at 55 cents per $100 of assessed value, making the motion official at the group's April 12 meeting.

Mayor Russell Alexander pointed out that the rate is the lowest in the county and adamantly said that before raising taxes in the park, he will resign.

The tax discount for property owners will be ten percent for July and August and five percent for September.

The council agreed unanimously to raise the out-of-town sewer tap fee to $500 per tap.

Mayor Alexander informed the council that he had received notification from the census bureau that the population for the town is 1,551. Saying he was outraged by this report because it is inaccurate and also means a cut in revenue sharing funds, the mayor called the census bureau and spoke with Barbara J. Van Der Vate to inform her that the town has just completed an update of the census and the population is 1,848.

Van Der Vate said that certain guidelines must be followed when making a census update and the mayor told her that these guidelines had been followed and that if the bureau does not accept the data, the town will appeal the decision.

Other Matters

The mayor and council discussed the Tillie Frank law which pertains to ordinances adopted by county government which overlap into municipalities. The county commissioners will be receiving a resolution from the town council and will also be notified that that mayor's office wishes to be notified in the future if any new ordinance should overlap.

Four ordinances at the present time overlap into the town and are enforced by the county.

The new calculations from the state department of Health and Mental Hygiene in regard to failing septic grants for Broadford Road and Youghiogheny Plaza have been received. However, before funding is forthcoming, the projects must receive approval of the Board of Public Works.

Mayor Alexander will be testifying in Baltimore before the board on behalf of the town, and he is hopeful that the project can be completed in the next four months.

The mayor was in Hagerstown March 28 to meet with representatives of the state Department of Health and Mental Hygiene regarding sewer rehabilitation projects and force account. He is hopeful this project will be started by July 1, 1984 and completed this year.

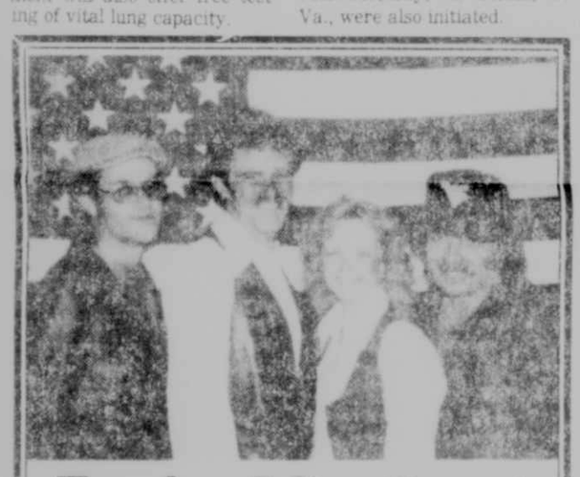
Barbara Hawk, of the Institute for Governmental Services, will be at city hall April 30 at 2 p.m. to review the updating of the comprehensive plan for the town.

Before concluding their meeting, the council discussed the franchise agreement with Columbia Gas, Potomac Edison and C&P Telephone and agreed to pursue franchise agreements with these utilities.

Braskey To Attend Heritage Days At College Park

Garrett County Commissioner John Braskey will be attending "Heritage Days" this Friday at the University of Maryland in College Park.

In a formal dedication Commissioner Braskey will present Garrett County's flag as a tribute to the county's contribution to the state.



The ceremony to commemorate the 350th anniversary of the founding of Maryland will be held between 3:00 and 4:15 p.m., in the Memorial Chapel on the College Park campus. Representatives of each of the counties are expected to participate. Governor Hughes will be present as well.

Commissioner Braskey will be accompanied at the ceremonies by Connie Schroyer, a student at the University of Maryland and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Schroyer of Grantsville.

The theme of the celebration is "Tribute to Toleration: A Rededication." The festivities are intended to demonstrate the university's long standing commitment to the citizens and governmental leaders within the state.

Board Indicates Registered Voters Total 11,963

Latest figures from the Board of Supervisors of Elections indicated that there are 11,963 voters eligible to cast ballots in the May 8 primary election.

Of the total voters, 6,975 are Republicans, 4,669 are Democrats and 319 declined to affiliate.

Between January 1 and April 9, when registration closed prior to the primary, 677 persons registered to vote, according to Frederick Sanders, election clerk registrar.

A comparison of figures with those for the May 13, 1980 primary election show then the county had a total of 11,281 voters, 6,521 Republicans, 4,458 Democrats and 302 declines. This means an increase of 682 voters during the four-year period.

Sanders reminds all persons interested in voting in the November general election that registration will reopen May 21 and conclude October 8.

Grantsville Annex Plans Scrapped

Tentative plans to annex land north and south of Grantsville were halted at a March 29 public hearing when residents stated opposition to the suggestion.

One property owner, however, wishes to be included in the town limits and has indicated that he will prepare a petition asking the town for annexation. Once such a petition is received the town council will initiate proceedings to decide whether to annex the property, according to Wendell Keaton, municipal coordinator.

BANKS ASSIST FAIR BOARD -- Two local banks responded this week to an appeal by the Garrett County Agricultural Fair Association by donating $10,000 to help with the purcahse of the fair grounds in McHenry. The Fair Board will use the contributions to make their final installment on the initial down payment due May 1 and to help with upcoming monthly payments. Above, George W. Evans, left, vice president of the Garrett National Bank, presents a check for $5,000 to Lee Shillingburg, president of the Garrett County Fair Association. Below, Shillingburg receives a similar check from Courtney R. Tusing, chairman of the Board and president of First United National Bank & Trust.

Correction Noted On GCC Story

Figures in last week's story on the Garrett Community College budget proposal regarding the college's request to the Board of County Commissioners were inaccurate. The cash amount provided by the commissioners last year was $671,000 instead of $669,200 as reported. Also, this year's county share including in-kind services was $632,200, instead of $672,200 as reported.

Grantsville Youths Charged In Farm Property Damages

Maryland State Police apprehended three Grantsville youths who were charged with the April 17 destruction of property after they drove a vehicle through some farmlands along the Posey Row Road, near Grantsville.

Female Jaycees? . . .

The issue of sex discrimination has been back in the news lately. It seems that the national organization of Jaycees, a young men's service organization, has taken away the charter of at least one local Jaycee chapter for admitting women to its membership. The action has been challenged by the local chapter and now lies in the hands of the U.S. Supreme Court judges.

While we believe there has been, and continues to be, various forms of unfair discrimination between the sexes, usually with the female gender bearing the brunt of it, we tend to agree with the national organization of the Jaycees in this case. Some claims of discrimination verge on absurdity and this may be among them.

If the national by-laws of an organization restrict membership to one of the two sexes, and a local chapter violates those by-laws, it seems only right that the national organization can legally revoke the local charter.

While anti-discrimination laws are sorely needed, like other laws they can sometimes be bent beyond reasonability. If the judges rule in favor of the local chapter, and thus force the national organization to change its by-laws and admit women, then we can envision a variety of similar forced changes with other organizations.

Organizations such as The American Association of University Women, the Business and Professional Women, and various women's civic clubs may be forced to accept male members, while Rotary and Lions clubs, Masonic lodges and the Elks may be forced to accept female members. Perhaps a case can be made in support of such changes, but we fail to see the harm in having some all-male and all-female organizations, particularly when there exists in many cases companion or complementary groups for the opposite sex.

Who knows, we may soon be purchasing our Girl Scout cookies from a tough little guy named Bill.

Jim Willis Trends

Last year, in a letter to taxpayers, the commissioner of the Internal Revenue Service, Roscoe Egger Jr., noted that those of us who wished to donate our income tax refunds to the government could do so.

Egger offered the procedure because he had received "numerous" inquiries regarding the practice. He explained that the refunds donated to the government would be tax deductible and would be used to help reduce the U.S. debt of $1,450,000,000,000.

Despite the approximately 75 million taxpayers who received at least $60 billion worth of refunds - and contrary to his "numerous" inquiries - the paltry sum of $347,696 was donated. (One IRS mathematician said the plan has paid for one and a half minutes of the $100-billion-a-year interest on the U.S. obligation.)

In an article by the Newspaper Enterprise Association, the national debt is said to be increasing by $22 million an hour. If every man, woman and child in the country were assessed equally (the U.S. population is 230 million), it would cost them $6,500 apiece to retire the national debt. If the children were omitted and the burden placed only on employed adults, the per capita payment would be at least $14,000.

It is such a simple plan really: retire the national debt with public contributions. I just do not understand why the ungrateful population of a glorious nation hasn't responded more enthusiastically. What's wrong with you people any way? Sure, I know you have been looking forward to your tax refund, but for what . . . a vacation - a new microwave oven? I am ashamed of you. Our country is head over heels in debt and you are too busy coveting a microwave to even notice.

Thank goodness we have visionaries in Washington who are looking after our best interest. And as they say, "give 'til it hurts."

EPA Rules Against Mattingly In Grantsville Sewer Project Litigation

The Environmental Protection Agency has ruled against a protest filed by the low bidder for the Grantsville sewer rehabilitation project, and work is now scheduled to begin by the second low bidder next Monday, according to Wendell Keaton, municipal coordinator.

The project was delayed since last September after the low bidder, Mattingly Construction Company, filed a complaint with EPA when the town awarded the sewer work to the second low bidder, Trimble Contracting, Latrobe, Pa. The town said that Mattingly's failure to meet certain stipulations in the contract documents meant that the firm would have to reduce its total bid of $1,025,000 by some five percent. This Mattingly refused to do.

Mattingly's bid for the grant-eligible portion of the work was $965,932.65, while Trimble's was $968,083.95.

Trimble is seeking an additional $30,000 since the project delay because of increased costs, etc. and the town has agreed to attempt to get state and local EPA approval for payment of the additional costs. Some 12½ percent, however, will have to be borne by the town.

Total grant eligible project cost is now $1,390,800. Of that amount, 75 percent will be through an EPA grant of $1,043,100; Appalachian Regional Commission, $69,540, and state, $173,850. This leaves the local share of grant-eligible costs at $104,310. To that amount must be added $143,396 for grant-ineligible items, making the total local share $244,706. The local share will be obtained through a loan from the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene at 9.196284 percent for 30 years.

A public meeting on the project, to provide information, explain easements, and discuss payment of $78,900 for grant-ineligible work on private lands was held last night. Discussion will be held on whether costs should be paid by individual land owners or whether the town could pay for the work and then the individuals repay the town through tax bills or in some other manner.

Commissioners Hear Monthly Staff Reports

The Board of County Commissioners held its monthly county staff meeting Tuesday. According to Commissioner Elwood Groves, reports from department representatives showed county affairs to be "on an even keel."

John Nelson, county zoning administrator, informed the commissioners that the county stormwater ordinance was submitted to the state Department of Natural Resources Monday for approval.

He added that he received approval Monday for the funding of a stormwater management program from the state, but that the county will be responsible for providing operating expenses for the program.

Commissioner Groves voiced some concern about the stormwater management program later Tuesday. He commented, "The state sees fit to implement laws, funds them initially, then the burden falls on county government."

Also at county staff meeting, county Development Corporation director, Tom Jones, announced that engineering and layout work for the Southern Garrett County Industrial Park is nearly complete. He informed the commissioners that he has met with officials from the town of Oakland, and they are willing to be the water supplier for the park. The planning commission will request engineer's proposals for designwork on the water component in the near future.

Leo Martin, representing Garrett Community College, told the commissioners that the college board of trustees has approved FY'85 budget proposal, and that the commissioners will receive the proposal in the next few weeks for consideration.

Environmental Health Director Edgar Harman informed the commissioners that his department will sponsor a swimming pool operators course at Garrett Community College on May 4. He said that spring rabies clinics are tentatively scheduled for the week of May 14, with locations and times still to be determined. He added that the Sludge Advisory Committee's annual meeting will be scheduled for the near future.

James Lupis, representing the Board of Education, requested the attendance of a commissioner at a hearing in Baltimore on May 4 to appeal the denial of funds for renovations of the Northern High School Vocational Education Department by the Interagency Committee for Public School Construction.

Commissioner John Braskey announced later Tuesday that he will be attending the hearing in support of the school board.

Lupis informed the commissioners that the Board of Education had not yet received written notification of the amount of aid the county schools will receive from the state, but were expecting word Tuesday that would allow them to hold their scheduled Tuesday evening meeting to consider the school board budget proposal.

Tim Dugan, county planner, told the board that state funds are available this year to allow the state to purchase development easements for two Garrett County farms, instead of the usual one per year. Farms that are already part of an agricultural land preservation district and have applied for easement purchase are eligible.

Extension agent, Alice Hevner reminded the commissioners of the explanatory program on the computer information retrieval system, "ASSIST," which was scheduled for today at the Cooperative Extension Office. Representatives from all county agencies were invited to attend.

Marilyn Metheny, director of the Commission on Aging, announced that May has been designated Older Americans Month with activities planned throughout the county including exhibits and a commemorative bell-ringing on May 1.

Sue Shockey updated the commissioners on the upcoming Summer Youth Employment and Training Program scheduled to begin in mid-June. She said that 200 youths, aged 14-21, will be participating.

She described a new program for this year, the Maryland Youth Conservation Corps, which will be conducted in cooperation with the Employment Security Office and the Department of Natural Resources. According to Shockey, two crews of ten youths will be working on clean-up, conservation, and erosion control projects along streams at both ends of the county that eventually drain into the Chesapeake Bay. The project is part of the governors Save The Bay Program.

Shockey reminded the commissioners that the Dislocated Workers program at GCC will be ending as of June 30.

Dr. William Pope, county health officer, reported that the Health Fair is scheduled for May 5 between the hours of nine and one p.m., with various screening tests available to members of the public.

dividuals of all blood types are encouraged to give; however, the Johnstown blood center has issued a special appeal to those with O-blood.

"Blood is a vital human resource. It should be available to all who need it regardless of economic status, ability to donate, place of residence, or membership in a specific group."

Bender explained that Red Cross blood donors are part of a continuing system that helps to assure that blood will be available not only for the donor and his family, but also for those members of the community who cannot donate: children, the elderly, and those with chronic illnesses.

"It's too late to recruit a donor once an accident happens or an illness is diagnosed," she said.

but expects to receive $283,000.00 of the request which will require an increase in the local share from the original estimate of $126,000.00 to $158,000.00. In as much as the Kitzmiller project is second only to Shallmar, Beitzel said he does not foresee any difficulties in securing future funding from the state. A stipulation of the State funding is the continued search for cost reduction.

Also discussed at the April 17, meeting a proposal for a more cost-effective treatment facility was reserved for further consideration. The commission told the firm of Greenhorne and O'Mara to proceed with their review of the treatment plant design.

Deep Creek Lake

Henry Doyle of Greenhorne and O'Mara reported to the Sanitary Commission on April 17 that the areas in question by the contractor of that segment of the project along Mosser Road will be repaved in the near future as promised in December.

Wendell Beitzel, Sanitary District Administrator, said that the Garrett County Commissioners have unanimously adopted the Deep Creek Sewage Plan while the State Health Department has approved advertising for bids on the expanded system. Currently the basic system is reported to be 75% completed.

Of the approximate 400 easements, or right of property usage, all but 65 have been secured.

Bloomington

The Bloomington Sewer project which is 95% grant funded has been put on temporary hold because of the State's postponement of additional funding. Beitzel expects to be able to proceed with the design soon and anticipates completion of the system by spring 1985.

Gorman

In Gorman the pumping storage tank on Rt. 50 continues to not be working properly apparently because of a phase convertor. It is believed that the pump itself is not adequte for its usage capacity.

Police Chief's Status To Be Decided Later

It was reported earlier this week by some local media that Oakland City Police Chief Hobart Shillingburg would be relieved of his position as of May 1.

According to attorney Robert Watson, who represents the Oakland Town Council, that announcement was "premature" and another town council meeting has been slated for May 1 when the subject will be further considered.

Watson further stated that negotiations are continuing and a statement on the matter would be forthcoming on or before the next meeting.

The town council had convened in executive session April 17 to discuss the personnel change.

Commissioners Nominate Nine To Yough Board

Nine county residents were recommended to the state Department of Natural Resources for appointment to the local Youghiogheny Advisory Board by the Board of County Commissioners Tuesday.

According to Senate Bill 285, which was passed by the state legislature this spring, the advisory board must include at least three members who own land contiguous to the river. Contiguous landowners recommended by the commissioners include: Brison Thomas, McHenry; Donald P. Sebold, McHenry; and Hazel Duvall, Oakland.

The bill also requires at least two landowners whose property is not contiguous to the river. Three non-contiguous landowners were recommended to bring the total number of board members to nine, an uneven number. Recommended for positions as non-contiguous landowners were Melvin Dunithan, Friendsville; Robert L. Thomas, McHenry; and Deborah Pepper, Friendsville.

Upper Youghiogheny

Discussion was also held regarding current efforts to repair and rehabilitate the sewage system in the Upper Youghiogheny area. Loch Lynn continues to be undecisive about their participation.

Without a comprehensive plan the present approach is little more than a "band-aid" treatment says Beitzel. The Sanitary District has applied for a grant to complete a plan to include Deer Park, Mt. Lake Park, Loch Lynn and Crellin.

Public information meetings will be held to discuss how the plan will impact on the individual communities affected. The meeting for Deer Park is scheduled for May 14 at 7:30 p.m. in the Deer Park Fire Hall. Loch Lynn and Mt. Lake Park will meet at the Garrett County Health Department at 7:30 p.m. on May 15. In Crellin the meeting will be held in the Crellin Community Building on May 16 at 7:30 p.m.

Southern Rescue Squad had also requested funds for ambulance purchases, but supported the Northern squads immediate need. According to Commissioner Groves, Southern Rescue Squad's request has been put "on hold" for the time being, but squad leader Rayma Weeks said that although she is uncertain about when the Southern Squad will receive aid, she believes the commissioners will eventually give the Southern squad assistance as well.

At Tuesday's meeting, the commissioners and squad representatives reviewed the proposed one cent surcharge on county taxes as a long-range funding source. Commissioner Groves said that both squads are in support of the surcharge, but technical details need to be worked out between the squads, the commissioners and legislators that would introduce the bill approving the surcharge in the state legislature.

Liquor Board

liquor board gives the right to call hearings and witnesses in pursuit of their duties. The statute was amended in the early 1950s to permit two counties to also subpoena records, and five other counties have since been added.

Attorney David Shaffer represented the liquor board.

The Sanitary Commission held hearings to hear property owners' protests of the current 13.45 cents per foot front footage assessment. Only three parties attended the meeting to speak-out in their own behalf.

Commission Budget

The projected budget for the Sanitary Commission during the 1984-85 is $8,900,000, mostly coming from federal grant funds. This represents a $5,600,000 decrease from last year's budget. Beitzel states that he expects the county levy to remain close to same as last year.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Your editorial last week was well written about the "best news of Easter." We feel that good reading has its place in a clean newspaper. Our young generation lacks the moral support they really need. At times you print of people who get in trouble and must be cared for in jail or in court. We always read with interest the comments on Page 4 and hope that worthwhile reading may continue.

Sorry, but there is one question on my mind. Why does a hard looking picture (editorial cartoon) need to be near your good reading? At times a person needs to look twice to decide if they are to be people or wild animals. If the people in other countries must be imitated in such a manner, they might even do likewise. If your paper needs to have such pictures they might look better on a Spotlight page.

Sincerely,
Harvey C. Yoder
Oakland

To the Editor:

I would like to thank you and commend you for the beautiful editorial in last week's paper, April 19. I am sure it was a blessing to many people.

Amidst all the strife and conflict in our world today we still have things in our paper that are not all gloom, but a blessed hope. I have shared it with many people and read it over many times myself. I clipped it out and it will be kept among my treasured possessions.

Again thank you and God bless you.

Mrs. Martin Tichinal
Swanton

To the Editor:

Two articles furnished to your paper by Lisa Hetzel, town clerk, Friendsville, have contained erroneous information.

The first article, published in the March 22, 1984, issue stated that two people listed in a letter protesting the recent town election had appeared at a meeting of the council and ". . . said they had not consented to having their names included and would prefer to see the election results stand." The statement was untrue and the two citizens involved appeared at the April meeting to seek correction. The council agreed that a correction would be sent to the paper. However, the second article appearing in the April 12th issue, instead of a statement of fact, contained the following: "However, Ross was unclear how the article wording should be changed."

It appears that the simple fact of correcting a misstatement is beyond the realm of possibility by the Town Administration.

In the event the inability to understand and transcribe the spoken word continues, then the citizens of Friendsville will certainly be uninformed as to actions taken by elected and appointed officials.

C.O. Ross, Jr.
Friendsville

To the Editor:

Hats off to the cast and director, Mr. Snelson, at Northern High School for the play "Handful of Rainbows." The presentation moved rapidly and the players were great!

It was an evening well spent!

ing lab time for students.

Computer purchases for Broad Ford and Dennett Road Elementary Schools are another area of expenditure in the instructional area.

Thirdly, the board has allocated $114,425 for new employees, including four teachers, one aide, two secretaries, one maintenance person, and 1.3 custodians. Funding for the new employees will come out of the Civiletti portion of state funding.

The board also voted to request county funds to add an additional day to weekly schedules of Chapter One aides, making a full five day week. The Chapter One program is currently funded completely by federal funds. Ryscavage said that supplementing federal funds in this manner is unusual, but the board has received numerous requests from teachers, administrators and the Chapter One Parents Advisory Council to fund the aides for the additional days.

The final major area of increased spending is operational maintenance supplies and materials. According to James Lupis, assistant supervisor for administrative affairs, increased fuel oil and other energy costs and higher communication costs due to the break-up of AT&T are largely responsible for increases in this area.

Power Outage

However, during the Garrett County Commissioners' press conference Tuesday, discussion was made concerning the number of complaints received by the commissioners' office.

According to the commissioners, the matter has been referred to the state Public Service Commission in Baltimore and a written explanation will be submitted by Potomac Edison to the commission.

South Pacific

by Lt. Buzz Adams

Preparations are underway in earnest for the Garrett Choral Society's spring production of "South Pacific," the epic musical is to be presented on June 7, 8, 9 and 10 in the Southern High School Cafetorium.

The story of "South Pacific" takes place in the islands of the south Pacific during World War II. The island is replete with a naval installation, a native population and the notorious French planter, Emile de Becque.

Another significant influence, Bloody Mary, attempts to cajole and badger the naval personnel into buying her goods and wares. She is most successful with one Luther Billis, a wheelin' and dealin' sailor constantly looking for a quick buck and a way to the enchanted island of Bali Hai.

From this base, the story weaves into an interesting plot of matches, and mismatches, between the many characters while the Navy attempts to conduct itself as a proper military operation.

In future weeks, we will introduce various members of the cast of "South Pacific," to enable you to derive the greatest enjoyment from the production in June. Mark your calendar now!!

The musical is under the direction of Nancy Learey and is the third musical production to be presented by the Choral Society.

OVFD RECEIVES DONATION — The Oakland Volunteer Fire Department was the recipient last week of a donation of $500 from Hawkinson Tread Service, Oakland. Presenting the check to Donald W. Sincell, president of the Oakland VFD, pictured left, was Gene Glotfelty, president of Hawkinson Tread. According to Sincell, the money will be placed in the department's new pumper fund.

Area Thefts Are Reported To State Police In McHenry

Maryland State Police are investigating the theft of an eight-foot Sun Dolpin paddle boat which was reportedly stolen Saturday from a dock at the Crystal Waters Marina in McHenry.

The blue and white fiberglass craft was reportedly tied to the dock along with two other boats when it was taken. Charles Ruskey, owner of the marina, estimated loss at $600.00.

Tfc. D.G. Riggleman is continuing the investigation.

Emmett R. Pearre, Clarksburg, W.Va., reported to police on April 16 the theft of a Channel Master television antenna from his residence on the Amish Road near Grantsville. The mobile home is used as a holiday residence and had been unoccupied since December, 1983.

Tfc. R.C. Georg investigated the incident.

An October breaking and entering and theft was closed this week with the arrests of three adults from Keyser, W.Va.

David A. Lough, 19, Kimberly A. Braithwaite, 18, and Howard W. D. Gardner, Jr., 19, were charged in the October 20 theft of $300 in cash and an unknown amount of foreign currency from Clyde A. Fazenbaker, Bloomington, in Garrett County.

According to police spokesman, a juvenile, who has not yet been charged, was also involved in the theft.

Cpl. Gary Berkebile was in charge of the investigation.

FITNESS FIRST — The Village Nautilus, which recently moved from McHenry to a new location in Garrett County Memorial Hospital, now has room for more pieces of equipment for area residents interested in toning and shaping up, combating stress and increasing energy. A trained staff of four is available to help men, women and children develop individual fitness programs. Pictured above with owner-instructor Jim Jackson, left, is Mike Alexander, instructor, and some of the equipment used to promote physical well-being. Not pictured are Ronni Domenick, manager, and Michaele LaRock, instructor. In addition to the 17 pieces of Nautilus equipment, the center features four Lifecycle aerobic training cycles, two hot tubs, and their newest draw, a tanning bed for pre-season and post-season tanning. The center is open seven days a week in the basement of the hospital.

Trial Ends With Lengthy Sentence For Oakland Man

District Court Judge Miller Bowen has ordered an Oakland man to serve a two year, 60 day sentence in the Garrett County Jail.

The sentence was ordered for Charles Wayne Moats who was found guilty during the April 16 court proceedings of eluding a police officer, driving on a revoked license and driving an uninsured vehicle. Moats was also fined $250 for reckless driving.

The jail sentence and fine stemmed from a February 25 incident which involved a high speed chase through Oakland as Deputy Charles Nolan attempted to pull Moats over.

Judge Bowen was sitting on the bench for the absent Judge Jack Turney.

Mobile Home Park Request Is Denied By Zoning Board

A request by Harland Beckman to install a mobile home park on Beckman's Peninsula was denied April 12 during a meeting of the Deep Creek Watershed Board of Zoning Appeals.

The board, in its written decision, gave several reasons for denial and took into consideration the planning commission's recommendation that the request be denied.

Other reasons for denial were that no hardship was proven if the prescribed number of homes per acre is not exceeded; there was overwhelming opposition both at the hearing and by letter; and Beckman's Peninsula area is primarily comprised of conventionally built homes.

Other reasons given were that the White Oak Road is a very narrow, dead end street and additional traffic flow could create a hazard, and the increased potential for trespassing and devaluation of existing homes.

Railey Request Granted

At the same meeting, a request for a variance from rear and side yard setback requirements by James Railey, Jr. was partially granted.

Railey had wished to construct residences on two lots, with the homes to extend to within 15 feet of the Penelec line rather than the required 40 feet.

The zoning appeals board ruled that Railey could construct one home 20 feet from the line, and the other 25 feet from the line. This would bring the new homes in line with two existing cottages in the area.

Board members making the decisions were Dr. William Savage, Betty Friend, Irving Day and John Marple. John Nelson, zoning administrator, conducted the hearing.

Employees May Take Time Off To Vote May 8

As May 8, 1984, Primary Election Day approaches, a reminder is being issued by Maryland Commissioner of Labor and Industry, Dominic N. Fornaro, concerning time off from work to vote.

Commissioner Fornaro said, "Any employee who is a registered voter in the State shall be allowed a period on election day, not to exceed two hours of absence from work, if the employee does not have two hours of continuous off-duty during the time the polls are open. The time off provision requires time off with pay; however, the employee must furnish proof of voting to the employer. Upon request, election judges will furnish the employee a receipt evidencing a vote was cast."

For failure to comply with the law, an employer may be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. until 8 p.m. throughout the State.

Commissioners Complete Tour Of Senior Centers

The Board of County Commissioners announced Tuesday that they have completed their tour of all senior citizen centers in the county.

The tour, begun last August, allowed the commissioners to inspect the centers, talk with senior citizens, and sample the meals provided at the centers.

Commissioner Groves commented that, "it was a privilege and will put the board in a better position to make decisions about senior citizen issues."

The commissioners will attend the Mt. Lake Park municipal government meeting Thursday. According to Commissioner Groves, that it is part of a continuing effort on the part of the commissioners to visit each town government to "discuss items of mutual concern."

Maryland's 350th Anniversary Calendar Of Events Available

The Maryland Heritage Committee, chaired by Lt. Gen. Orwin C. Talbott, USA (Ret.) announced this week that its first full color calendar brochure, revealing some of the next nine weeks of heritage celebrations for each county and Baltimore City, is available.

The newsletter/brochure carries the design of the Maryland Magazine Poster on the front. The brochure also lists in detail the publications and projects which have been supported by the Committee. A directory of statewide county 350th Committees and their chairman or contact is listed with an address and phone number for more information.

A calendar lists some of those events occurring over the next nine weeks to commemorate the State's 350th Anniversary of its founding. There are so many events taking place during this Anniversary year, that the brochure will be updated and reprinted in July.

POWER OF ATTORNEY

Sometimes the seller of property is not able to personlly go through all the procedures necessary in selling it. He may, for example, have to leave the city for important business. He can then, if he wants to, appoint an agent to handle things for him. This agent is called an "attorney-in-fact" and acts under what is legally known as a "power of attorney." This individual could be a Realtor or attorney. He acts for the seller.

Under the power of attorney, the agent can convey property. He can execute a mortgage and its assignment, extension, or satisfaction. With a power of attorney to make a sale, he can sign the deed on behalf of the owner.

When a person appoints an agent to act under a power of attorney regarding real estate matters, this fact must be recorded in the county where the property is located. The reason for this is so that the purchaser may know the agent is duly authorized to act for the principal (seller). The agent cannot delegate HIS authority unless he is expressly authorized to do so.

Survey, Planning Grant Applications Now Available

The Maryland Historical Trust is now accepting applications for approximately $175,000 in funding for matching grants-in-aid for survey and planning projects. The funding should be available after October 1, and all applications must be postmarked no later than June 1, 1984.

Grant assistance is offered to local and regional government units, non-profit, tax-exempt organizations, educational institutions and individuals. Recipients will be required to match the grant amount.

Grants ranging in size from $1,000 to $25,000, will be awarded for projects in four categories. Priority will be given to comprehensive historic site surveys and registrations that will expand the Maryland Inventory of Historic Sites maintained by the Trust. Other projects eligible for grants are those that will protect, plan and manage the state's cultural resources. Under this category, funds have been awarded to regional Preservation Centers and Municipal governments.

The third category includes education projects and publications designed to provide the public with information about preservation activities and accomplishments. The fourth category under which grants are made is for specific site studies intended to produce detailed historical architectural and archaeological information.

The National Historic Preservation Act of 1966 authorizes federal grants to the states to conduct surveys and prepare plans for identification, registration and protection of the state's historical and cultural resources. The surveys are the basis for identifying properties for nomination to the National Register of Historic Places and for the preservation activities. The Trust administers these funds in the state of Maryland.

Application forms may be obtained by calling the Maryland Historical Trust's Survey and Planning Division at (301) 269-2438 or by writing the Trust at 21 State Circle, Annapolis, Maryland 21401. For further information on grants for projects dealing with historic standing structures and planning projects, persons may contact the Historic Sites Survey Coordinator, Orlando Ridout, V. Questions involving grants for archaeological projects should be addressed to Richard B. Hughes, State Administrator of Archaeology.

The Governing Body of the Health Systems Agency of Western Maryland met on April 18 at the Sheraton Inn, Frederick. Sister Cecilia Rose, chairman, presided.

The Agency's Grant Application for FY 1984-85 was adopted and released for public hearing. The public hearing will be held on April 30 at 9:30 a.m. at the HSAWM office in Cumberland.

Concerning the Governing Body membership selection process, the Governing Body approved the several persons to be recommended for Governing Body membership to the respective Board of County Commissioners in Garrett, Allegany, Washington and Frederick Counties. The Governing Body approved the local health planning specifications proposed by the Maryland Health Resources Planning Commission with an amendment. The State Health Plan should reflect that regional HSA's will recommend exceptions to the State Health Plan and these should be approved from time to time without jeopardizing the integrity of the State Health Plan.

The Governing Body adopted Plan D of an HSAWM Long-Term Care Bed Allocation Plan which states: Allocate 88 beds to Frederick County and up to 60 beds in any county on a competitive basis and based on the application's consistency with adopted HSP's and SHP.

The Governing Body approved the Annual Implementation Plan for September 1, 1984 - August 31, 1985. As part of its work, the HSA of Western Maryland annually selects projects for implementation that attempt to mediate gaps or problems in health care status and care delivery. The selection of objectives is based in the planning activity, and attempts to bring forward actual improvements in either the residents' health or to cause some change in the health care delivery system. The HSAWM has based this AIP on the work done by the Agency in the past in order to complete work begun in prior years, but also adds two new objectives to assist the residents of the Western Maryland health service area and to assist the implementation of statewide and national health policy. Five areas of concentration have been selected for 1984-85: Ambulatory Surgery, Public Information and Education, Prevention of Heart Disease, Domiciliary Care, and Elderly and Primary Care.

It was requested and approved by members that at a future meeting of the Governing Body, that an education program be conducted on Alzheimer's Disease and be presented by the State Task Force on Alzheimer's Disease.

Sister Cecilia announced that the Governing Board of the HSAWM will meet on May 3 at 10:30 a.m. at the Holiday Inn in Grantsville, and that the Governing Body meeting for May 16 has been cancelled.

Those members present from Garrett County included James E. Cuppett, Jack W. Fridinger, Ross B. James and John S. Parker.

Local Man Injured In Three Vehicle Mishap Monday

An Oakland man was treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital after he was involved in a three-vehicle accident which occurred Monday night at the intersection of Eighth and Oak Streets in Oakland.

Kenneth Rice was injured when his vehicle was hit broadside as he sat at a stop sign in that intersection.

According to police reports, a 1983 Ford pickup being operated by Jeffrey A. Sperry, Mt. Lake Park, was eastbound on Oak Street when he struck a parked 1980 Oldsmobile belonging to Joe A. Eley, III, Hampton, Va.

Sperry then lost control of his vehicle and traveled into the intersection where he hit Rice. The Rice vehicle was then pushed onto its side where it became lodged between the Sperry vehicle and a chain link fence owned by Francis Seifert.

The Rice vehicle was declared a total loss while the Sperry vehicle sustained heavy damages. Approximately $100 in damage was done to the fence and rock wall belonging to Seifert.

Rice was transported by the Southern Rescue Squad to the medical facility for treatment. The Oakland volunteer fire department also responded to the scene.

Cpl. Ron Beeghly of the Oakland Police Department, assisted by Garrett County Sheriff's Deputy Charles Nolan, investigated the mishap. Sperry was charged by Beeghly with negligent driving.

General Assembly Passes Forestry Joint Resolution

Garrett County Project Forester Ernie Metz announced that the 1984 Maryland General Assembly passed House Joint Resolution No. 15 which requests the Governor to designate 1984 "The Year of the Forest".

"It is especially fitting that in this 100th year of Arbor Day in Maryland and the State's 350th anniversary that the General Assembly took note of the value and importance both economically and aesthetically of Maryland's forests," Metz said. "The future of Maryland's forests lies in the good management and wise use of them today and plantings for the future."

The Resolution noted that Maryland's forests are "valuable economic assets and are important to the State forest products industry for timber production. They provide outstanding scenic and recreational opportunities for many activities including hiking, camping, hunting, sightseeing, snowmobiling and skiing. Forests also provide excellent food and shelter for many species of wildlife and have become an important alternative energy source providing wood fuel for both residential and industrial use. The forests of Maryland are important to the State's water supply and the quality of the Chesapeake Bay.

"Forest management is the desirable means to protect and enhance this valuable resource. Accordingly, the Forest, Park and Wildlife Service, the Maryland Tree Farm Committee and the Maryland Forest Association join together to promote and manage Maryland's forests for the future."

Area Mary Kay Rep Wins Buick For Sales Effort

Linda M. Booth, Gormania, W. Va., who has been a salesperson for Mary Kay Cosmetics, Inc., for over four years, was pleasantly surprised last week when she received a notice from the company stating that she had won a new pink Buick Regal automobile. The cars are awarded by the company when a salesperson reaches a certain level of sales ($96,000 retail) over two quarters of the year.

Mrs. Booth, who is a director for the Mary Kay company because of her growth in sales, says she spends about 25 hours per week selling the products. She is also a full-time teacher at the Union Educational Complex near Mt. Storm, as is her husband, Carl Booth. She has attended a number of Mary Kay meetings and seminars in cities such as Dallas, Tex., Richmond, Va., and Philadelphia, Pa.

Her new Buick is expected to arrive some time in June.

Good news: It's not KISSING that causes colds, but shaking hands, or handling things touched by people with colds, say researchers at University of Virginia Medical School. They suggest you wash hands frequenily and clean phones and doorknobs with disinfectant.

Hyperthermia—using heat produced by microwaves to treat cancer—is on its way to approval by the FDA. The heat seems to injure cancer-cell membranes.

New scanning technique for chest X-rays compensates for variations in patient shape and anatomy to produce easier and more accurate diagnosis. Computerized system was developed at the University of Rochester Medical Center.

Gallbladder surgery patients can go home the day after the operation instead of seven days later, thanks to a new tube designed by a doctor at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. It has a feeding channel to permit normal digestion, but removes air from stomach to avoid gas pains.

Blood pressure readings are lower if taken by patients themselves at home where they are more relaxed. Study at the Hypertension Center of New York Hospital-Cornell Medical Center found it a reliable technique.

BAIT AND SWITCH

It's a method of selling that is used to market virtually everything from cars to log homes. The one real pitfall of this selling technique when evaluating log homes is the confusion it creates for you—the customer. For example, one company may advertise a price of $9,000 and show you a picture of a complete log home. In reality, the total cost of the package to create that log home might be $24,000-$25,000 plus freight.

Speaking of freight, if you purchase a package from another area—say, Tennessee or North Carolina, etc.—your freight could be as much as $2,000 or more. If you have financed the purchase of your new home, that extra $2,000 over a 20-year loan could easily become $5,600 or more.

We at Mountaineer Log & Siding want you—the public—to know that we do not use the old "bait and switch" method of selling. When we publish or quote a price, it is for the complete shell package including the floor system, solid T&G log walls, between log sealant, log caulking, thermopane windows, insulated doors, roof system, soffit and fascia, exterior trim, plus the interior partitions and more. In other words, the complete shell as shown in the picture in this advertisement is included in our price. Also, our freight is so low, you'll be very pleased—just $200 including all trucks throughout Garrett, Preston, and Tucker Counties. It may also please you to know that when you buy from Mountaineer Log & Siding Company, you are buying from a local company—keeping two million dollars of revenue right here in your area helping to employ 130 area people.

Property Damage Reported In Area Traffic Accidents

Numerous automobile mishaps, two of which occurred at the same intersection, were reported in the area during the past week resulting in some property damage but no injuries.

Maryland State Police investigated a two-car accident Monday morning that occurred at the intersection of Rt. 135 and the Swanton Hill Road when a 1979 Sierra being driven by Carl Junior Likens, 43, Laurel, was struck by a 1975 Plymouth being driven by Lester William Sweitzer, 75, Swanton.

Likens was eastbound on Rt. 135 while Sweitzer was southbound on the Swanton Hill Road. Reports indicate Sweitzer had stopped at a stop sign but then collided with Likens when he failed to grant the right-of-way.

Tfc. D.G. Riggleman charged Sweitzer in the mishap.

Another two-vehicle accident occurred Monday afternoon at the same intersection.

A 1977 Chevrolet Caprice being driven by William Ray Whitacre, 19, Kitzmiller, was stopped in the roadway on Rt. 135 waiting to make a left turn onto the Swanton Hill Road when a 1982 GMC being driven by Louis Edward Schadt, Jr., 25, Cumberland, failed to reduce speed and struck the rear of the Whitacre vehicle.

Tfc. Riggleman charged Schadt in the incident.

An accident involving a tractor-trailer occurred on U.S. Rt. 48 at the Finzel Road Monday morning at approximately 2 a.m.

The truck was owned by the L.J. Trucking Company, York, Pa., and being driven by Glenn Hartlaub, also of York.

Police reports indicate the driver was westbound on Rt. 48 when he hit some ice, jack knifed and slid into the guard rails and a road sign.

Tfc. Chester Miller investigated the mishap.

A two-vehicle accident was reported on Monday afternoon at the intersection of Alderson and Second Avenue in Loch Lynn.

A 1982 Ford Bronco being driven by Linda Rodeheaver, 27, Oakland, and carrying her children, Chastity, 4, and Shawn, 6, was southbound on Alderson Street when it was struck by a 1970 Plymouth being driven by Hilda L. Winters, 80, Mt. Lake Park.

According to police reports, the Winters vehicle had stopped at the stop sign on Second Avenue but then failed to grant right-of-way to the Rodeheaver vehicle.

Tfc. Riggleman charged Winters with failing to grant right-of-way.

Texas Resident Listed Among Deputies' Arrests

An Alice, Texas, woman was incarcerated in the Garrett County Jail after she was charged Monday night by Garrett County Sheriff's Deputies with driving while intoxicated, resisting arrest and assault and battery.

According to reports, Delia Alviar was stopped by Deputy Dave Crossland for DWI. When she refused to comply with the officers orders, Deputy Charles Nolan arrived at the scene to assist and as Alviar was being put into the patrol car, she reportedly kicked both officers.

Alviar has since been released after posting bail.

Among other reports received by the Sheriff's Department, a Baltimore man was arrested Friday on two charges of felony theft which occurred in the Baltimore area.

Deputy Nolan had been advised by West Virginia authorities, that Alfred J. Greiser was in the Garrett County area and he was apprehended later on Rt. 50 near the state line.

Greiser is being held in the county jail and will be transferred later to a Baltimore correctional facility.

Lakers Split With Beaver Campus, Top New Kensington, Fall To ACC

After more than a week's layoff because of inclement weather, the Garrett Community College baseball team returned to a full schedule of action this past week, resulting in three wins and three losses.

The Lakers split with a powerful Penn State-Beaver Campus team on Friday in McHenry, losing the opener, 6-5, and taking the nightcap, 9-4. Garrett then breezed past visiting Penn State-New Kensington on Saturday, 11-1 and 11-0, before dropping a doubleheader to the 16th nationally ranked Allegany CC Trojans Wednesday afternoon, 11-6 and 7-2, in Cumberland.

Friday's doubleheader, which was played at Southern High School, saw the Lakers drop their fifth one-run game of the season in the seventh inning. Beaver had come into the contest with a 21-8 record.

Tim Bishop led the Lakers with three hits and three RBIs, including his third home run of the season. Ted Sova added a pair of hits. Tim McCoy took the loss on the mound.

In the second game,, which was called after six innings, it was Bob Armeni who smacked his first home run of the year, which was good for a pair of RBIs. Tim Pavlic collected three RBIs on a pair of hits.

Frizzell, who relieved Kocis in the second inning, was credited with the win.

Both of Saturday's contests against New Kensington were called after five innings because of the ten-run rule. Former Southern standout Mark Rodeheaver, who pitched the opener, upped his string of unearned run innings to a remarkable 19. That performance improved his record to 3-0 and his ERA to .051.

Bishop paced the Lakers' hitting in going three for four, including his fourth homer of the season. Pavlic added two hits and a pair of RBIs and Armeni collected a pair of hits on one RBI.

In the second contest, Dan Schwerer tossed a two-hitter and struck out seven as the Lakers took advantage of nine errors and nine walks by New Kensington.

Mike Mathews led Garrett offensively with four RBIs on a pair of hits.

One of Allegany Community College's four losses this season (21-4-1) was at the hands of the Lakers earlier in the year; however that loss was avenged yesterday afternoon.

J.R. Perdew went the distance in the first game for the Trojans, tossing a six-hitter and improving his season record to 6-0.

The Lakers were on top in the first game 2-0 after they picked up an unearned run in the first inning and Rick Day rapped a solo homer in the third.

However, ACC came back to score six runs in the top of the fourth as Marshall Miller, Rod Smith, Bill Collier, Brian Schaum and Mike Wandler all connected for run-producing singles.

A two-run homer by Schaum and another two-run shot by Mike Whitcomb in the sixth inning sealed the victory for the Trojans.

The highlight of the contest for the Lakers was a three-run homer by Tim Bishop, his fifth of the year.

In the nightcap, Miller picked up three RBIs on a home run, double and single, while Troy Ritchie tossed a six-hitter against the Lakers for his third win in four starts.

Rams Remain Unbeaten With Sweeps Over Central Preston, Elk Garden

The Southern High Rams remained undefeated this week on the baseball diamond as they improved their record to 4-0-2 with a pair of sweeps over previously undefeated Central Preston on Friday, 4-3 and 13-7, in Kingwood and over struggling Elk Garden, 18-2 and 14-0, in Elk Garden on Saturday.

Coach Jim Bosley's team, which includes only three seniors, will attempt to continue its winning ways tomorrow in the home opener against Bishop Walsh and on Saturday in a doubleheader against current West Virginia state champion, Berkeley Springs. The Spartans are presently 3-2 and Berkeley Springs is 11-2.

"The best I was hoping for was a split with Central Preston," stated an elated Coach Bosley. "These were two of the biggest wins in my career at Southern."

Scott Colaw went the distance on the mound for the Rams, yielding five hits, and aided his own cause by rapping a single and a triple. Randy Bernard knocked home Duane Evans for the winning run in the top of the seventh inning.

Tony Adkins accounted for all three of Central Preston's runs as he banged a three-run homer in the second inning. Brad Metheny, who gave up only four hits to the Rams, absorbed the loss.

In the second contest, Jeff Sweitzer led Southern's hitting effort, recording four singles and three RBIs.

The teams were tied at 7-7 until the top of the seventh when John Reneslacis smacked a three-run triple for the Rams, followed by Scott Colaw's two-run single with two outs. J.R. Gibson also finished with three hits.

Adkins once again led Central's offense, finishing with three hits, including a solo home run in the fourth. Brad Metheny and Darrell Dupert each recorded a pair of hits.

Bernard, who relieved Danny Holler in the seventh, gained the win, while Dupert took the loss.

The Rams had little difficulty disposing of Elk Garden as both ends of the doubleheader were called after five innings due to the 10-run rule.

Bernard and Renesclacis combined for a two-hitter in the first game as the Rams amassed a total of 12 hits, including a three-run double by Dave McLaughlin in the second inning.

Gibson went the distance on the mound in the second game, giving up only one hit and helping his own cause by recording a pair of hits and three RBIs. Scott Hershman and Jeff Sweitzer each added a pair of hits for the Rams, with one of Sweitzer's being a triple.

Chip Frederick, who allowed 11 hits by Southern, went the distance for the Stags, who are now 9-5 on the season. Denny Simmons was the only Elk Garden player to gain a hit off Gibson, a single in the third inning.

Minor League Practice Slated

The first practice for the minor league of the Oakland Little League (for youth 7 and 8 years of age) will be held this Saturday, April 28, at the Southern Middle School from 9:30 to noon. Parents are reminded that children must be picked up at noon sharp.

In the event of rain, the practice will be cancelled by 9 a.m. and parents are urged to listen to the local radio stations for information.

Parents who wish to assist with the league should report to the field by 9:15 a.m., according to Lawrence Dawson, director.

Legion Baseball To Be Available Via Accident Post

American Legion baseball will once again be available to high school players in the Mt. Top area thanks to the efforts of Accident American Legion Post No. 208. High school players from Northern, Southern, East Preston, Central Preston, Union, Elk Garden, Petersburg and Salisbury are invited to try out.

American Legion baseball had been available between 1977 and 1980 when it was discontinued because of a coach shortage. Phil Caruso will be returning to coach the Mt. Top team this year and will be assisted by Laurence Nesselrodt, formerly of Petersburg, W. Va., now a resident of Garrett County. Other assistant coaches will be Dean Marsico and Ed Carr.

Caruso has had experience coaching the 1977-80 legion teams. Nesselrodt played short stop on a former Grantsville Post No 217 team coached by Caruso.

Post No. 208 will compete in the Mt. District league along with Cumberland and Westernport. The Mt. District will play a 16-game schedule beginning June 12. Home games will be played on the Garrett County Community College field. The season opener will be against Cumberland Post No. 13, Mt. District champions for last eight years.

Tryouts will be conducted in late May. Any player under 19 years of age before August 1 is eligible.

Jim Bosley and Jack Settle, coaches at Northern and Southern High Schools, are supportive of the program and have offered to provide equipment, uniforms and encouragement.

Coach Caruso said, "There is a financial problem in that we will be doing some fund raising to get the program on its feet again." Anyone desiring more information, or wishing to make a contribution to American Legion baseball may contact Post baseball adjuncts Ed Carr or Xie Colaw.

Caruso added, "Legion ball has provided young men with an opportunity to develop and continue their baseball interest in the summer time when they need something to do."

They hope to recruit between 20 and 25 players. Caruso will be providing information to the high schools involved in the near future regarding the upcoming tryouts.

Deputies-Miners Benefit Ballgame Slated For Tonight

The game will begin at 8 p.m. Tickets will be sold at the door at the cost of $1 per person.

Southern States To Provide Training Site For Workshop

The Appalachian Workshop will be handling the plant and garden sales at Southern States Cooperative this spring in a cooperative effort that will provide on-job training for a trainee from the workshop, and a percentage of the profits to the workshop.

In addition to plants and nursery stock, on sale at Southern States will be handcrafted wood planters and macrame plant hangers that are the work of Appalachian Workshop employees.

The project was initiated by Charles T. Shafer, who is a member of the Board of Directors of the Appalachian Center and Workshop, and president of the Appalachian Parent Association. Shafer was manager of the cooperative for 32 years before his retirement two years ago.

The workshop trainee will work under supervisors Joe Browning and Tammy Seminerio, full and part-time respectively.

Maureen Sweitzer, workshop supervisor, said that the project is a first for both the workshop and the cooperative. "Finding on-job training sites for workshop employees has been a long-standing problem. We hope that this first effort will be a success that will encourage other businesses to provide handicapped workers with similar opportunities in the future," Sweitzer said.

The workshop currently offers employment and training opportunities to handicapped adults in Garrett County in the areas of woodworking, custodial services, and food services

Health Transfer Guide Available At Garrett CC

Garrett Community College has recently published the Allied Health Sciences Transfer Guide, listing 15 career preparations which can begin at GCC with a carefully outlined program that will transfer to designated institutions, according to Carole Ann Lovett, coordinator of community services and public information. The free guide is available upon request.

The Pre-Allied Health Science Transfer Programs and the designated transfer institution(s) for each follow: cytotechnology (deals with laboratory and microscopic services in detection of cancer and related abnormalities) transferring to University of Alabama in Birmingham; dental hygiene transferring to Allegany Community College, Cumberland, and University of Maryland at Baltimore; environmental health transferring to East Tennessee State University; extracorporeal circulation technology (deals with operation of heart-lung machine, delivery of chemotherapeutic agents to cancer patients and kidney dialysis) transferring to Medical University of South Carolina; health services management transferring to Towson State University; medical laboratory technology to Allegany Community College; medical technology to Davis & Elkins, Towson State University, University of Maryland at Baltimore and West Virginia University; nursing to Allegany Community College, Towson State University, University of Maryland at Baltimore, and West Virginia University; occupational health to Fairmont State College; pharmacy to University of Maryland at Baltimore and West Virginia University; physical therapy to University of Maryland at Baltimore and West Virginia University; physician assistant to St. Francis College; radiologic technology to University of Alabama in Birmingham; school and community health to Towson State University and surgeon's assistant to University of Alabama in Birmingham.

As in all transfer situations, completion of a prescribed course of study at Garrett Community College does not guarantee admission into the desired program at a two or four-year college or university, Mrs. Lovett said. "Admission into any Allied Health Science baccalaureate program is highly competitive and admissions are always at the discretion of the receiving institution," she stated.

The University of Alabama in Birmingham and East Tennessee State University are part of the Academic Common Market which allows students to pay in-state tuition while enrolled in a specific program at a participating college or university outside their home state. Maryland and West Virginia are part of the 13-state Academic Common Market.

For information on GCC's Transfer Programs in Allied Health Science or the Academic Common Market, persons may contact Dr. George Dailey, Transfer Office, Ext. 167 at the McHenry Campus.

Article About Accident Seen In Mexico City News

United Press International's story about the town of Accident published on Friday the 13th of April, caught the eye of two former Garrett County Schoolteachers, Park and Eleanor Dennis, while vacationing in Mexico City.

Mexico City's English language "Mexico City Bulletin" newspaper carried the UPI article which said Friday the 13th is "no big deal" to the residents of Accident.

The article quoted Accident's mayor, Wayne Fratz as saying, "It's just another ol' day in this ol' town."

The Dennises said that the article increased their status in their tour group from Venice, Florida, where the Dennises now reside. Mrs. Dennis commented, "I think our prestige went up a half notch when they found we had taught at such an ideal and famous place that was written about in the international news.

The Dennises taught English and social studies at Northern High School from 1962 to 1972.

Hinebaugh Pleads Guilty; Remanded To County Jail

An 18-year-old Mt. Lake Park man was remanded to the custody of the Garrett County Sheriff's Department after he plead guilty to a charge of uttering a forged document and to two charges of daytime housebreaking.

Douglas Darren Hinebaugh appeared before Garrett County Circuit Court Judge Fred A. Thayer during Thursday's court proceedings.

The charges against Hinebaugh stemmed from a January 8 incident which involved a theft from a Mt. Lake Park residence.

What do you think of when you see a Church ?

To almost everyone, the sight of a slender steeple raised to the sky evokes certain emotions — awe, perhaps; nostalgia, maybe — the sense that by not going to church lately, you've been missing something!

Next time you see a church, take a good look — and let yourself really feel what you see. If that makes you decide not only to look at the outside but also to go inside, that will be all to the good. For no matter how lovely a home you may live in, it can't compare with God's House. If you open the door, you'll find that, no matter how long you've been away, the welcome is warmer and more wonderful than you'll find anywhere else.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

TRULY WISE & OTHERWISE

Background Scripture: James 1.
Devotional Reading: James 1:12-18.

Christianity has always placed a high priority in wisdom. This is one of the legacies it inherited from Judaism, in which wisdom was highly valued. In fact, there is a whole class of Old Testament literature that is known as "wisdom literature": Proverbs, Job, Ecclesiastes, portions of the Psalms and the Apocryphal Ecclesiasticus and the Wisdom of Solomon.

In the New Testament we can see the influence of Old Testament wisdom literature in the sayings of Jesus—particularly the Beatitudes and parables—as well as various passages in the epistles of Paul. The New Testament Epistle of James is almost entirely written in the style of the wisdom literature.

LIVING RIGHTLY

Unlike the wisdom writings of other ancient literatures, the wisdom literature in the Bible has a slightly different meaning. Wisdom is not equated with learning, or even understanding and good judgement by themselves. Rather it is the knowledge of the principles by which a person lives rightly. As the writer of Proverbs puts it, "therefore get wisdom: and with thy getting get understanding" (4:7). The person who does not truly understand what he knows is not likely to put it into practice.

This is also the way the writer of James understands wisdom. He begins with the advice, "If any of you lacks wisdom, let him ask God, who gives to all men generously and without reproaching, and it will be given him" (1:5). But he quickly makes it clear that the purpose of this wisdom is to enable the Christian to live rightly:

"But be doers of the word, and not hearers only, deceiving yourselves" (1:22).

I wish James had also included "...and not speakers of the word only," for there are many of us who talk an excellent game that may pass for Christian discipleship. We know how to clearly verbalize what it means to be a Christian. But between the speaking of the word and the doing of it there is often a great chasm.

BRIDLE THE TONGUE

Some Christians are obviously in love with the ideas of Christianity. For them the essence of being a Christian is self-righteous argumentation and debate. A tremendous emphasis is laid upon just how a person enunciates his or her faith.

But James says, "If any one thinks he is religious, and does not bridle his tongue but deceives his heart, this man's religion is in vain" (1:26). The unbridled tongue is the downfall of many of us who would never think of physically injuring someone but would hardly hesitate to wound that person with words.

It matters little that we know the right words, unless we understand how to do the word. That's the difference between the truly wise and the otherwise.

Rod Taylor hosts 'Masquerade' reunion

By Peter Meade

Rod Taylor

"Masquerade," which originally aired opposite "Simon & Simon" on CBS and "Cheers" and "Buffalo Bill" on NBC before ABC pulled the show off the air, is back with a mission even a team of secret agents would have a hard time pulling off: getting viewers to watch "Masquerade" instead of "Dallas."

Rod Taylor, who plays Lavender — no first name — the highest ranking national intelligence agent around, had given up the idea of doing another TV series long ago. He already has four to his credit and has been around Hollywood long enough to know that 58-year-old actors don't get many calls to be series' leads.

He had the lead in the 1967 movie "Hotel," but when ABC turned it into a series this season, he never got a call about the role that went to James Brolin. Not that Taylor has been sitting around waiting by the phone. He has been busy with foreign features and says very little television fare is of any interest to him.

But the Australian did finally receive a call about the ABC adventure series, "Masquerade," and he agreed to it because it allows him to play "a little of James Bond every week." Throw in "Mission: Impossible," too, and one has more than a fair handle on what the series is about.

Each week Operation Masquerade goes into action with Lavender, Danny Doyle (Greg Evigan) and Casey Collins (Kirstie Alley) embarking on a new do-or-die international mission. To aid them in saving the day they enlist the assistance of specially selected everyday citizens.

These citizens have been played by an impressive collection of guest stars including Cybill Shepherd, Morgan Brittany and Ernest Borgnine. However, all this international intrigue hasn't taken Taylor much farther than the 20th Century-Fox lot in Los Angeles.

A second unit crew went to Europe to shoot the series' stock footage, but the only parts of Taylor to go along were his heart and his wardrobe. A double was filmed walking in and out of landmark buildings.

Leon found career in a gas station

By Gregory Garver

Michael Leon

HOLLYWOOD — Today, girls follow him home and he is inundated with fan mail. And a lot of those letters contain suggestive pictures from girls who are smitten with his smoldering good looks.

What a difference a few years make. It was just a short time ago that Michael Leon wasn't doing much of anything. It was in the pursuit of that goal — doing nothing — that the actor-to-be pulled into a Los Angeles gas station one afternoon. "None of this would have happened," says Leon, "if I hadn't happened to pull into that gas station at that particular time."

There was another patron, at another pump. He was a Hollywood producer, in the process of casting a movie for CBS called "Sgt. Matlovich vs. the U.S. Air Force," and he needed a young actor — dark, streetwise, goodlooking — for a small but important role. That's when he saw the kid at the next pump.

"He gave me his card," says Leon, "and told me to call him if I was looking for an acting job. I wasn't, but I wasn't doing anything else, so I called him the next day. And he gave me this little part."

Leon, who had been without ambition and drifting until that day, found that he liked acting, and he seemed to have a gift for it. So he began to study and soon realized that he had discovered his life's work.

Today, he plays Pete Jennings on NBC's soap, "Days of Our Lives," and has made the character of that teenager a big hit among soap opera fans. Twenty-three-year-old Leon, who easily passes for the 18-year-old Jennings, has become the new heartthrob for younger soap opera fans. He's been called a throwback to James Dean — the bad guy with the heart of gold.

"I'm really nothing like Pete Jennings," says Leon. "He is an angry young man. I've never been angry. I got into a little trouble growing up, as most kids do, but nothing serious."

The only thing about the part that Leon doesn't like is that his mother takes it too seriously. "The character I play," he says, "always brings grief to his mother. And so my own mother keeps calling me up, after every show, and complaining that I am not being a good son, and that I ought to know better."

Webster (Emmanuel Lewis, l.) shares a moment with his Uncle Phillip (Ben Vereen), who has plans to adopt him — even if it means going to court — in "Webster," airing Friday, May 4 on ABC.

ASK ME ABOUT TV

By Val Carew

I was in Germany when "Mork and Mindy" was on television. When did it premiere? When was it canceled and why? — A.M., Lawton, Okla.

"Mork and Mindy," the series that brought Robin Williams to stardom and helped boost Pam Dawber's career, premiered on ABC on Sept. 14, 1978. Dwindling ratings led to its last telecast on August 12, 1982.

Robin Williams

Dyan Cannon

Would you please take all the ball games off the air. — M.E., Greenville, Tenn.

I hate to disillusion you, but I don't have that kind of power. The sporting events covered on television bring tremendous revenue to the stations and that's why they stay on the air.

I was watching reruns of "Alfred Hitchcock Presents" and I saw an actress named Gena Rowlands. Is she related to Leann Hunley of "Days of Our Lives"? They look so much alike, they could be sisters. — G.H., Belmont, N.C.

The ladies are not related. Miss Rowlands is married to John Cassavetes and was an Oscar nominee for her performance in his film, "A Woman Under the Influence." Years ago she starred in a TV series called "87th Precinct," playing the deaf-mute wife of a police detective (Robert Lansing). That show was on NBC during the 1961 season. Miss Rowlands was also in the "Peyton Place" series, joining the cast in 1967.

I have written to every show that Dyan Cannon has been on and all the letters have been returned. Do you have any place where I can write her? — M.K., Billings, Mont.

Write Miss Cannon in care of Creative Artists Agency, 1888 Century Park East, Century City, CA 90067. Mark the letter to be forwarded to Dyan Cannon.

STARVIEW

Stevens plays sheriff; Lyman's 'Vicious' play

By David Gabriel

GROW UP: Although Susan Clark co-stars with husband Alex Karras on the ABC comedy "Webster," she draws the line at letting the rest of her family perform. However, she made an exception just once. Their daughter Katie was 8 months old when she made an appearance in the CBS movie "Word of Honor" in 1981.

Susan Clark

PISTOL-PACKIN': Stella Stevens just filmed a Western, "No Man's Land," to air on NBC this month. She plays a pistol-packin' sheriff whose three daughters help in capturing a bank robber.

NEW DIRECTION: Give Dorothy Lyman credit for growing in her business. While on a break from playing Naomi on NBC's "Mama's Family," she is trying to establish herself as a director in Los Angeles. She is directing a play, "Vicious," with a punk rock theme that opens today at the 2nd Stage. It is about the night punker Sid Vicious stabbed his girlfriend in a New York hotel. Martin Balsam's daughter Talia plays the victim.

RED LIGHT: Hollywood painted the world's oldest profession in bright lights this season and brought out some glamorous stars to portray the sinful ladies.

Veronica Hamel, a three-time Emmy Award nominee of the highly praised "Hill Street Blues," set the pace for this trend right at the start of the season. She made her starring role debut in a TV movie by portraying an elegant call girl in "Sessions."

Loni Anderson played a high-priced hooker in an emotion-charged drama, "My Mother's Secret Life." Ann Jillian entered the red light district on television in a sleazy movie called "Girls of the White Orchid." Farrah Fawcett played a madam in "The Red Light Sting." And even Debby Boone got into the act, playing a hooker-turned-gospel singer in "Sins of the Past."

TV PEOPLE

Moses tests wings in 'Falcon Crest'

By Joe Haviland

William R. Moses

In the past three years, William R. Moses has done a considerable amount of growing up both on and off the set of CBS' "Falcon Crest." The consistently top-10 series, created by Earl Hammer of "The Waltons," has represented a big break for the young actor who started out doing commercials. But it is just a beginning for Moses, who is eager to expand both his role and career.

"I'm getting older and I don't look like a male ingenue anymore," says Moses. "There's been a conscious effort to try to grow up with the character."

In the series, Moses' character, Cole, is the son of Chase Gioberti (Robert Foxworth), who exudes a strong paternal image as the owner of Falcon Crest. Playing that role has presented limitations for Moses.

"There have been times when I have felt like a planet revolving around the sun, waiting for the revolution to come around again so that I could be in the spotlight.

"Being the son of the hero (Chase) means that when Cole has a problem, it's up to the hero to solve it," continues Moses. "That's the problem facing William Moses' character right now. I would like to have that situation resolved, whereby Cole can be his own man; independent of his dad."

Currently in the series Moses' character has gained custody of his son, Joseph — with the help of his father, who signed over half of Falcon Crest to Angela Channing (Jane Wyman) in exchange for the baby. "Now that Cole has his child, it creates other problems that he will have to contend with.

"Cole and I are a lot alike in that we were raised well, imbued with strong values and morals," says Moses. "We know right from wrong and are both basically easy-going people. In other areas we differ. I'm more decisive and more intelligent, able to get more of what I want. I would like to see those traits more in Cole."

Moses broke into show business five years ago in a Sprite commercial. After leaving the University of Southern California, where he majored in international relations and participated in acting workshops, Moses knocked on doors for two-and-one-half years. His reward for his perseverance was a co-starring role with Victor French in the feature film "Choices."

"It was because of that part that I got in the door to read for Cole," says Moses looking back. And in looking ahead, Moses sees "Falcon Crest" as providing him with the foundation from which he can grow. "It represents a solid start but by no means a pinnacle of success."

Mr. T dolls are a hit; Donahue to New York

By Cindy Adams

NEW YORK — Katharine Hepburn checked into New York University Hospital to have her ankle reset and fused. She moved into the hospital's 11th floor suite with a big entourage including special nurses. She signed into the hospital under an assumed name and had round-the-clock bodyguards at her door.

Katharine Hepburn checks in

Rita Moreno and Dr. Leonard Gordan will celebrate their 19th wedding anniversary in June by getting married again... Mr T banked a $600,000 royalty payment from the sale of Mr. T dolls. His wallet's bulging more than his biceps these days... Ex-Beatle George Harrison is pouring his millions into being a film producer. Up front at Cafe Versailles was Fats Domino, who was flashing oversized diamond rings, a diamond watch, diamond cuff links, studs, a tie pin, belt buckle and two security guards... Besides airing his talk shows from here next season, Phil Donahue wants to host TV specials. NBC's thinking about it.

The other day Gloria Wan, of the classy hair emporium Roger & Gloria of New York, was summoned to the town house of a Mondale supporter. Walter Mondale himself was sitting in the dining room's papa bear chair under a blue harbor robe reading a newspaper. Miss Wan wielded her razor saying, "You're better looking than your photos." "That's what I tell my wife," Mondale replied.

Although Prince Andrew gave Koo Stark the brush, let it be known that she is not without a current beau. Her new love is London photographer Mauro Carraro.

For the seminars Lucille Ball did at the Museum of Broadcasting in New York, she removed a few feet of her "I Love Lucy" earnings to dress the part, ordering 50 outfits from Halston.

Gladys sings on 'AMC'; Clark doubles on 'GH'

By Kimberly Redmond

I would like to know if Lisa Loring (Cricket Ross) on "As the World Turns" is related to Gloria Loring (Liz Curtis) on "Days of Our Lives"? — C.J., Morganton, N.C.

Lisa and Gloria are not related.

On a recent episode of "All My Children" there was a scene after Jesse and Angie's second wedding where they were dancing to a song by Gladys Knight and the Pips. Could you tell me the name of the song? — L.S.W., Palmyra, N.J.

The song is entitled "More, More, More" and it was written especially by Gladys and her brother Bubba for the Jesse (Darnell Williams) and Angie (Debbie Morgan) wedding sequence.

I'd like to know if Grant Putnam and Grant Andrews on "General Hospital" are played by the same actor. — D.R., Sylacauga, Ala.

Actor Brian Patrick Clark does indeed portray both the wholesome Grant Andrews and the not-so-nice Grant Putnam. To help Clark make the character switch mentally, the actor is aided by a shooting schedule which allows him to first shoot all scenes in which Andrews appears and then to shoot all scenes in which Putnam appears.

I'd like to know if Deidre Hall (Marlena Brady) of "Days of Our Lives" is going to have another "Lunchbreak" fan gathering this year? — K.L., Madison, Wis.

The third annual "Lunchbreak" gathering will be held on May 27th at the Beverly Hilton Hotel in Beverly Hills, Calif. Write Evelyn Reynolds, 7811 E. Cole, Downey, CA 90242, for more information.

(Have a question about soap operas? Write Kimberly Redmond at 200 Park Avenue, Room 602, New York, NY 10166. Questions cannot be answered personally but those of general interest will be answered in future columns.)

First United Stockholders Meet

"Assets of First United National Bank & Trust showed the largest first-quarter increase in recent years," said Courtney R. Tusing, chairman of the Board and president, during the report to stockholders at their annual meeting held Tuesday, April 17. Tusing also reported that operations are now "running smoothly" throughout the branch network following the merger of Cumberland Savings Bank in November 1983, and he expressed confidence "in the continued high performance of the bank."

The stockholders voted to fix the number of directors at 15 for the coming year. The following were re-elected to the board: David J. Beachy, Ellsworth S. Boal, Donald M. Browning, John L. Conway, Clay E. Durrett, Gerald L. Glass, Alva G. Gortner, B.L. Grant, Andrew E. Mance, Robert A. Reinhard, Irvin R. Rudy, Jr., James F. Scarpelli, Sr., Richard G. Stanton, Courtney R. Tusing and Horace P. Whitworth, Jr. John E. Geare retired from the board effective Tuesday, April 17, under the directors' mandatory retirement policy. He will continue to serve as a non-voting honorary member of the board for two years.

Horace P. Whitworth, Jr. was elected chairman of the meeting, who called upon Courtney R. Tusing and Richard G. Stanton, executive vice president, for detailed financial summaries and projections. William B. Grant, trust officer, was called upon for a summary of Trust activities.

There were 236,308 shares of outstanding stock represented by proxy and in person at the meeting.

The Board of Directors met April 18 in regular session for its annual reorganization meeting. The oath of office was administered, Earl J. Clark was renamed secretary to the Board, and committees were appointed for the coming year. Courtney R. Tusing was again elected chairman of the Board and president of First United and all other officers were reappointed.

Horace P. Whitworth, Jr. was retained as general counsel for the bank. The firms of Burnett, Eiswert, Crawford & Janes and Carscaden, Gilchrist & Getty were also retained as counsel.

DAR Hears Talk On Indians Of Garrett County

The Youghiogheny Glades Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution heard a presentation by James Ross, Friendsville, on the Indians of Garrett County at the Chapter's April 16 meeting at the home of Mrs. Lewis Jones.

Ross, a native Garrett countian, is an authority on the early history of the county, especially in the Friendsville area. His hobby is collecting and preserving Indian artifacts and relics of the early settlers, many of which were on display at the meeting, along with examples of various herbs and roots which were used for food and medicinal purposes by the Indians.

According to Ross, the Indians were remarkable conservationists and environmentalists who had learned, possibly better than the white man, to live in harmony with nature.

Following Ross's talk, the business meeting was conducted and refreshments were served. Co-hostesses were Adeline Ruckert, Vava Railey, Kathryn Helbig, and Eleanor Parrack. Twenty-eight members were present.

The next meeting will be a dinner meeting at Will O' the Wisp on May 21. The State Regent of the DAR will be present, and the new officers will be installed.

President Martha Bolyard conducted the business meeting. In keeping with goals of the Public Relations Committee, chairman Wilda Wilt announced tentative plans for writing an article about the club's 50 year members, Vesta Stemple and Pearl Stemple.

Betty Fint reported that plans were complete for the Easter party for the children attending the Eglon Child Care Center to be held April 18. The club will be serving the Mt. Lions on May 17. ## Hilda C. Kolb, Michael A. Wade Exchange Vows In March Ceremony

Hilda Celeste Kolb and Michael Allen Wade were united in marriage in a double-ring candlelight ceremony Saturday evening, March 10, at Zion Lutheran Church, Accident. Reverend Frederick S. Illick, pastor, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clark A. Kolb, Accident. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard A. Wade, Jr., Edgewater.

Pre-nuptial music was provided by Angie Zehr, pianist, and Amy Wellborn, flutist. "The Wedding Song" was sung by Kim Wilburn, accompanied by Kristine Maust, pianist. Pastor Illick sang "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by the organist, Marilyn Illick. The bride and groom serenaded each other with singing "That's the Way," also accompanied by Kristine Maust.

Attending the guest book was Chris Ferree, friend of the bride. Distributing bulletins and bird seed packets were Rebecca Fratz and David Fratz, niece and nephew of the bride.

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a gown of white pleated knit, featuring a high neckline with a re-embroidered schiffli lace capelet. Her gown ended in a chapel length train and the matching half-hat was held by a veil of silk illusion. The bride's only jewelry was a pearl necklace, borrowed from the groom's mother, and pearl earrings, a gift from the groom. She carried a bouquet of white roses with white daisies, accented with light blue baby's breath.

Serving as matron of honor for her sister, was Lena Fratz, Accident. Bridesmaids were Rebecca Knox, Oakland, and Donna Rodeheaver, Hanover, Pa., friends of the bride. They wore matching gowns of dusty aqua and light blue starshine polyester, respectively. Their jewelry, gifts from the bride, were gold filigree heart necklaces with cultured pearl centers. Each carried matching nosegays of blue tinted daisies with miniature white mums, accented with white baby's breath.

The groom wore a white tuxedo with a white rose boutonniere. Serving as best man was Aristotle Kalivretenos, friend of the groom. Groomsmen and ushers were brothers, Jeffrey Wade and Spencer Wade, all of Edgewater. They all wore dark gray pin-striped tuxedos with white mum boutonnieres.

The mother of the bride wore a coral colored suit and the groom's mother wore a light blue suit. Both wore corsages of blue tinted daisies with miniature white mums.

The reception was held at the Accident Fire Hall. Jane Murphy, aunt of the groom, and Betty Wilburn, friend of the bride and groom, served the cake. Serving punch and coffee were Lucille Hostetler, aunt of the bride, and Jalene Kolb, sister-in-law of the bride. Also assisting with the reception were Carl and Theresa Haenftling and Earl and Kathleen Wentz.

The bride is a graduate of Northern High School, Garrett Community College, and Frostburg State College. She is presently substitute teaching. The groom is a graduate of South River High School. He attended Garrett Community College, and will be graduated from Allegany Community College in May, majoring in forest technology. He is presently employed by Chic-Fil-A in the Country Club Mall.

Mr. and Mrs. Wade are residing at 800 National Highway, LaVale.

The groom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner, which was held at Penn Alps, Grantsville. Two surprise bridal showers were given in honor of the bride, one by friends of the groom's family, Mrs. Jessie Fee, Martha Fee, Beth Ann Fee, and Mrs. Larry Fee, all of Edgewater. The other bridal shower was given by Lena Fratz, sister of the bride, and Jalene Kolb, sister-in-law of the bride, both of Accident.

Joy A. Wilson Becomes Bride Of Ronald J. Harvey March 17

Joy Ann Wilson and Ronald Joe Harvey were united in marriage March 17 in a double-ring ceremony at the Deep Creek Baptist Church, with Rev. Donald M. Wilson, father of the bride, and Rev. Robert Jennings officiating. Mrs. Lillian Reckner was the organist accompanying Mrs. Carolyn Helbig, soloist.

The bride is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Donald M. Wilson, Deep Creek Lake, formerly from Baker, N.Y. Mr. Harvey is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy W. Harvey, Swanton.

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was attired in a white Victorian style tiered lace over taffeta gown, with a Queen Anne's neckline and bishop sleeves accented with lace. The full circled hooped skirt swept to a chapel length train. A lace cap covered with sequins and pearls held the fingertip veil of illusion, trimmed with lace. She carried an arm bouquet of a dozen pink roses with baby's breath and cascading white picot satin ribbons.

Lee Ann Miles, friend of the bride, served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Rita Harvey, sister of the groom, Lisa Wilson, sister-in-law of the bride, and Becky Opel, friend of the bride.

The maid of honor wore a frost rose colored taffeta dress with full skirt and ruffled neckline and sleeves. The bridesmaids were similarly attired in burgundy colored dresses. They all carried three minuet roses with baby's breath and cascading pink and burgundy ribbons.

Donnie O'Brien served as his friend's best man. Ushers were Don Wilson and Dan Wilson, brothers of the bride, and Robbie Harvey, brother of the groom.

Patti Dixon served as guest book attendant and Tammy Rowen served as program attendant.

A reception was held following the ceremony in the church dining room. A pink, burgundy and white color scheme was carried out in the decorations. The three-tier cake was baked by Mrs. Beth Colville and the reception was coordinated by Mrs. Joan Dixon.

County Grain, Milk Production Statstics Noted

The U.S. Department of Agriculture, in cooperation with the Maryland Department of Agriculture, recently issued estimates of grain and milk production for each county in the state.

For the crop year 1982, Garrett County produced an estimated 612,000 bushels of corn for grain. A total of 11,800 acres were planted in corn for all purposes, with 6,000 harvested for grain use. The county yielded 102 bushels per harvested acre.

In oat production for crop year 1983, Garrett County produced an estimated 246,400 bushels, which was the highest among the counties of the state. The yield per harvested acres of 61.6 also led the state.

Garrett County dairy farmers produced 77,200,000 pounds of milk in the crop year 1983, sixth highest among the states 23 counties. There were an estimated 5,900 milk cows in the county for that year.

Corn, Sorghum Market Prices Exceed Protection

Market prices on last year's corn and sorghum crops exceeded federal target price levels for the commodities and cancelled out deficiency payments.

Olin S. Davis, Jr., chairman of the Maryland State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said the 1983 target price was $2.86 per bushel for corn and $2.72 per bushel for sorghum. During the first 5-months of the marketing year, corn prices averaged $3.15 per bushel and sorghum prices averaged $2.76 per bushel.

The feed grain program authorizes deficiency payments to farmers when the national average market price during the first 5-months of the marketing year is less than the target price.

Accordiing to Davis, 1983 farm legislation authorized advance deficiency payments of 10½ cents per bushel for corn and 10 cents per bushel for sorghum when farmers enrolled in the 1983 acreage reduction program. "These payments were made at that time." He said that any amount paid to participating farmers which exceeded the final deficiency payment on the acreage planted will not have to be refunded before the end of the marketing year. The 1983 crop marketing year for corn and sorghum ends September 30, 1984.

Farm program participants in Maryland harvested about 152,399 acres of corn and sorghum during 1983.

1983 Marketings Of Meat Animals Down

Total marketings of meat animals in Maryland decreased 20 percent during 1983. This along with lower prices received for cattle, hogs, pigs, and sheep resulted in cash receipts of $75.7 million, down 26 percent from 1982, according to the Maryland Crop Reporting Service.

Production of meat animals during 1983 totaled 189 million pounds, up 21 percent from the 1982 production of 156 million pounds. The value of meat animal production was $97.4 million in 1983 compared with $88 million in 1982.

BELTS AS A FASHION ACCENT

Belts can either make or break a fashion look. To help a belt make your outfit, apply some of the practical guidelines given below when wearing a belt.

*Short-waisted women should wear a belt that matches the color of the top being worn. It will give the appearance of a longer waist and better proportions.

*Long-waisted women should always match a belt to the skirt or pant color to balance the figure.

*Overweight women should wear a narrow belt that matches the fabric of the dress or jumper.

*To make a belt stay in place when your figure does not indent at the waistline, make and sew narrow matching belt loops at side seams.

*For the large waistline, a belt of a variety of styles or colors can be worn under an opened vest or jacket for a nice look.

*The most comfortable belts are from ½" to 1¼" in width. When wearing a wider belt, the color should contrast only slightly with the garment fabric.

*Tight belts emphasize a large bustline, a large abdomen and hips. So, for a better-looking figure, fasten your belt accordingly.

*Purchased belts create a good fashion look. Choose them carefully with longevity in mind.

FOOD NOTES

Dietary fiber is plant material which is not digested in the gastrointestinal tract of man. There are some indications that eating fibrous foods may prevent constipation and help to prevent some chronic diseases of the large intestine. Also, fiber is a plus in weight reduction because bulky foods fill you up. The following muffin recipe will be a good way to add fiber to your diet.

BRAN MUFFINS

⅔ cup Unprocessed Whole Bran
1 Cup whole Wheat Flour
2 tablespoons Brown Sugar, packed
½ tablespoon Baking Powder
1/8 teaspoon salt
⅔ cup Skim Milk
1 Egg, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons Oil

Preheat oven to 400° F. Grease eight muffin tins. Mix dry ingredients thoroughly. Mix milk, egg, oil. Add to dry ingredients. Stir until dry ingredients are barely moistened. Batter will be lumpy. Fill muffin tins two-thirds full. Bake until lightly browned, about 25 minutes. Makes eight muffins at 120 calories each.

EXTENSION HAPPENINGS

The first in a series of five "New Weigh of Life" classes will be held on Tuesday, May 1st at 10 a.m. and again at 7 p.m. at the Oakland Extension Office. Participants in this class will learn how to eat sensibly and exercise in order to lose excess pounds and keep them off. All interested persons are invited to attend—come ready to exercise. Charlie Mason, Superintendent of the Tractor Pull Contest at the Garrett County Fair is asking any interested contestant to attend a rules and regulations policy meeting this coming Monday, April 30, at 7:30 p.m. in the Extension Office, Oakland, Md. This will be your opportunity to voice your concerns, etc.

Processing High Moisture Corn

A moderately coarse grind with all kernels cracked or broken provides the most desirable preparation in terms of acceptabilty and digestibility. The cob pieces should be no larger than a pea. This facilitates good packing and prevents sorting by animals. Illinois researchers have reported four more pounds of milk per cow per day when cows received rolled, high moisture shelled corn compared to whole, high moisture corn.

Furadan—Boosts Alfalfa Yields

Tests at the University of Maryland indicate that the use of the insecticide Furadan with Alfalfa (new seeding) greatly increases yields. Les Vough, Forage Specialist, suggests that you use 1.5 lbs of active ingredient (which is 10 lbs. of Furadan 15G.) per acre. If you mix the Furadan with the seed, you can cut back to 7½ lbs. of Furadan 15G. per acre.

Plant One - Grow Many

Viola tricolor, commonly called Johnny Jump-Ups, can be a welcome addition to any garden. As a member of the violet family, these little plants push up smiling faces of blooms from early May until very hot days of summer. Flowers may be solid or mixed colors of purple, yellow and white. Johnny Jump-Ups drop many seeds so they reappear year after year. In fact, they may spread rather quickly to become bothersome but beautiful plants throughout plant beds and mulched planting areas. Plants may appear in lawns—even between cracks in sidewalks. But they don't become competitive weeds, impossible to keep in bounds. Either purchased as plants or started indoors from seed, Johnny Jump-Ups are suitable as an edging plant in front of shrubs or in flower and rock gardens.

Maryland Air, Water Quality Atlas Available

The quality of Maryland's air and water has been depicted on statewide maps for the first time. The Maryland Office of Environmental Programs, Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, is now distributing the Maryland Air and Water Quality Atlas, according to Adele Wilzack, Secretary of the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene.

The Atlas is an explanation of the impact of pollution on the State's environmental quality. It describes current levels of air, surface water and groundwater quality through pictures, text and maps.

The Atlas portrays Maryland's natural environmental setting and briefly traces the State's environmental history. In a general way, the maps describe where pollution problems exist, where sources are, where certain sensitive resources are located, and how these relate to each other.

William M. Eichbaum, Assistant Secretary for Environmental Programs, said that the Atlas is but the first phase of an effort to develop a long range environmental quality plan. He said, "The Atlas presents a composite picture of many important issues of concern to OEP."

With the assistance of the public, OEP will develop long-range pollution control goals and strategies for achieving them. The distribution of the Atlas is the starting point for this planning process.

Copies of the Maryland Air and Water Quality Atlas are available by calling Linda Smeyne, Public Affairs Officer for Environmental Programs, (301) 383-2742.

PROJECT C-240565-03
DEEP CREEK LAKE
SANITARY DISTRICT
SEWERAGE FACILITIES

ADVERTISEMENT

Sealed proposals for constructing underwater pipeline crossing in and about Deep Creek Lake will be received by the Garrett County Sanitary Commission, synonymous with "the Owner," until 11:00 a.m., official Eastern Time, June 5, 1984, at which time they will be publicly opened and read aloud.

Work to be performed under this contract includes, but is not necessarily limited to, approximately 1,100 linear feet of 6-inch force main. Excavation, sheeting and shoring, dewatering, backfilling and paving and miscellaneous construction required to complete the sewerage project are also included.

The "Contract Time For Completion" shall be 120 calendar days. The Contractor shall employ the necessary crews and equipment required to meet the "Contract Time For Completion" assigned to the contract.

Drawings, specifications, and other contract documents may be examined at the Garrett County Sanitary Commission, 313 East Alder Street, Old Courthouse, Room 200, Oakland, Maryland 21550, and at the office of Rummel, Klepper & Kahl, 1035 North Calvert Street, Baltimore, Maryland, Monday through Friday, 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Copies may be obtained at the above mentioned addresses upon payment of fifty (50) dollars, which is non-refundable. Checks shall be made payable to: Garrett County Sanitary Commission.

Bidders shall examine the contract drawings and specifications carefully and shall make a personal examination of the location and nature of the proposed work. In case doubt shall arise as to the meaning or intent of anything in the contract drawings or comprised in the specifications, inquiry shall be made of the Owner in writing before the proposal is submitted. No verbal answers to inquiries will be given. The submission of a proposal shall indicate that the bidder thoroughly understands the contract drawings and the terms of the specifications.

To better insure fair competition and to permit a determination of the lowest bidder, unresponsive bids or bids obviously unbalanced, may be rejected by the Owner.

NON-DISCRIMINATION IN EMPLOYMENT

Bidders on this work will be required to comply with the President's Executive Order Number 11246. The requirements for bidders and contractors under this order are explained in the specifications.

All work on this project shall be performed in accordance with the requirements of the Davis-Bacon Act and Copeland Anti-Kickback Act.

Each proposal shall be accompanied by a certified check or satisfactory bid bond in the amount of five percent (5%) of the amount of the proposal but not less than $1,000, made payable to the Garrett County Sanitary Commission and unless so accompanied will not be considered. The check or bid bond of the bidder to whom a contract is awarded will be forfeited to the Garrett County Sanitary Commission as liquidated damages in the event the contract and bonds are not executed within ten (10) days after receiving the contract for execution. The form of bid bond is bound in the contract specifications.

All proposals must be submitted on the prepared forms, which must remain bound in the contract specifications. Proposals must be signed by the bidder with his name and address, corporate seal affixed, and enclosed in a sealed envelope marked "Proposal for Project C-240565-03, Deep Creek Lake Sanitary District Sewerage Facilities, Contract 13, Underwater Pipeline Crossings."

Proposals made in pencil and/or any other than the prepared forms will not be considered. Changes in the phraseology of the proposal, additions or limiting provisions will render the proposal informal and may cause its rejection.

Bidders shall also complete the following forms which are bound in the contract specifications:

1. Attachment 5 to Federal Requirements, Certification of Nonsegregated Facilities.
2. Form FHA 400-6, Compliance Statement.

Proposals once submitted may not be withdrawn for a period of ninety (90) days after the date of opening of bids.

The successful bidder or bidders will be required to furnish individual performance and payment bonds to the Garrett County Sanitary Commission, each in a sum equal to one hundred percent (100%) of the amount of his proposal, similar to the form of bond hereto attached. The bonding company shall be licensed to do business in Maryland. The bonds will be subject to the approval of the Owner.

The right is reserved to waive informalities, to reject any or all proposals, to advertise for new bids, to proceed to do the work otherwise or to defer or abandon the work, as the interests of the Owner may require.

Now's the time to plan on a home for this year. We are builders of quality homes and businesses. We plan energy savings into the original design.

Buying a home from someone? Shouldn't it be inspected as you would have a car mechanic inspect your car? We do inspections of homes prior to purchase for banks, private parties and businesses.

This is going to be a great year for building, so let's get your plans, or ours to the bank and get going while the weather is unstable.

We are a turnkey contractor—we take it from the plans to the final grade and present you with a key. We thank all of our homebuyers for their patronage and we were happy to have a part in their realization of the American dream.

Bambacus Seeks Delegate Post To Convention

State Senator John N. Bambacus (R-Allegany, Garrett) has announced his candidacy for Delegate to the Republican National Convention, subject to the May 8 Primary Election.

In November of 1982, Bambacus was elected to the Maryland General Assembly as State Senator representing District 1, Allegany and Garrett Counties, and was assigned to the Senate Constitutional and Public Law Committee as well as the Joint Committee on Federal Relations.

Senator Bambacus was elected chairman of Senate Select Committee 1 for the three Appalachian Western Maryland counties, and serves on the Special Joint Oversight Committee for Economic and Community Development. Other statutory Committee assignments, also reflecting the Senator's areas of particular interest, have been to the Governor's Task Force on State Support for Volunteer Fire, Rescue and Ambulance Companies, the Subcommittee on Transportation for the Handicapped, and the Hazardous and Toxic Materials Study Commission. He was also recently appointed to the Advisory Committee for Adult and Community Services by the State Board of Education, and has accepted the General Chairmanship of the Mental Health Association's Bellringer Drive.

During the course of his term in the Maryland Senate, major legislative initiatives have been taken in the areas of education, criminal justice, economic development, consumer and child protection and environmental protection.

A member of the staff at Frostburg State College since 1970, Bambacus holds teaching responsibilities in state and local government, political behavior, and intergovernmental relations. He also directs the College's Public Affairs Institute and Internship Program. In that capacity, he works closely with national, state and local officials.

In 1979, Bambacus joined the staff of U.S. Senator Charles McC Mathias, Jr. as statewide campaign director, and later continued his relationship as a part-time special assistant. A former member of the Frostburg City Council, Bambacus served as Commissioner of Finance and Revenue following his election to the Council in 1976.

Bambacus is a former member of the U.S. Marine Corps and a Vietnam Veteran. He has been active in Boy Scouting and has served as a member of the board of directors of the Tri-County Council, Human Resources Development Commission, Frostburg Community Hospital and the Frostburg State College Foundation.

Senator Bambacus was educated in the Maryland public schools. Married to the former Karen Messina, Senator and Mrs. Bambacus reside in Frostburg.

Senior Citizens Group Travels To South Carolina

Forty-four senior citizens and members of the local Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons departed from Oakland at 6 a.m. on April 16 for a week's visit to Myrtle Beach, South Carolina. The tour was arranged by Ernest and Alice Spoerlein, and was accompanied by Martha Armstrong, tour guide, and Jim Abe, driver for the Blue and White Bus Lines.

The group visited Brookgreen Gardens where over 400 works of sculpture, representative of America's finest sculptors of the 19th and 20th centuries, are displayed. The Gardens are located on the site of a former plantation home where indigo and rice crops were once raised. They contain over 1,600 species of plants, and a wide variety of animals native to the region.

Sometime was spent at the Myrtle Square Mall for shopping, and for viewing the largest clock in the United States. In the evening the group took a sunset dinner cruise aboard the cruise ship "America". A narrated course on the winding Atlantic Intracostal Waterway was presented, and a buffet dinner was served.

A guided sight-seeing tour of the city of Charleston was included in the tour package. Charleston is considered by some to be America's most historic city. Settled in 1670, and originally named Charles Town, the best of the city's English and French characteristics have been restored and preserved.

The group visited the Waccamaw Pottery in Myrtle Beach. Located on 35 acres, and comprising over 200,000 square feet of space, the pottery offers merchandise from all over the world for sale.

The Seniors returned to Oakland Friday night, April 20.

Members of the tour group were: Ernest and Alice Spoerlein, Joe and Hazel Welch, Earle and Dorothy Lear, Arleigh and Mabel Hauser, Keith and Evelyn Steyer, Paul and Eileen Steyer, Linwood and Wilma Bittinger, Kenneth and Frances Bray, Elizabeth McComas, Elsie Cross, Lena Wolfe, Ruth Martin, Anne Conner, Carrie Harford, Beulah Sisler, Helen Friend, Beatrice Holler, Oma Ferrell, Jean Sollars, Elizabeth Watkins, Alma George, Marguerite Wotring, Mildred White, Ildra Frantz, Ferne Beachy, Rosalie Buckel, Mary Kay Lewis, Dorothy Jordan, Helen Strawser, Violet Pike, Tish Liller, Doris Groves, Nada Nethkin,, Julia Shaffer, Evelyn Kahl and Dora Sweene.

LAST MINUTE PLANNING for the Region I Lions Social, set for April 28 at the Grantsville Holiday Inn, was conducted recently by the committee in charge of the event. There will be a cash bar open from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m., followed by a buffet dinner and dancing will begin at 9 p.m. Music will be provided by "Applewood Smoke." In the photo, left to right, are David Spatero, corresponding secretary; Joseph Blake, games chairman; Jack Burner, Deputy District Governor, Region I, District 22-W; William Crawford, accommodations and finance chairman; and Tom Jefts, publicity and tickets. Members of local Lions clubs may contact Crawford at 387-6125 for additional information about the event.

Final Community Concert To Feature Well-Known Cellist

The final program of the 1983-84 Community Concert season will bring Dennis Karmazyn, cellist to the Fort Hill High School auditorium, in Cumberland, on Tuesday evening, May 1.

Karmazyn was born in California, the son of a violinist who was a member of the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra for 35 years. His talent was recognized very early, and at the age of 16 he made his debut as a soloist with that same orchestra. He has studied with some of the world's greatest cellists, including Gregor Piatigorsky in California and Rejto and Lustgarten in Paris.

He has made numerous appearances with orchestras in Europe and in the United States. In addition, he has been active in chamber music, and he appeared with Yehudi Menuhin at Lincoln Center earlier this year.

"Golden Chain" Club Slates May Meeting

The "Golden Chain" senior citizens group will conduct its next meeting on Thursday, May 3 at 1 p.m. in the Center Street School building in Oakland.

The meetings are held on a monthly basis and contain special programs or activities directed toward those residents in their "golden" years.

Any senior citizen who is interested in becoming a member of the club is urged by President Mildred White to call 334-3399 before April 27 to allow the group time to make refreshment arrangements.

Board Denies Doyle Request For Conversion

The Oakland Board of Zoning Appeals denied a request by Tom Doyle to allow conversion of a storage garage into four apartments at a meeting April 18. The building is in the ninth block of High Street.

The three-member board ruled that no hardship was proven to permit a greater number of units than prescribed by the ordinance; that denial of the variance does not prohibit reasonable use of the property; that opposition was registered by four nearby property owners; that the neighborhood generally consists of single family homes and therefore apartment units are not necessarily in harmony with existing development, and that hazards could develop from resultant increased traffic.

On the Oakland appeals board are Pat Powers, Dr. Jean Shaw and Jenny Mandrovsky.

Recognized At PSC

An Oakland resident was among the students of Potomac State College, Keyser, W. Va., who was recognized at the college's 44th annual Recognition Day ceremonies April 17.

Lisa Fike, who is president of the Physcology Club, was introduced by Janet Bult, vice president of Sigma Phi Omega, as one of next year's campus leaders.

Ms. Fike is a graduate of Southern High School.

Bells Will Ring To Launch Older American Month

On May 1, from noon to 12:05 p.m., bells across the U.S. will ring in unison to announce the start of Older Americans Month.

According to Rosalie S. Abrams, Director of Maryland's Office on Aging, the bell-ringing tradition was begun last year by the American Association of Homes for the Aging, and attracted national participation. The carillon bells at the U.S. Capitol were rung at the request of Senator John Heinz, Chairman of the Senate's Special Committee on Aging, in tribute to America's senior citizens.

The month-long celebration will focus special attention on the 27 million Americans who are aged 65 or older, and will focus on the accomplishments, needs and problems of older Americans.

Businesses Get Liquor License Renewal Forms

A total of 85 businesses in the county have been mailed renewal applications for their liquor licenses, according to Joseph Wolf, administrative clerk for the Board of License Commissioners.

The business owners have until May 15 to return the renewal forms and then may pick up and pay for the new licenses between June 15 and July 1. The licenses are obtainable at the office of the clerk of the circuit court in the Oakland Courthouse.

There are presently 13 class A offsale beer license holders; two class B beer, wine and liquor; 14 class D (beer); one class D beer and wine, and 55 special class D (beer, wine and liquor) license holders.

For 1982-83, money received from the licenses was $45,537.57. This is in addition to the $126,519 received from the surcharge on class B and special class D license beverage purchases, and $131,371 was received from beer tax.
